INTRODUCTION.

THIS volume contains a select list of monumental inscriptions relating to Europeans buried in the Madras presidency. It includes all epitaphs of adults earlier than 1800 and such entries of later date as possess historical or local interest. Numerous translations from foreign languages have been added, and attention has been paid towards annotating the names of persons and places of importance.

2. At the beginning of the last century an attempt to form a similar collection was made by William Urquhart of Madras in his "Oriental Obituary," printed at the Journal Press in 1809. This "Impartial Compilation," as it is termed on the title page, was originally projected in three volumes, but two only were published. An advertisement to the first number contains the announcement that "volume II is preparing and will be put to press so soon as paper can be procured, at present there being none in Madras which could possibly answer the purpose." It is believed that only two copies of this curious book survive, one in the library of the late Archbishop Goethals at Calcutta and the other in the private collection of Mr. Edward Wenger of the Bengal Secretariat, who has lent his copy for the purposes of the present work. The British Museum possesses only a copy of the first volume. Urquhart's precursor had been Asiaticus, whose "East Indian Chronologist" (1801) "from the commencement of the East India Trade by David and Solomon," and "Monumental Register" (1803) were printed at the Hircarrah Press, Calcutta, by Mr. Hawkesworth. Many of Asiaticus' gleanings were reproduced in 1815 in M. DeRozario's "Complete Monumental Register of epitaphs in or about Calcutta." Lastly in 1848 appeared the time-honoured "Bengal Obituary" of Messrs. Holmes & Co. of Cossitollah. This book was the product of a firm of undertakers, who traced the origin of monuments to the Deluge, "when the rainbow was made or selected as a standing token," and encouraged the public to proper ideas of sepulture by the argument of the resurrection of the body. Since the appearance of this work, only occasional attempts have been made to preserve in print the crumbling memorials of European dead in India. In 1861 Mr. Augustus F. Bellasis of the Bombay Civil Service compiled a monograph on the old tombs at Surat, and in 1877 Mr. Leopold Ludovici, Editor of the "Ceylon Examiner," collected the Dutch inscriptions of that island into the Lapidarium Zeylandicum. Little was done in Madras till Mr. LeFanu in his "Salem Manual" (1883) set the example of registering the names of all Europeans who had found a last resting place in the cemeteries of his district. In 1880 facsimiles of the tombstones round St. Mary's Church, Fort St. George, were executed by the Survey department under the orders of the Duke of Buckingham, who was then Governor. This album was prepared for private circulation, and only two copies were left in Madras. Within the last few years a systematic recension of inscriptions from European graveyards throughout India has taken place at the instance of the Secretary of State, and lists have been published from every district in Madras. The present volume is a selection from those lists with additions and corrections. It is intended as a companion volume to the "List of Inscriptions on Tombs or Monuments in Bengal," edited by Mr. C. R. Wilson in 1896.

3. The history of old Madras is in no small measure written upon its tombstones. Especially interesting are the memorials of the Company's earliest servants. They and their families lie buried in every coast town, and often a ruined cemetery is all that remains of a famous factory. Their Puritan names such as Ordonicus and Tryphena are landmarks which bind together successive generations. Like the Pilgrim Fathers, who colonised America, our stout-hearted forbears in the Land of Regrets were all of them trueborn Englishmen of credit and renown. Indeed, pioneering would seem to be the peculiar province of the Anglo-Saxon all the world over. The Scotchman follows at a later stage in the race. Our original Cape Merchants, Levant Traders and East India Venturers were typical sons of John Bull; men of London, Bristol, Devon, and the Home Counties. As we travel down the centuries, there are associations with many names that have won recognition at home. A descendant of Cromwell in the person of John Russell was President at Fort William in the days of Queen Anne. Another, Nicholas Morse, ruled as Governor in Fort St. George almost at the same time that Milton's grandson, Caleb Clarke, was parish clerk of St. Mary's, Madraspatam. In the shadow of the towers of the High Court sleeps little David, the four-year old son of Elihu Yale. His father is remembered as the founder of an onlightened university and forgotten as the Governor of a benighted presidency. Every schoolboy knows that Thackeray was the son and grandson of Bengal Collectors; but the tomb at Ootacamund of Sir Henry Davison, the Madras Chief Justice, to whom he dedicated the "Virginians," is as unremembered as the grave of his uncle Webb Thackeray at Cuddapah. Another grave interesting to lovers of literature is that of Charles Reade's civilian brother at Calicut, laid to rest beside Collector Conolly who was hacked to pieces by Moplas in 1855. This presidency can also claim a brother-in-law of Sir Walter Scott in Charles Carpenter, a former Commercial Resident of Salem; while at St. Mark's Church, Bangalore, is a tablet to the poet's son and heir, a Colonel of Hussars, who perished on his voyage to the Cape, and another son sleeps in far-off Teheran. Trichinopoly has memories only for Heber, who, after three short years of India, died there in 1826; so that few visit its Fort Church, in the chancel of which reposes Rebecca Darke, a lady who has some claim on posterity as being the grand-mother of Julia, Lady Peel, wife of a Premier and mother of a Speaker of the House of Commons. In Madras the tombstone of Hugh Boyd, a reputed Junius, has entirely disappeared. There is no trace of any monument on the solitary Ganjam coast to Alexander Macrabie, the devoted brother-in-law and adherent of Francis, an even better claimant to the authorship of "Woodfall's letters." A son-in-law of de Quincey lies buried at Madras in the person of Colonel Baird Smith of the Bengal Engineers. Two of Addison's brothers, one a Governor of Madras, the other a free merchant, died at Fort St. George. It was the inheritance of the Governor's fortune that enabled the essayist to bring off his marriage with the Dowager Countess of Warwick, the "Chloe" of Holland House with whom he had so long been in love. A son of Charles Dickens, for whom a cadetship had been procured on the Bengal establishment, finds a last resting place in Calcutta. His godfather, Walter Savage Landor, in England paid the tribute of verse to Rose Aylmer, who came out to her uncle, a Judge of the Supreme Court at Fort William, and died there in her twenty-first year "in the bloom of youth and in the possession of every accomplishment that could gladden or embellish life." The same writer in his "lines to Theodosia Garrow," the kinswoman of Anthony Trollope, celebrates a near relative of British Nabobs, of whom three repose in the cemetery beside the Coom. Madras itself is not without a poet. In 1803 John Leyden, M.D., of St. Andrew's arrived on the Coromandel Coast as Assistant Surgeon and ended his life at Java in 1811, bewailed by Scott and Malcolm. Another well-remembered lament is that of Matthew Arnold over his brother in the Punjab Educational Service, the author of "Oakfield or Fellowship in the East," who died at Gibraltar, on his journey home, and sleeps off his sorrows there beside "Lucknow" Kavanagh. South India has as many classic memories in her birth places as in her death places. Those who have read Lawrence Sterne and remember his heroine Eliza of the Sentimental Journey, the pure and sprightly Eliza with all her refined tastes and elegant accomplishments, will marvel to call to mind that it was in no more magnificent city than Anjengo that Elizabeth Draper, née Schlater, was born in 1744. Nineteen years passed and Tranquebar, the Queen of the Coromandel Coast, gave birth to Catherine Noel Worlée, "cette rare et nonchalante beauté indienne," destined to bewitch historical characters of high renown. Half a century later at Hyderabad in the Deccan was born Kitty Kirkpatrick, the heroine of one romance and the offspring of another. Other names there are that have made history as well as literature. More than one mouldering monument testifies to the men of the coast army who fell fighting the battles of the Carnatic under Lawrence and Clive and Dalton and Draper. Our public highways are strewn with broken-down memorials to others who died on the march and made the roadside their resting place. Nor were all these heroes Englishmen. Upon Srirangapatam tombstones may be read the foreign names of De Meuron's Regiment and its officers, names which have disappeared so long ago from the Army List that few of us know now-a-days that such a corps of Switzers ever formed part of our army during twenty most eventful years of India's Military history. Even in the paths of peace there are notabilities: the great and good Munro; Governors Morse, Ward, Adam, Lords Pigot and Hobart; Bishops Corrie, Dealtry and Caldwell; missionaries like Swartz, Ziegenbalg, Noble and the Jesuit Boschi; artists of the calibre of Colonel Swain Ward, Lieutenant Payne and the miniaturist Casselli; surgeons like Anderson, Harris, Griffith and Pasley, worthy followers of the succession which began with Hamilton, Boughton and Holwell and has produced in our own day warriors such as Brydon and writers such as Buxton; General Carnac, Clive's colleague at Plassey, whose wife's portrait by Reynolds adorns the Tate Gallery; the DeMorgans, father and son; Binny, Parry and DeMonte, founders of the three great merchant houses of Madras; the Palmers and Rumbolds of Hyderabad, and a host of others. The Civil Service is well represented by young Lushington, Heber's companion on his tour in Upper India; by a Roebuck, uncle of the Sheffield reformer; by F. W. Ellis, whose unassisted scholarship is so warmly praised by Burnell, the Prince of palaeographers; by Josiah Webb; by Rous Peter "the Pandyan"; and by a multitude of once potent civilian names. Then was the Augustan age of John Company; and among its ruling families ran some of the bluest blood in the three kingdoms. Englishmen of birth were indeed no rare exceptions in India a hundred years ago. The most noteworthy feature in the Allahabad graveyard was a broken column over the resting place of a FitzClarence, brother of the Earl of Munster, and son of his Majesty King William the Fourth. An old Bengal Civil List counts no less than nine baronets and eleven younger sons of peers in its ranks. The annals of the Indian Civil Service have yet to be written: but to their chronicler the "Book of the Dead" is likely to prove a genealogical paper of more than ordinary importance.

4. As the oldest European presidency, Madras is exceptionally rich in memorials of other Western nations than our own. The Portuguese entered India as far back as 1498 with (as has been said) the sword in one hand and the crucifix in the other; but their inscriptions are very few. If we except the epitaphs at Goa, San Thomé and Cochin, no monuments to the contemporaries of Camoens are traceable. The Cochin slab, dated 1524, recently disinterred near the new Port office, is apparently the oldest memento mori of this nation in the peninsula. The Luz tablet is older, but it commemorates, not a death, but the foundation of a Church to our Lady of Light, perhaps the Madre de Deos from whom the word Madras is sometimes fancifully derived. At Colombo in 1898 an even more ancient stone was turned up near the old breakwater, bearing the Lusitanian arms and the date 1501. It seems probable that in India, as in Ceylon, Portuguese monuments were destroyed wholesale by the Dutch. There is the recorded testimony of an early Dutch writer Saar that those at Jaffna were broken into pieces by the sailors with sledge hammers. In the south of the peninsula, Mylapore Cathedral and the Franciscan Church at Cochin contain the best collections. For a long time a Cochin stone bearing the name "Vasco" was regarded as commemorating Vasco da Gama's death, which occurred there in 1524, until the slab was properly examined by the late Rev. A. F. Sealy of Ernakulam College. But although the relics of their race may be few, the influence of Portugal upon Southern India was very marked, and it has contributed to the speech of to-day words that are in hourly use from Calcutta to Peshawar. The boat call of converted fishermen on the côte de la Pêcherie is still "Javier, Javier," though the cry has been less romantically interpreted as a corruption of the Hindustani "Jahiye, Jahiye." At one time Portuguese threatened to become the lingua franca of the Malabar and Coromandel Coasts, and as late as 1776 we find the epitaph of Danish Maderup at Tranquebar composed in that tongue. This circumstance takes us back to a period when Tranquebar Missionaries preached in a periwig in Portuguese, and read from their prayer books an "oração por a illustrissima Companhia da India Oriental." The altar text in their little church is written in Portuguese and the next village on the road to Karikal is called "la grande Aldée," aldea being Portuguese for village. A favourite Quictorium of the "naturals de Madras-tapatam" was at St. Thomas' Mount, where it is recorded that one lady wished to be buried on the steps leading to the summit, because there the devout passer-by might read her epitaph and in his charity pray for the peace of her soul.

5. Mention of the Mount leads on to mention of the Madras Armenians, whose earliest inscriptions are found there. These merchants from Persia are a practically extinct colony now-a-days; but their little cemeteries are a witness that they once had a share in the commerce of the settlement. They settled permanently at Madras in the year 1666, and from 1688 are found in the service of the Company, who, for reasons of economy, had issued orders that, instead of multiplying European agents in India, Asiatics should be employed. In Madras the most notable "Armeniorum fautor" is Coja Petrus Uscan, the builder of the Marmalong bridge in 1726, whose documents regarding the Uscan charity are still to be seen in the Saidapet Collector's office. He lies interred at Vepery and the superlatives on his epitaph testify to his numerous virtues. The church of his countrymen in Armenian street, Black Town, was erected in 1772 on the site of an old burial ground and replaced a demolished place of worship on the Esplanade which dated back to some sixty years earlier. Several of its pavement graves, such as the family vault of Shameer Sultan, are very remarkable. One slab within its recess bears the name of the Rev. Arratoon Shumavon, "by the grace of God a priest from Shiraz" and printer of the first known Armenian journal. In Fort St. George, at Masulipatam and Negapatam, are other slabs with metrical verses in Latin and the vernacular. The Armenians have ever been a purely commercial people in this country. They built no cities and carved out for themselves no empire; but to England they have rendered services which deserve remembrance and are fitly chronicled in Mr. Mesrobian J. Seth's "History of the Armenians in India." Their most remarkable tombstone is set not in the East, but at St. Denis in the West. "Cy gist le très noble et très excellent Prince Lyon de Lusignan, quint roy latin du royaume d'Arménie qui rendit l'âme à Dieu à Paris le xxix jour de Novembre l'an de grâce mcccxiii."

6. Of all the European powers that held sway in India, none more genuinely felt and observed the culte des morts than the Dutch. In his famous essay on the Tombs in Westminster Abbey (Spectator, No. 26), Addison has remarked on this characteristic: and Pepys' Diary contains a similar comment. Their regal mausoleums at Surat long ago attracted the attention of travellers like Dr. John Fryer (1682) and Ovington (1689); the latter of whom mentions a custom maintained by Dutchmen in his day of celebrating convivial feasts over the tomb of a toper of facetious memory where, "remembering their departed companion, they sometimes forgot themselves." Of their disused cemeteries in South India, the Pulicat graveyard, which has a well-preserved lychgate of 1656 flanked by two standing stone skeletons, is the most remarkable. Over one of its oldest graves may be seen inscribed the letters V.O.C. (Vereenigde Oostendische Compagnie), the familiar monogram of the Netherlands United East India Company. On another slab is a pictorial representation of the Fort of Castel Geldria, which Mr. Rea has reproduced in his volume of facsimiles. The Dutch stones here and elsewhere were elaborately carved by masons or masons, who graduated in their profession before coming out to India, and handed down much of their skill to Hindoo craftsmen. The only European relic at Cape Comorin is an imposing granite block to the perpetual honour of a faithful Dutch factor. At Porto Novo the bas-relief over the grave of Matthys Pfeiffer's wife gives a perfect picture of an eighteenth century piper playing on a recorder and dressed in a long-flapped coat with old fashioned stockings and shoes and armed with a rapier. Further north at Bunder is the figure of a bygone mynheer wearing a three-cornered hat of the kind in which Gulliver is usually represented, and closely resembling the famous European head in one of the upper niches of the Tanjore temple. In Wolfendahl's Church at Colombo are the state tombs of deceased Governors of that island, ornamented with heraldic emblems of the highest degree of excellence. Pieces of quaintly sounding rhyme are often added; and the structures themselves are more than emblematic of the words of the sculptors that they will endure to the "laaste opstaanding."

7. After Dutch settlements it is proper to speak of French; for the two nations lived close together. No trace can now be found of any tombs to the pioneers of French enterprise in India, though a broken Tamil tablet in the precinct of St. Mary's, Madras, records the name of a native Christian founder of the Poudichéry Company. Several of the English gravestones brought from the esplanade burial ground bear marks of the English cannon balls which helped to keep Lally out of Fort St. George in 1758. But the only extant memorial to a Frenchman of that period is Bussy's little known grave opposite Pondichéry Cathedral. Of the captains courageous who later sought service in the armies of native princes, many died in India. Charles Babel, dit Zephyr, general to the forces of Basalat Jung, was buried at Guntoor in 1770 and has these letters commendatory over his headstone: "Chéri de Fortune et favori de Mars, La Victoire suivit partout ses étendards; D'Hercule il égala les travaux et la gloire, Mais une mort trop cruelle a trompé notre espoir." A still more famous soldier of fortune is Raymond, the eponymous hero of the Nizam's Mysoram (Monsieur Raymond) Regiment. He sleeps on a lonely eminence outside Hyderabad where the anniversary of his death is still celebrated by Mahomedans. Further south at Udayagiri is the family vault of Eustache De Launoy, who drilled the defenders of the lines of Travancore and may well have been a relation of the Governor of the Bastille. Even Ramnad, at the very end of the peninsula, possesses the grave of Manuel Martinz, a condottiere like de Boigne from Savoy, whose kindly eccentricities in his old age are amusingly recorded in the military reminiscences of Colonel Welsh. And here and there, as at Tummaracode in the Palnad, are the scattered sepulchres of adventurers who have left no other memorials of themselves than that they died there.

8. Cemeteries to-day are the only witness that there ever was a Danish East India Company. Tranquebar has become even more of a city of the dead than Serampore in Bengal; and is famous solely for its missionaries. No less than seventeen of these Halle magisters lie buried in its graveyards, and pious hands annually repaint the letters on their tombs. There rests Ziegenbalg, the father of Protestant missions in India, who died in harness at the early age of 35. There Swartz began the career which ended at Tanjore in 1798. There it was that Rottler, Gericke and Kiernander laid the foundations of their reputation. In latter days, the seniors of the mission turned their attention to scientific research, and this brought them wide celebrity even in Europe. An even more eminent name than theirs in science is that of the Frenchman Jacquemont, who was cut off like Csoma de Körös in the land of his sojourning. The French Academy conveyed home his remains in 1881, thus exemplifying the motto over Claude Lorraine's tomb in the Church of Trinità dei Monti at Rome; "La nation française n'oublie pas ses enfants célèbres, même quand ils sont morts à l'étranger." At Tranquebar two celebrated laymen found their last home: Colonel Mühlendorf, from whose veins the blood-royal of Denmark has flowed into several Madrassi families; and Sundt, whose sister became the wife of Blücher's brother.

9. The Hebrew cemetery in Mint street and the Beth-haim of the white Jews at Cochin preserve the epitaphs of another interesting community. America, which gave to India Ochterlony and Alexander Gardner, who lived for many years as a fighting Afghan chief, is represented in southern districts by a Bellary cotton-planter and a commandant of Ganjam pensioners; Italy, the mother-country of Avitabile, Ventura and the Filoses, by Constantine Beschi and Nicolao Manucci, though the latter's gravestone at San Thomé is wanting; Greece by a seventeenth century Sindbad whose monument has found its way to the presidency Museum. Foreigners of every nationality occur in the old East India Company's service. In 1764, remarks Niebuhr (father of the historian), its army possessed Polish, Swiss, Dutch, and German officers. Among those buried in Madras are Count de Warren and Baron von Kutzleben; while the Bengal Native Infantry once contained the name of Captain Georges François Grand, afterwards a Writer and the first husband of the future Princesse de Talleyrand.

10. That "peculiar people," the Huguenots, sent no inconsiderable contribution to the ranks of South Indian notabilities. The Carnacs, Chardins, Torrianos, Trapauds, Mangins, Cauliers, Amsincks and DeVismes were all members of refugee families. Of these, the Carnacs became such a power in the country that according to a popular saying they were credited with being the origin of the name Carnatic. Lord Pigot had Huguenot blood in his veins through his mother Frances Godde, tirewoman to the Queen, who is misspelt in the Baronetages as Goode. Another Governor of Fort St. George, Charles Smith, was the descendant of a Huguenot emigrant Lefevre, who took the name of Smith (faber).

11. The literature of the tombstone may often be turned to capital account. Unlike the paper of the record-room, these massive slabs, with their thick lettering, are practically indestructible, if they but succeed in escaping the privy paw of the native dhoby. For example, the Pulicat inscriptions are first hand contemporary authority towards the yet unwritten history of the Netherlands Company. Many an exact merchant inscribed his pedigree on his gravestone; and such statements of fact are important to genealogists. Some there are that have left more than a name behind them. Lawson's Bay, Vizagapatam, perpetuates the memory of a "country captain" of local renown. Robert Sloper, who rests at Tranquebar among the missionaries, founded Sloper street, Cuddalore, and there his wife Kitoria reposes. One chief of a settlement "though without the wealth of a Governor, was rich in the real worth of a man." Others, like Paul Benfield and Mr. Snodgrass of Rambha, tasted more literally of the fruit of the pagoda tree. At Surat the Latin hexameters over Christopher Oxenden (1659), that most brotherly of brothers, tell us more of the factory life of our predecessors than many pages of history. "Do you ask, my masters, what is your profit and loss? You have gained sorrow, he has lost his life, but per contra let him write 'death to me is gain.'" Often the cause of dying is described with old-fashioned quaintness. "1793, August 14th," records Asiaticus, "Mrs. Agatha Andrews. She died of pure sensibility." At Guntoor a young civilian fell a sacrifice "to the incautious use of castor-oil nuts." At Arnee two commanding officers departed this life "most suddenly" by reason of duels. At Negapatam lies a fond wife "whose soul, perfect in all earthly ordained virtue, departed at the early call of its guardian author for its next assigned function in his eternal Kingdom." At another place an eminent lady's "smile was the beam of benevolence, her heart the soul of sympathy, and the uniform complacency of her temper illumined her countenance with the blended ray of sensibility and virtue." Even in their epitaphs do our ancestors give us a taste of their quality.

12. In the following pages, notes have been added, wherever possible, for the information of the reader. A number of these are by Mr. H. E. A. Cotton. Assistance has also been obligingly rendered by (amongst others) Rev. H. Jensen; Father van de Westelaken and Mr. R. Morris, Collector of Kistna; Rev. A. M. Teixeira; Mr. M. J. Seth; and Mr. H. LeFanu. The late Mr. A. T. Pringle, the Rev. Frank Penny and Mrs. Frank Penny have kindly read the proofs and made many valuable suggestions. The full names of officers, whose initials alone appear on their tombstones, have been traced, wherever possible, from old Army Lists. The index has been prepared by Mr. E. Gaudoin and Mr. Coombes. Thanks are due to Mr. R. Hill and Mr. T. Fisher for the careful printing of the work.

COMPOUND OF ST. MARY'S CHURCH IN FORT ST. GEORGE.

(Consecrated in 1680.)

1	5th Aug. 1652.	ELIZABETH BAKER ...	Memoriæ sacrum dominæ ELIZABETHÆ BAKER domini Aaronis Baker (Anglorum hisce locis negotiantium præsidis) uxoris dilectissimæ, quæ marito ad Indos [navi]ganti, relicto solo p[atrio] sese iungebat c[omite]m illumque proxime prom[ontorium] bonæ spei spei optimæ marino partu be[abat], sed tandem post longas pelagi minas, insalubremque lavæ ærem, quæ libens unâ passa est, tristissimum pro cœlis (pro quibus solis voluit) moriens relinquebat Augusti 5° An° 1652. The lower corner of the tombstone is worn away, and the missing letters are conjectured. It bears a coat of arms. Aaron Baker was the first President and Governor of Fort St. George. He arrived from Bantam by the Roebuck on September 1st, 1652. From the original correspondence collection in the India Office, 2274, and 2294, the Roebuck appears to have left England at the end of 1651, quitting the Isle of Wight on December 30th and clearing the Land's End on January 1st, 1651-2. She passed the Cape on April 22nd, 1652, came in sight of Java on June 17th, and anchored in Bantam Roads on June 26th. Having embarked President Baker, she sailed again on the 31st July, and reached Madras on September 1st, 1652. The date is confirmed by a letter from Bantam to Madras, dated February 15th, 1652-53 (O.C. 2284) which acknowledges the receipt of a letter from Fort St. George, dated September 22nd, 1652, stating the safe arrival of the Roebuck on the 1st idem. In a subsequent letter from the President and Council at Surat to the Company, dated January 17th, 1652-53 (O.C. 2297) mention is made of Mrs. Baker's death during the voyage, but the date of the Roebuck's arrival is postdated by one day. "Your ship Endeavour . . . came from Bantam with the Roebuck, on whom went President Baker and his family to Fort St. George . . . The 2nd November from the coast were advised of the arrival of ships Roebuck and Boneter and that President Baker by the way from Bantam lost his wife, who died about ten days after they came from Bantam. They arrived at your fort the 2nd September." The words of the epitaph suggest that Mrs. Baker died after childbirth. Her husband continued in office until 1659, when he was succeeded by Thomas Chambers.

Viator te hæc non nescire lachrymam modo impertire et abi. He had been Agent of Madras before it was raised to a Presidency under Baker in 1652. There is a document of that year signed "President Aaron Baker, Agent Henry Greenhill and William Gurney." He was one of the first settlers in the Fort and built a house of his own on the river bank known as Agent Greenhill's House. See Mrs. Frank Penny's "History of Fort St. George," from which much of the information in the following notes has been borrowed.
3	12th Mar. 1664.	JOHN CORNISH ...	Here lieth JOHN CORNISH who departed this life the xii day of March in the yeare of Our Lord God 1664. [No age mentioned.]
4	26th Oct. 1670.	NATHANIEL FOXCROFT	Here lyeth the body of NATHANIEL FOXCROFT, son of George Foxcroft, Agent and Governor in Fort St. George. He was borne into this world the 6th of September 1635 and translated into a better to the resurrection of the just, the 26th of October 1670, after he had finished his pilgrimage on the earth 35 years, having alwaies exhibited all the honour due from a dear and dutifull son to his parents, and by his universal obliging and ingenious conversation obtained a good report and left a good name with all men. A good name is better than a precious oyntment and the day of death then the day of one's birth. Eccle. 7. 1. The memory of yo just is blessed. Prov. 10. 7. The righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance. Ps. 112. 6. George Foxcroft was appointed Agent and Governor on the resignation of Sir Edward Winter, and took over charge of the factory in June 1665. In the following September, he was forcibly deposed by Winter and kept in imprisonment, together with his son Nathaniel, for three years. The Directors, on receiving news of what had occurred, sent out Commissioners with a formidable armament of ships and instructions to blockade the Fort. But Winter yielded up peaceable possession. Foxcroft was released and reinstated on the 22nd August 1668, and remained in office until 1670, when he was relieved by Sir William Langhorne. His son, Nathaniel, died just as they were on the point of leaving India together. An investigation was held into the conduct of Sir Edward Winter, who was exonerated but ordered to return home on one of the Company's ships. Winter died in England in 1685 and is buried in St. Mary's Church, Battersea.
5	9th Feb. 1679.	JOHN AUGER ...	[Here lieth the body of JOHN AUGER, who departed this life, in the 54th year of his age, on the 9th of February Anno Domini 1679-80.] This is the oldest inscription preserved in Urquhart's "Oriental Obituary" (1809) of those which have since disappeared. They are denoted in the following pages by square brackets.
6	28th May 1680.	JOSEPH HYNMERS ...	Here lyes interred the body of JOSEPH HYNMERS who served the Rt. Honble English East India Company several years as second in council of Fort St. George, in which situation he departed this life on the 28th of May 1680. This tombstone and that of David Yalo (No. 15) are in the High Court compound.

			Catherine, the widow of Joseph Hymmers, married Elihu Yale (Governor of Fort St. George from July 25th, 1687, to October 23rd, 1692), of whom it is recorded on his tombstone in Wrexham churchyard (July 18th, 1721) that he was "born in America, in Europe bred, In Afric travel'd and in Asia wed." By this marriage there was one son, who died an infant, and three daughters: the eldest married Dudley North, of the family which later produced the famous Lord North and the present Earls of Guildford; the second, Anne, married a younger son of the first Duke of Devonshire; and the youngest, Ursula, died unmarried in 1721 a few days after her father at the family seat of her sister Lady Anne Cavendish in Bucks. The line of direct descendants of Elihu Yale terminated in 1829 with the death of his great grandson Dudley Long North, who had reached some distinction as a member of Parliament and a friend and companion of Dr. Johnson, and is therefore embalmed in the pages of Boswell. He was the donor to Yale College of Enoch Zeeman's portrait of Governor Yale, painted in London 1717.
7	14th Feb. 1682.	ELIZABETH ALFORD.	His first wife Elizabeth died February 14th, 1682, his second wife Elizabeth died August 15th, 1687, and his son died 2nd September 1688, a year old. A fragment to the memory of the first and second wives of Henry Alford. He married Elizabeth Mellish November 10th, 1681: she died a year later and in February 1683 he married Elizabeth Lott. She died in August 1687. In 1688 he married a third wife, Elizabeth Brereton. Alford, who was a company's servant, died in May 1692, and his widow married Mathew Empson the following year. Empson was in council with Thomas Pitt, Governor from July 4th, 1698, to September 18th, 1709. Pitt was succeeded by Gulston Addison, the brother of the essayist, who died at Madras in the following month. No trace of his grave remains, nor of his brother's Lancelot Addison, fellow of Magdalen College, Oxford, who came out with a licence to trade as a free merchant and was buried in the Fort Cemetery in August 1710.
8	6th Oct. 1683.	THOMAS CLARKE ...	Hic jacet THOMAS CLARKE, filius Thomae Clarke Angli, olim praefecti Anglicae societatis in civitate Masulipatam: obiit sexto die Octobris aevi salutis millezimi sexcentizimi octogezimi tertii. Requiescat in pace. He was Portuguese interpreter to the company. The slab is cracked, probably from the effects of a cannon ball when the Fort guns were turned on the cemetery against the French. Another broken stone bears the date 1684 and this inscription: "Mense Mayo aetatis suae LXXXIII, alter vero anno salutis MDCIXXXIV Octobris XII aetatis suae LXXXV transactis in hoc praesidio LII. Requiescant in pace." Clarke's widow married the Venetian Nicolao Manucci, who died at San Thomé about 1709, aged 74. Manucci lived at Madras from 1686 till his death. He had had a varied career as stow-away, Artillery captain to Prince Dara and physician.
9	23rd April 1685.	KATHERINE SCARLETT.	Here lies interred ye body of Miss KATHERINE SCARLETT, daughter of Mr. John Scarlett, Meret. in London, who departed this life, Aprill 23, Anno Domini 1685, being ye seventeenth year of her age.
10	8th April 1685.	DOROTHY LUCAS ...	Here lyeth interred the body of DOROTHY LUCAS, who departed this life the 8th day of Aprill Anno 1685, and near unto this place lyeth also four of her children, viz., Catherine and

			Elizabeth, which she bore to her former husband, Charles Proby; and Anne and Thomas, the only children she bore to her last husband, Thomas Lucas. Lucas became a member of Council, June 8th, 1683. At the proclamation of "our dread sovereign King" James II, August 13th, 1685, "a troop was commanded and led by the President (Gyfford). Mr. Thomas Lucas, Cornet, and the rear was brought up by Mr. Elihu Yale." Dorothy Lucas was the sister of George Torriano (No. 112). She married first Charles Proby the heir of Sir Peter Proby. Her son, William Proby, came out to Madras in the Company's service, was discharged and married Frances Gray (see No. 27). William Proby returned to England as heir to the Proby estates, taking two children with him, John and Editha. Editha married Sir John Osborne. John Proby became, M.P. for Huntingdon. He married Jane, daughter of John, first Lord Gower, and had issue John, who became Baron Carysfort of Carysfort, Co. Wicklow. His son John Joshua was created Earl of Carysfort in 1789.
11	3rd Mar. 1686.	DIANA STYLEMAN ...	Here lieth the body of DIANA, daughter of JOHN and ELIZABETH STYLEMAN, who was born the 28th October Anno Dom. 1684, and dyed the 3rd March 1685/6. It was to John Styleman, Secretary at the East India House, that Governor Pitt wrote in December 1704, "The Rotation Government in Bengal 'tis become the ridicule of all India, both Europeans and Natives." Katherine Scarlett was this little child's godmother.
12	16th April 1687.	JOB HAINES ...	JOB, the son of JOHN HAINES and Mary his wife, who was born the 30th of December 1685, and died [April 16th, 1687]. The stone is a fragment. Haines died at Fort St. David, and in 1712 his estate was administered for the benefit of his children by Robert Heriot, his son-in-law, who had married Elizabeth Haines, June 29th, 1710.
13	23rd Aug. 1687.	FRANCIS MARQUES ...	Sa [io Sepultura] de FRANCISCO MARQUES que faleceo em 23 de Agosto 1687. The Burial Register gives his name in full as Francis Rodrigues Marques, buried August 24th by R. Elliott.
14	10th Sept. 1687.	SAMUEL WALES and FAMILY.	[Here lies interred the bodies of Father, Mother and Son, who all deceased Anno Domini 1687, viz., SAMUEL WALES, the son, died September 10; MARY WALES, the Mother, died September 24; SAMUEL WALES, the Father, Merchant and late Chief of Madapollam, died October 3.] This tombstone is no longer extant. Urquhart mentions it, and misspells the name Wales.
15	25th Jan. 1688.	DAVID YALE ...	Hic jacet DAVID filius Honorabilis ELIHU YALE, Praesidentis et Gubernatoris Castellii St. Georgii et Civitatis Madrassiae, natus fuit 15 Maii 1684 et obiit 25 Januarii Anno 1687. The baptismal entry in the registers runs "David, son of Elihu and Catherine Yale, baptized by Richard Elliott; Robert Freeman and John Wilcox, godfathers; Katherine Nicks, godmother, born May 15th, 1684." 47	2nd April 1688.	JOHN HEATHFIELD ...	[Here lieth interred the body of JOHN HEATHFIELD, who died the 2nd of April, Anno Domini 1688, aged 43 years, 5 months and 27 days.] Urquhart. He was a company's Surgeon, who afterwards took up trade at Masulipatam. His wife Margery, widow of Robert Fleetwood, Chief of that place, stood godmother to Job Charnock's children. "Aug. 19th, 1689. Mary, Elizabeth and Katherine, daughters of Job Charnock, baptized by J. Evans; Francis Ellis, godfather; Ann Seaton and Margery Heathfield, godmothers." Mary Charnock married Sir Charles Eyre, the first President of Fort William, and is buried beside her father in the Charnock mausoleum, Calcutta, February 19th, 1696-7. Elizabeth married William Bowridge, and survived in Calcutta till 1753. Her husband died in 1724. Katharine, the youngest, became the wife of Jonathan White, a Bengal factor, and died in child-birth, January 21st, 1700, aged 21. She lies in the Charnock mausoleum and is there described as "Τὸν μικροῦτον Jobi Charnock filia natu minima."
48	7th Feb. 1689.	ROBERT FREEMAN ...	Here lieth interred the body of ROBERT FREEMAN, Merchant, sometime Chief of Metchlepatam, and afterwards of Council in this place, in which situation he deceased, the 7th day of February 1688. The present stone is a fragment. Their son Francis married at Pondicherry, November 17th, 1728, Marie Rose Vincens, aged 16, the eldest daughter of Madame Jeanne Dupleix by her first husband Jacques Vincens "conseiller au conseil supérieur, originaire de Montpellier." Barnwell's name occurs frequently in the records during the siege and capture of Madras by Labourdonnais in 1746, when both he and his wife were taken prisoners. Madame Vincens married Dupleix at Chandernagore, April 17th, 1741. Two other daughters by her first husband, Anne Christine (born 1726) and Jeanne Susanne (born 1728), were married at Pondicherry on the same day, July 29th, 1743, to Jacques Duval d'Espréménil, afterwards commandant of Madras during the French occupation and François Cornille de Schonamille, Governor of Dutch Bankybazar. (A Mr. Schonimelle from Pondicherry died at Fort St. George, January 8th, 1722.) Readers of Carlyle will remember the part played in the early days of the French Revolution by the son of this d'Espréménil.

The Cherimani or Xeremani are the famous Armenian family of Shahrman. They profess the Catholic faith "ex illustri Xerimanorum stirpe in Persia oriundi sed vera fide magis laudandi" as recorded on a Calcutta tombstone. In Julfa they built their own church and a Hammam known as Shahrman's Hammam. A branch of the family is settled in Venice. The translation of the Armenian part of this epitaph is as follows:—"This is the tomb and resting place of one of noble birth; his name is called Sahak, son of Khojah Zachariuh, who is of the family of Shahrman of Julfa, and he was 39 years of age when he delivered his soul to the Lord. 			The Burial Register simply describes him as gunner of the place, by which is meant commandant of the Fort artillery, but he had evidently made himself useful in other respects to the two Governors mentioned in the inscription, George Morton Pitt (May 14th, 1730, to January 23rd, 1735) and Richard Benyon (January 23rd, 1735, to January 17th, 1744).
111	12th Oct. 1739 and 26th Jan. 1741.	ANN PLUMB ... HENRY CRAWFORD.	Here lies the body of ANN PLUMB, daughter of William and Ann Plumb who departed this life the 12th day of October 1739, aged 12 years. Likewise the body of HENRY CRAWFORD, late of this place, Merchant, who dyed the 26th day of January 1741 aged 53 years. Crawford is entered in the Burial Register as a free merchant. He married Ann Plumb, May 13th, 1730.
112	16th May and 15th Sept. 1741.	GEORGE and SUSANNA TORRIANO.	Here lyeth the body of GEORGE TORRIANO, late of Council of this place, who departed this life on the 16th day of May 1741, aged 41 years. Also of SUSANNA CATHARINA his wife, who departed this life on the 15th day of September following aged 37 years. George Torriano was the son of Nathaniel Torriano and his wife Elizabeth Renouf. He was the brother of Dorothy Lucas, Mrs. Charles Proby (No. 10). When supercargo, of the China ship Hertford , he was admitted factor in 1719 "as being well skilled in both the French and Portuguese languages." He married Susanna Catharina de Dorpere, April 4th, 1725. The Richard Torriano, writer, among the Black Hole victims, must have been his son. Another of the name, Charles, was in the Madras Artillery in 1756; and was probably related to the Bombay officer, Captain John Samuel Torriano, who successfully defended Onore against Tippoo in 1783. Another Torriano, William Harcourt, was in the Madras Civil Service, 1766 to 1807. His wife Lydia died at Negapatam, October 17th, 1795, aged 38 (No. 1817).
113	6th June 1741.	EDWARD MICHELL ... (Formerly known as the English Burial Ground on the Island.)
120	14th May 1763.	WILLIAM ROGERS ...	This stone is erected by a disconsolate family to the memory of Captain WILLIAM ROGERS of the Houghton Indiaman; whose duty, love, and the integrity of whose heart from the parent, the wife, the brother, and the friend claims the just tribute of affliction; steady in his private attachments, his affection was sincere and vehement; a sense of honour as strict as ever man could boast; in his understanding quick; perfectly solid and most indefatigable in his friendship; he was modest, mild, humane, affable and liberal; beloved by all that ever knew him; his loss is sincerely lamented; to his family it is irreparable. He died at this settlement in the 32nd year of his age and lies here enter'd.
121	20th Sept. 1764.	BARBARA DORMOND ...	Hic tumulus recondit ossa BARBARÆ dilectæ coniugis JOHANNIS DORMONDII inter militares Anglorum copias centurionis, quæ 19 annos nata anno Salvatoris nostri 1764 20 Septembris die ex hac vita decessit. 127	31st May 1771.	FRANCES MUNRO.	MARY MRS. FRANCES MARY MUNRO, wife of Dr. ANDREW MUNRO, aged 53 years. Mother of Miss Katharine Munro baptised August 22nd, 1744, who married Captain James Kirkpatrick, March 14th, 1762, and died, January 27th, 1766, aged 22, at Bombay where there is a monument to her in the Cathedral. She was the grandmother of the "Kitty" Kirkpatrick of Carlyle's Reminiscences. Andrew Munro died at Madras, October 26th, 1757 (see No. 1801).
128	9th Feb. 1772.	SAMUEL ARDLEY ...	SAMUEL ARDLEY, Esq., aged 44 years, who served the East India Company 22 years, the last 12 of which as a Member of the Council of Fort St. George. He lived and died with the reputation of an honest man. Coat of Arms. In 1761 he was Land Customer, Military Store- keeper, Rentall General and Scavenger at Masulipatam.
129	28th May 1772.	NICHOLAS MORSE ...	NICHOLAS MORSE, Esq., once Governor of Fort St. George, aged 72 years. The shield on his tomb is not a real coat of arms, but a trade mark, such as merchants often used. The Morse family were cloth makers of Dedham in Essex and had no arms. Nicholas Morse was the Governor alluded to by Macanlay, who befriended Clive and gave him the run of his library, thereby enabling him to acquire the only book learning he ever possessed. In 1746 he surrendered Madras to LaBour- donnais, and was sent to Pondicherry where, according to the story, he and his council were marched through the streets in triumphal procession. This capitulation is commemorated in more than one French pictorial print of the period: and the keys of Fort St. George were to be seen till recently at Pondicherry. Morse was the great great grandson of Oliver Cromwell, through the Protector's daughter Bridget, who married Colonel Ireton. Bridget Ireton's grand daughter, Jane Lloyd, married a Morse and became the mother of Nicholas, Daniel and three daughters. Daniel came out to Fort St. George in 1731, but not as a servant of the Company. He died October 6th, 1761. Nicholas arrived in India in 1718 and was married by Schultze to Jane Goddard on December 12th, 1730. Their daughter Emilia married, June 1st, 1754, Henry Vansittart, Governor of Bengal, who was lost at sea in the frigate Aurora in 1760. His son Nicholas became the first Lord Bexley. Another daughter Frances married Charles Boddam, afterwards Member of Council, whose father was captain of a merchant vessel and became a free merchant. Charles Boddam, senior, married Mary Hart, June 25th, 1716 (see No. 1114).
130	8th Nov. 1773.	THOMAS MADGE ...	THOMAS MADGE, Esq., late Major in the Honourable Com- pany's Service, aged 31 years. The stream that winds majestic o'er the plain, Adorns the prospect and delights the swain; If chance the Summer leaves its channel dry, The village mourns its absence with a sigh: Such sighs, alas! with Anguish fraught prevail'd, When Life's warm stream in MADGE's bosom fail'd, No more his course shall Friendship's eye pursue, No more be brighten'd with the pleasing view! Here MADGE, thou sleep'st; where now unconquered reign Thy daring Spirit and thy Martial vein? Ah! what avails that covetous of praise Thou twind'st the Scholar's with the Soldier's bays.

			Major Madge was in Command of the 12th Sepoy Battalion of the Madras Army. His relative, Captain E. H. Madge, of the 19th Regiment, commanded at Fort MacDowall, Kandy (1803) and is mentioned in MacFarlane's "Indian Empire," Tennent's "Ceylon," Pridham's "Historical Sketch," Cordiner's "Description of Ceylon," and other works. The latter's sons, John and James, are said to have given its name to Madge's Lane, Calcutta.
131	3rd July 1774.	JOHN WOOD	JOHN WOOD, Esq., late a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Honourable Company's Service, aged 48 years. There are verses on his tombstone by his wife, who was a Miss Elizabeth Owen married July 28th, 1762. Wood was tried by court-martial in 1769 for misappropriating stores and for faulty disposition of forces in the field against Hyder. The decision was sent home to the Directors, who ordered that he should be dismissed. Wood commanded the garrison at Trichinopoly and was a very distinguished soldier.
132	27th Aug. 1776.	ANNE DUFF	Mrs. ANNE DUFF, deceased wife to Major P. Duff, of the Honourable Company's Artillery on the Bengal Establishment, aged 26 years. Major-General Patrick Duff retired from the Army in July 1799.
133	19th April 1778.	MARY BURROWES ...	Mrs. MARY BURROWES, wife of Captain Thomas Burrowes, in the H.E.I.C.'s Service, aged 22 years and 7 months. Thomas Burrowes entered the Cavalry as a cadet in 1766 and resigned in 1790. He married firstly Miss Mary Dawkes, April 2nd, 1777. His second wife Sarah died at Tanjore, May 23rd, 1789 (see No. 1842).
134	14th May 1780.	ANN WATSON	ANN WATSON, daughter of the late John Watson, Esq., Superintendent of the Honourable Company's Marine and Member of the Council of Bombay, aged 19 years. In Hickey's "Gazette" under date June 19th, 1780, the Madras newswriter states: "The weather has been very bad here, since this month commenced and many persons have been seized with sudden spasms in various parts (as well as the extremes) and fevers which have carried them off at a short notice, viz., Messrs. Will Angus, John Borton, Surgeon of Bencoolen, and Miss Ann Watson, both arrived from Bengal" with a long list of other names.
135	20th Sept. 1780.	GRIZELL MACKENZIE.	GRIZELL, wife of DANIEL MACKENZIE, aged 28 years. Too soon her time was spent and gone, and left behind her babe and me to mourn.
136	14th Nov. 1780.	JOHN MACKENZIE LAMONT.	JOHN MACKENZIE, son of Captain LAMONT, 73rd Regiment, aged 11 months.
137	27th Aug. 1781.	JAMES MACKENZIE ...	JAMES MACKENZIE, Major in the 73rd Foot, who fell a victim to his zeal and ardour for the service of his country.
138	23rd Sept. 1781.	GILBERT and SUSAN PASLEY.	This stone will not want power to melt or virtue to amend the heart. It marks the grave of the common friend of mankind. It records the memory of the skilful physician GILBERT PASLEY; and SUSAN HANNAH, the only daughter of Gilbert and Hannah Pasley. Gilbert Pasley obiit 23 Sept. 1781, ætatis 48. His daughter 17th Feb. 1782, aged 5 months and 4 days.

Gilbert Pasley married Miss Hannah Dashwood September 6th, 1778. It was on his recommendation that Lord Pigot was moved from St. Thomas' Mount to Government House, Madras, shortly before his death in 1777. Gilbert Pasley's sister Margaret married George Malcolm, and it was to the care of the Pasleys at Madras that her son the famous Sir John Malcolm was consigned when a cadet of 15 years old. His diminutive appearance on entering the service led one of the Directors at the time of his application to ask him "what would you do if you were to meet Hyder Ali?" "Do," he replied, "why, Sir, I would cut with my sword and cut off his head." This show of pluck was deemed sufficient and he was passed in spite of his youth. Sir John was one of sixteen children, and it is a remarkable occurrence that three brothers Sir John (1769-1833), Sir Pulteney (Admiral, 1768-1838) and Sir Charles (Vice-Admiral, 1782-1851) were honoured on one and the same occasion with the dignity of Commander of the Bath. Pasley's widow married May 27th, 1782, Thomas Elliot Ogilvie, C.S.

139	1st Nov. 1781.	ISABELLA BRIDGES ...	ISABELLA, daughter of Captain THOMAS BRIDGES, aged 3 years and 4 months. Thomas Bridges entered the service in 1770 and died in London, July 16th, 1823. He married, July 31st, 1777, Miss Polly Hill Freeman. A daughter Catharine died, January 31st, 1782, at Madras, and another Maria, at Palamcottah, August 5th, 1790 (see No. 1909).
140	27th Sept. 1781.	WILLIAM ROXBURGH.	WILLIAM, son of Dr. W. ROXBURGH, aged 4 months and 20 days. This is a child of the famous Indian Botanist, to whose memory stands a stone pillar in the Calcutta Botanical Gardens with the following beautiful inscription from the pen of Bishop Heber: "Quisquis ades, si locus suavitatem mentem permulcet aut pie sentias de deo, habendus in honore tui ROXBURGHII, horum hortorum olim præfectus, vir scientiæ botanices laude florens idemque amenitatum agrestium summus artifex; conservat cinerem patriæ, hic viget ingenium; tu favo et perfrue. Posuere superstites amici MDCCXXII."
141	13th Sept. 1782.	JAMES WATT ...	Captain JAMES WATT, late Commander of his Majesty's ship Sultan .
142	13th Sept. 1782.	MARY DENT ..	Mrs. MARY DENT aged 27 years. Erected by her surviving consort. Cotton Bowerbank Dent, senior merchant, married firstly Mary Pelling, June 1st, 1772 (see No. 536); secondly, a lady named Harriet, who died in childbirth, September 18th, 1796, aged 30; and thirdly Eliza Frances. He died himself at Vellore, August 11th, 1817. His son Edward Dent, born 1775, was a private merchant in Madras; and his grandson founded the celebrated firm of London glove-makers. John Dent (No. 416), whose tablet is in the cathedral, was of the same family.
143	8th Oct. 1782.	CHARLES WOOD ...	Captain CHARLES WOOD, late Commander of his Majesty's Ship Worcester .
144	16th Feb. 1783.	HENRY BOYLE SULLIVAN.	Lieut. HENRY B. SULLIVAN aged 23 years. Brother of Sir Benjamin Sullivan (see No. 190).

			Left nearly destitute by the death of his father at an early age, he chose the law as his profession and went to London, where he became acquainted with Goldsmith, Garrick, Armstrong and the celebrated Mrs. Macauley. He was most familiar with Mr. Laughlin McLean, the accredited agent of Mahomed Ali, Nabob of Arcot, who instructed him in the details of the dispute between his client and the Company. Boyd then took up the Nabob's cause in a series of letters that appeared in Woodfall's "Public Advertiser" in 1777, and this led to his accompanying Lord Macartney to Madras, as Second Secretary in 1781. Before he left England the Junius controversy was at its height and his letters to Woodfall gave rise to a widely indulged opinion that he was Junius. Pitt stated his strong belief in it, and recounted an incident of their having jointly reported an Irish debate where Boyd's account of Colonel Barré's speech reminded him in spirit, point, and sarcasm so strongly of Junius that he always retained the conviction that the piece proceeded from no other pen. Boyd accompanied Sir Edward Hughes' Expedition to Trincomalee and conducted a mission to the King of Kandy. On his way back from Ceylon he was captured by Suffrein's fleet and imprisoned at the isle of Bourbon for several months. After his liberation he lived for some time at Calcutta, but was recalled to Madras as Master Attendant. In 1792 he started the "Madras Courier" and in the following year projected the "Indian Observer," a series of papers on morals and literature, and founded a weekly journal "Hircarrah" (i.e., messenger) as a vehicle for the essays. In spite of his Master Attendantship, which brought him 200 star pagodas a month and the profits of his literary work, Boyd became involved on account of his convivial habits and want of prudence. In 1794 he proposed to publish by subscription an account of his embassy to Kandy, and had actually begun the work when he was carried off by an attack of fever. His claims to a place in the History of English literature rest very much on the assumption, maintained by Almon and by George Chalmers, that he was the veritable Junius. It is remarkable that he never contradicted this conjecture. Letters reached him addressed "Junius Boyd, Esq.," and a copy of Junius superbly bound was kept upon his table, with its pages filled with pencil marks and references to living names and characters. In 1767 he married Miss Frances Morphy, and on the death of his maternal uncle assumed the name of Boyd. His tombstone has now disappeared; but Urquhart devotes five pages of prose and verse to his memory.
193	24th Dec. 1794.	OLYMPIA ELIZABETH CAMPBELL.	OLYMPIA ELIZABETH CAMPBELL, Captain Alexander Campbell's wife, of H.M.'s 74th Regiment, and sister to Sir John Morshead, Bart., of Trenant Park in Cornwall. 239	3rd May 1804.	ALLAN GRANT	... Captain ALLAN GRANT, aged 38 years. Of the 2nd Battalion, 18th Regiment, N.I., and Town Major of Fort St. George.
240	29th May 1804.	PETER COULON	... Mr. PETER COULON, a native of Clermont in the province of Languedoc in France, who was for many years at the head of an eminent commercial establishment at Pondicherry, and latterly a Member of the House of Francis Lantour and Company at Madras. Born Anno Domini 1747. Francis Lantour came out in the fleet commanded by Sir Robert Harland. He served on H.M. ships for many years, and at the conclusion of the war remained in India. He commenced business when acting under admirals Harland and Vernon and was agent for H.M.'s two Hanoverian regiments. He was married in Government House to Ann Hordle on February 7th, 1780. Two of their sons died infants in 1781 and 1783. On January 1st, 1810, the firm of Messrs. Lantour & Co. was altered to the firm of Messrs. Arbutnot, De Monte & Co. A James Lantour was in the Civil Service, 1806-1816.
241	28th June 1804.	RICHARD LESLIE	... The Rev. Archdeacon LESLIE, A.M., aged 58 years. Richard Leslie was Minister of Fort St. George for more than twenty years. His parishioners erected a monument to his memory in the Fort Church. It is by Flaxman. Leslie was co-chaplain with the well-known Dr. Bell, founder of the monitorial system of teaching in schools. He is described in Gardiner's Registers of Wadham College, Oxford, as Archdeacon of Agathoe, deprived for non-residence in 1790. His father was Bishop of Limerick.
242	5th Dec. 1804.	JOHN ST. PAUL	... [JOHN ST. PAUL, one of the Magistrates of Pondicherry.] J. Haig, C.S., married June 6th, 1814, Mary, the eldest daughter of F. St. Paul, Second Judge of Pondicherry (see No. 2184).
243	25th May 1805.	ROBERT HARVEY	... [ROBERT HARVEY, aged 51 years, Schoolmaster of the Military Male Orphan Asylum.] Urquhart. "The public are indebted to him for compiling the Madras Almanac for upwards of 10 years before his death."
244	25th May 1805.	JOHN URQUHART	... [Captain JOHN URQUHART, aged 27 years, late Commander of the ship St. George .] Urquhart mentions that "among other vicissitudes of life, he was captured three times and carried to the Isle of France; but his manly bosom ever glowing with patriotic fire, he sought every opportunity, even in captivity, of being useful to his country; and he was so fortunate as to render her a very essential service, by being the first person, who transmitted, at the hazard of his life, to our Governor-General, a circumstantial account of the proceedings of the enemy, with a copy of the proclamation announcing the arrival of Tippoo Sultaun's ambassadors on the island, and the requisition of raising volunteers for his service. On the receipt of this intelligence at Bengal, the measures of the Governor-General were promptly adopted to frustrate the wicked intentions of our enemies; and which terminated finally to the honor of our country, to the everlasting disgrace of the French and the downfall of Tippoo. Captain Urquhart was well-versed in polite literature, and many of his poetical effusions have occasionally adorned the public prints of this Presidency."

247	29th Oct. 1805.	THOMAS FRANCIS HARTWELL.	Rev. THOMAS FRANCIS HARTWELL, Chaplain on the Bengal Establishment, aged 27 years and 3 months. In vain would weeping Melancholy bind Around thy sacred urn the cypress shade, No gloom attend thy memory, for thy mind Reflects a radiance which can never fade. Our fond regret, our chasten'd sorrow mourn; For one so early lost, so amply fraught; Whose smiles could lure the sinner to return, Alike by practice and by precept taught. But not from us can flow the suffrage due; A higher tribute shall thy worth proclaim, Religion will lament her loss in you And virtue celebrate her votary's name. Their's be the record of thy passing day, Which, like the bud the ruthless storm had riv'n, Blent its bright promise with its quick decay At once our moral and our guide to heav'n. He died at the garden house of W. D. Brodie, Esq., now known as Brodie Castle.
248	30th Aug. 1805.	G. G. RICHARDSON ...	G. G. RICHARDSON, aged 58 years. I would write thy eulogy, but my tears blind me. C.E.R. Gilbert George Richardson was a partner in the House of Colt, Baker, Hart & Co. He married Catherine Elizabeth Scott, April 29th, 1799.

260	16th Mar. 1809.	WILLIAM HOPE and FAMILY.	This cenotaph is erected in memory of Mr. WILLIAM HOPE, Merchant, his beloved wife Kezia Hope and their four daughters and only children Kezia, Ellen, Anne and Caroline, who all perished at sea in the H.C.S. Jane Duchess of Gordon on or about the 16th of March 1809. Mr. Hope married Miss Kezia Wheeler, September 14th, 1798. Colonel James Welsh passed his first night at Madras "sleeping or rather struggling and rolling on the top of a billiard table in Mr. Hope's hotel in the Fort, all the beds being pre-occupied. Mr. Hope was a merchant and shopkeeper at Madras and few men have ever left India with a fairer character or a larger fortune: few men, even in more elevated situations, did half the good what this honest man did: since he was as liberal and kind-hearted, as he was modest and unassuming. He was a passenger in the fleet with General MacDowall in 1809, when he perished in the gale which destroyed nearly a whole squadron off the Cape."

A bust and model of a magnifying glass which originally covered the tombstone have now disappeared. On the four corners of the dome the word Anderson appears in Tamil, Telugu, Hindustani and English characters. He was Physician-General and his name is the most distinguished in all the medical annals of Fort St. George. His service commenced at the siege of Manilla. In 1771 he came down from Vellore to Madras as Presidency Surgeon and remained there till his death. Anderson is said to have been of Swedish origin. He was an ardent advocate of vaccination and an enthusiastic botanist. He introduced the cultivation of silk into Madras, and paid attention to other plants of commercial value, such as the sugarcane, coffee plant, American cotton and European apple. He published a series of letters upon these topics in 1781 (correspondence with Sir Joseph Banks) and also from 1789 to 1796. His monument by Chantrey is in the Cathedral.

After the battle he went to England where he met the well-earned meed of praise and visited his father's house, Pudsey Dawson, Esq., of Liverpool. He returned to India with impaired health, but unabated ardour for the service of his King and his country. To their loss and to the grief of all his acquaintances he died at Madras on Sunday the 29th day of September 1811, aged 28 years. A man remarkable no less for his coolness and intrepidity in the hour of danger than for gentleness and affection in the circle of his friends. By one of these this tomb has been erected, G. Arbuthnot. George Arbuthnot is the founder of the great Madras firm which bears his name. Bombay Cathedral contains a monument by Bacon to Captain Hardinge, younger brother of Lord Hardinge. The inhabitants of Bombay presented a vase worth 300 guineas to his father and a sword worth 100 guineas to Dawson.

In memoriam RICARDI JEBB, LL.D., magistri summi provincialis hocce monumentum statuendum curavit sodalitas masonica in ora Coromandelensi auspiciis principis societatis Anglicanæ constituta, testimonium ut ne deesset venerationis quæ virum egregium sociumque artis masonicæ peritissimum respexerit, obiit Aug. XVI. MDCCCXX, annum agens XXXVIII. Advocate of the High Court. His uncle John, a writer, perished in the Black Hole. Joshua Jebb, his grandfather, was Alderman of Chesterfield and died 1797 in his hundredth year. The coats of arms on this tomb are admirably carved by John Law, architect of St. Matthias Church, Vepery.
289	4th Mar. 1821.	JOHN BEST ...	JOHN BEST, Commissary of Stores in the E. I. Company's Madras Service, who died at Vepery 4th March 1821, aged 56 years. During a military career of 30 years, by his bravery and integrity he acquired the friendship and esteem of several distinguished Generals, the approbation of the Government, and the rank and situation which he obtained in the army. In grateful remembrance of his virtues and affection his widow caused the monument to be erected. He was servant to Lord Harris, when the latter was Secretary to Sir W. Meadows, Governor of Madras; and went by the name of the "Best" of Johns. He led the forlorn hope at the storming of Seringapatam, and in reward for his gallantry was offered a Commission, which he refused and asked very wisely to be made Commissary of Stores.
290	20th Sept. 1821.	WILLIAM URQUHART.	Here lieth the body of WILLIAM URQUHART, projector and original proprietor of the Commercial Circulator Press, the beloved husband of Elizabeth, affectionate father of William Gilbert and Robert William Urquhart, who after an illness of 5 months, borne with Christian fortitude, departed this life the 20th Sept. 1821, aged 51 years. Compiler of the "Oriental Obituary," (1809), mentioned in the introduction. He married Miss Harriet Bewley, June 13th, 1801.
291	10th Nov. 1822.	ADAM TATE GIBBONS.	ADAM TATE GIBBONS, formerly a Captain in H.M.'s 10th and 51st Regiments, and latterly a merchant of Madras. He married, March 2nd, 1805, Eliza, daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel Dubois.
292	11th Sept. 1823.	DIANA CHRISTENAU ...	Mrs. DIANA C. J. CHRISTENAU, wife of Mr. Christenau, Master of the Garrison Band at Fort St. George, aged 26 years and 16 days. Christenau was a private in the Regiment de Meuron and is said to have been the soldier who killed Tippoo Sultan. Lord Valentia, however, after describing shortly his visit to Colonel de Meuron at Seringapatam in 1804, where he dined with the officers of the Regiment wrote: "It is still unknown who gave the fatal wound to the Sultaun. The invaluable string of pearls which he wore round his neck was the prize of the soldier, but it has never been produced or traced. He had been many years collecting this, always taking off an inferior pearl where he could purchase one of more value."

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, FORT ST. GEORGE.

329 11th May GEORGE LORD PIGOT. "In memoriam."

1777.

A granite slab bearing this inscription was placed by order of the Duke of Buckingham over a grave and lead-encased coffin discovered in 1875 while digging the tomb of Lord Hobart in the church. The coffin is supposed to be that of Lord Pigot, who died while a prisoner in the hands of his Council. The vestry records prove that permission was given to bury his body in the church. He had been confined under care of Major (afterwards General) Matthew Horne, R.A., at St. Thomas' Mount, probably in the Mess House, and was brought to Madras for change of air. George Pigot joined the service as writer in 1736. When serving at Fort St. David, he was sent with Clive to Trichinopoly in charge of a convoy, and both narrowly escaped capture. He succeeded Thomas Saunders as Governor in 1755 and successfully defended the city against Lally. In 1763 he retired upon a fortune of 40 lacs, and purchased an Irish peerage. He was persuaded by the Directors to return to Madras as Governor for the second time in 1775 and found himself at variance with his Council over the reinstatement of the Tanjore Raja. The notorious Paul Benfield, who, later on in his career, is credited with having returned nine members to Parliament, demanded settlement of a claim of 23 lacs, which by a majority of seven to five the Council decided to be valid. Pigot thereupon suspended first two and then four more of his Councillors and ordered the arrest of Sir Robert Fletcher, Commander-in-chief. The opposition immediately assumed the Government and Pigot was arrested by Colonel James Stuart on the 24th April 1776. He died in confinement the following May. He was owner of the celebrated Pigot diamond, of which there is a model in the British Museum. This stone was sold in 1819 for £30,000 to Ali Pasha, who when mortally wounded by Reshid Pasha (February 5th, 1822) had it crushed to powder in his presence. There is a curious picture of Lord Pigot, signed by G. Willison, 1777, in the Durbar room of the Tanjore Palace. Fame is blowing a trumpet, which she holds with one hand, while she supports in the other a portrait of Pigot. Below her is a mourning female. On the pedestal which supports the oval frame of the portrait is inscribed, "Siege of Madras raised Feb. 17th, 1759. Died May 11th, 1777."

330 23rd Sept. SIR JOHN BURGOYNE,
1785. Bart.

In memory of Major-General SIR JOHN BURGOYNE, Bart., Colonel of His Majesty's 23rd Regt. of Light Dragoons, who died September 23rd 1785, aged 45 years.

Seventh baronet and cousin of Sir John Burgoyne, K.C.B., dramatist and General, who surrendered in 1777 at Saratoga. In 1781 he was commissioned to raise a regiment of light dragoons for service in India, the first European cavalry sent out to that country. This corps, originally known as the 23rd Light Dragoons, was formed out of drafts from other regiments. Standards, now in possession of the 19th Hussars, were presented to it by George III, and early in 1782 it embarked on board the East India fleet under convoy of Admiral Sir R. Bickerton, and landed at Madras towards the end of the year. Under its changed name of the 19th Light Dragoons it subsequently won great renown on Indian battlefields. Colonel Floyd, father-in-law of Lady (Robert) Peel, was its most celebrated commander (see No. 1984).

JOSEPH MOORHOUSE.	By order of the Court of Directors of the East India Company to commemorate the distinguished services of the late JOSEPH MOORHOUSE, Esq., Lieutenant Colonel of the Coast Artillery, who was killed at the attack of the Pettah gate of Bangalore on the seventh day of March Anno Domini MDCCXCI. Moorhouse is said to have risen from the ranks, and had greatly distinguished himself at the siege of Carangooly (January 1781), at the battle of Porto Novo (July 1781) and at the siege of Cuddalore (June 1785). His services were so highly thought of by the Madras Government that, on receipt of the news of his death, the following General Order was published, March 22nd, 1791 :—"Government" having received advice of the death of Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph Moorhouse, who was killed in the assault of the Pettah at Bangalore on the 7th instant, it has been resolved as a testimony of respect to the memory of an officer who has served the Company many years with zeal, spirit and ability, that his remains, with the permission of the ministers and churchwardens, be publicly interred in the Church of Fort St. George, at the Company's expense, and a marble tablet fixed over his grave with a suitable inscription in commemoration of his merits." The monument was executed in England by C. Peart. It is of white marble and represents Britannia seated on a lion, crowning a medallion head of Moorhouse with laurel. His death at the storming of Bangalore forms the subject of a picture by Robert Home. Moorhouse was married on October 13th, 1785, at St. Mary's Church to Augusta, second and youngest daughter of the Rev. André Boisdaine. His age at the time of death was 47.

The doom of the affectionate mother was irretrievably fixed, when her child expired, and having struggled for a few months on account of those, whom she has left to deplore her loss, she departed this life on the 7th of August 1796, in the 41st year of her age. Lord Hobart, who gave his name to Hobart Town, Tasmania, was Governor of Madras from 1794 to 1798. He married on January 4th, 1792, Margaretta, daughter and co-heiress of Edmund Bourke, Esq., of Urrey, and widow of Thomas Annesley, of Innishannon, County Cork. Their daughter became the wife of the first earl of Ripon. In 1799 Lord Hobart married secondly Eleanor Eden, daughter of the first Lord Auckland. Her sister, the Hon. Emily Eden, wrote the well-known Letters "Up the country" and gave her name to the Eden Gardens at Calcutta. Lord Hobart's portrait is in the drawing room of Government House, Madras. opportunity of promoting both the temporal and eternal welfare of others. In him religion appeared not with a gloomy aspect, or forbidding mien, but with a graceful form and placid dignity. Among the many fruits of his indefatigable labours was the erection of the church at Tanjore. The savings from a small salary were, for many years, devoted to the pious work and the remainder of the expense supplied by individuals at his solicitation. The Christian seminaries at Ramanadpuram and in the Tinnevely province were established by him. Beloved and honored by Europeans, he was, if possible, held in still deeper reverence by the natives of this country of every degree and every sect, and their unbounded confidence in his integrity and truth was on many occasions rendered highly beneficial to the public service. The poor and the injured looked upon him as an unfailing friend and advocate. The great and powerful concurred in yielding him the highest homage ever paid in this quarter of the globe to European virtue. The late Hyder Ally Cawn, in the midst of a bloody and vindictive war with the Carnatic, sent orders to his officers "to permit the Venerable Father Swartz to pass unmolested and show him respect and kindness, for he is a holy man and means no harm to my Government." The late Tuljajee, Rajah of Tanjore, when on his death-bed desired to entrust to his protecting care his adopted son Serfojee, the present Rajah, with the administration of all affairs of his country. On a spot of ground granted to him by the same Prince, two miles east of Tanjore, he built a house for his residence and made it an orphan asylum. Here the last 20 years of his life were spent in the education and religious instruction of children, particularly those of indigent parents, whom he gratuitously maintained and instructed. And here on the 13th of February 1798, surrounded by his infant flock and in the presence of several of his disconsolate brethren, entreating them to continue to make religion the first object of their care and imploring with his last breath the Divine blessing on their labours, he closed his truly Christian career in the 72nd year of his age. The East India Company, anxious to perpetuate the memory of such transcendent worth, and gratefully sensible of the public benefits which resulted from its influence, caused this monument to be erected. Ann. Dom. 1807.

Swartz was one of the most devoted missionaries India has ever seen. A monument by Flaxman at Tanjore represents Raja Serfojee holding the dying man's hand and receiving his blessing. Below are the following lines composed by the Raja himself. They are the first attempt at English versification by a Hindoo prince (see No. 1847):—

"Firm wast thou, humble and wise,
Honest, pure, free from disguise;
Father of orphans, the widow's support,
Comfort in sorrow of every sort.
To the benighted, dispenser of light,
Doing and pointing to that which is right,
Blessing to princes, to people, to me;
May I, my father, be worthy of thee!
Wisheth and prayeth thy Serfojee."

Serfojee died on the 8th March 1832 in his fifty-fourth year.

334	2nd Oct. 1803.	CHRISTIAN WILLIAM GERICKE.	Sacred to the memory of the Revd. CHRISTIAN WILLIAM GERICKE. Destined to labour in a peculiar vineyard (that of the conversion of the natives of office) he fulfilled his sacred office with primitive simplicity and purity. Worthy associate of the Venerable SWARTZ, like him, he toiled thro' life with sedulous but temperate zeal, to plant in every accessible soil the pure spirit of Christianity. Pagans, uninstructed Christians, and especially their children, were the object of his unceasing labour of faith and love. He was called to receive the eternal reward of his patient and unwearied course of usefulness, in the year of our Lord 1803. The monument is by Flaxman and represents Gericke teaching. He died at Vellore, October 2nd, 1803, and is buried in the family vault at Vepery. He left 1,500 pagodas beside valuable house property to the S.P.C.K. His daughter Dorothea Sophia married John Hunter, and died May 22nd 1796, in her 20th year (No. 533). Gericke says in his will "My greatest troubles have occurred during the last 7 years. My daughter Dorothea Sophia Hunter died aged 20, and my son Captain George Frederick aged 30" (at Ongole, May 16th, 1801). Gericke's wife was a Miss Sophia Huttenar (see No. 1124).
335	28th June 1804.	RICHARD LESLIE ...	The Reverend Archdeacon RICHARD LESLIE, M.A., departed this life on the 28th day of June 1804, aged 58 years. His remains are interred in the burial ground of the parish and this monument is erected by the unanimous voice of the parishioners as a token of respect to his memory. He discharged the office of a minister in Fort St. George for more than twenty years with fidelity and correctness and during the whole period enjoyed the confidence and esteem of the community at large. His gentleness of manners, his modesty and humility were exemplary, and his whole deportment such a became the character of a true minister of the Gospel of Christ. See No. 211.
336	9th Nov. 1804.	JOSIAH WEBBE ...	To the memory of JOSIAH WEBBE, Esquire, for many years Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, and afterward Resident at the Court of Scindia, where he died the 9th of November 1804, aged 37 years. His mind by nature, firm, lofty, energetic, was formed by classic study to a tone of independence and patriotism not unworthy the best days of Greece and Rome. Disdaining the little arts of private influence or vulgar popularity, and erect in conscious integrity he rested his claims to public honours on public merit. At extensive knowledge of the Eastern languages forwarded him rise to stations of high trust, where his ambition was fixed to exalt the honour and interests of his country. But in the midst of a career thus useful and distinguished, preferring the public weal to personal safety, he fell a martyr to an ungenial climate in the prime of life, beloved with fervour by his friends, particularly lamented by the Governors of India, admired and regretted by all. To his public and private virtues this monument is dedicated by his friends. A fine monument by Flaxman representing an officer, a civil servant, a Mahomedan and a Hindoo mourning over a portrait medallion of the deceased. 340	18th April 1813.	SIR BARRY CLOSE, Bart.	This monument was erected by the Honorable East India Company to the memory of Major-General SIR BARRY CLOSE, Bart., in testimony of their gratitude for his ardent zeal, and entire devotion to their service, equally manifested in the application of high Military attainments, and of profound political knowledge. His character derived its brightest honors from that union of conciliation and firmness, which after contributing to terminate a successful war, was eminently displayed in diffusing the blessings of peace over a numerous native population, who without being subject to British rule, felt the protecting influence of British counsels in the mild administration of authority which succeeded the usurpation of Mysore. He departed this life April the 18th 1813, aged 56 years. Close entered the Indian Army in 1771. At the final siege of Seringapatam he was Adjutant-General to General Harris, who stated in despatches that his successes were chiefly to be attributed to him. He was Resident at Mysore till 1801, being then transferred to Poona, where he concluded with the Peishwa the treaty of Bassein, the ultimate consequence of which was the destruction of the Maharatta power. He retired in 1811. Mounstuart Elphinstone wrote of him, "I doubt whether such an assembly of manly virtues remains behind him. A strong, erect and handy frame, a clear head and vigorous understanding, fixed principles, unshaken courage, contempt for pomp and pleasure, entire devotion to the public service, formed the character of Sir Barry Close—a character one would rather think imagined in ancient Rome than met with in our own age and nation." Close was an intimate friend of Wilks, who dedicated his history of Mysore to him and there describes him as "having mastered the logic, the ethics and the metaphysics of Greece through the medium of the Arabic and Persian languages." The town of Closepett in Mysore was so called in honour of him. There is an engraving of this monument in Neill's "History of the First Madras European Regiment," page 404. It is by Flaxman and the finest monument in the church.

1798. In Butleigh Church, Somerset, is a very long and not too felicitous epitaph upon the three Hood brothers by Southey, whose brother Thomas, a midshipman on board the Mars, had been severely wounded in the engagement. In 1811 a column 130 feet high was erected on a hill near Butleigh to the memory of Sir Samuel Hood. The lines of Southey which refer to him are—

“ One brother yet
Survived, with Keppel and with Rodney train'd
In battles, with the Lord of Nile approved,
Ere in command he worthily upheld
Old England's high prerogative. In the east,
The west, the Baltic and the Midland Seas,
Yea, wheresoever hostile fleets have plough'd
The ensanguined deep, his thunders have been heard,
His flag in brave defiance hath been seen ;
And bravest enemies at Sir Samuel's name
Felt fatal presage in their inmost heart,
Of unavertible defeat foredoom'd.
Thus in the path of glory he rode on,
Victorious alway, adding praise to praise ;
Till full of honours not of years, beneath
The venom of the infected clime he sank
On Coromandel's coast, completing there
His service, only when his life was spent.”

Lady Hood was a daughter of Lord Seaforth. In August 1811 Sir Walter Scott sent out by her a long letter of introduction to his brother-in-law Charles Carpenter, then Commercial Resident at Cuddalore (No. 1639).

342	26th Nov. 1816.	CHARLES ROSS.	ROBERT CHARLES ROBERT ROSS of the Madras Civil Service departed this life on the 26th of November 1816, at the early age of thirty-three years. “ But wisdom is the grey hair unto men and an unspotted life is old age.” He filled his station with dignity and honor, yet, humbly exercised himself “ to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men,” charitable, benevolent, frank and generous, his breast glowed with universal philanthropy. He was a dutiful son, an affectionate brother, a sincere friend: an unspeakable kindness flowed from his heart, regulated his actions, and inspired reciprocal good-will. In his public and private affairs, integrity was his guide, and while he did justice to his employers, he protected and supported the fellow-creatures committed to his charge. The natives of the Kurpah Collectorate will long cherish his memory and mourn his loss. Deservedly distinguished by his superiors, he advanced rapidly on the road to preferment, but, in the midst of health and in the bloom of life, he was called to a better world. A consistent Christian, it is humbly hoped he is gone to receive the reward promised by the Redeemer to his faithful servants. This monument is erected by a friend, to whom the remembrance of his virtues will ever be dear and sacred. The monument is by J. Bacon. It bears masonic symbols and the pelican representation of self-sacrifice. Ross died at Masulipatam at the house of G. E. Russell, the Collector. He entered the service in 1800, and was for six years Collector of Cuddapah. The old spelling Kurpah still survives in the expression “ Kurpah indigo.” Russell, whose mother was a daughter of Lord Pigot, acted as Governor of Madras in 1837 (see No. 1309).

1827.SIR THOMAS MUNRO,

our troops were of no common kind; every man having been up to his neck in water while crossing the creek." Colonel Coury and Lieutenant Adams were killed on the 7th in a preliminary attack which failed. Colonel Pepper was slightly wounded and died in Madras six months afterwards. This monument is a statue of him by G. Clarko, "the Birmingham Chantrey." Stedman was a son of Lieutenant-Colonel John Gabriel Stedman (1744-97), author of the well-known work on Surinam, who married firstly Joanna, a native of Surinam and secondly Adriana Wiertz von Coelhorn, grand daughter of the famous military engineer. John Stedman's daughter by his second wife Sophia Charlotte married John Cotton, C.S., October 10th, 1807, and their son Captain J. S. Cotton died at Chittoor, October 17th, 1843 (No. 734).

Near this stone are deposited the remains of Major-General SIR THOMAS MUNRO, Bart., K.C.B., Governor of the Presidency of Fort St. George, who, after 47 years of distinguished civil and military services, seven of which he passed at the head of that Government under which he first served as a cadet, was suddenly called from his labours on the 6th of July 1827 at a moment "when," in the language of the Honorable Court of Directors, "he was on the point of returning to his native land in the enjoyment of well-earned honors from his Sovereign and from the Company, having recently manifested a new proof of his zeal and devotion in retaining charge of the Government of Madras after he had intimated his wish to retire therefrom and at a period when the political state of India rendered the discharge of the duties of that high and honorable station 'peculiarly arduous and important.'" Atat. 65. Sir Thomas Munro was from the earliest period of his career remarkable amongst other men. All those who were associated with him at the commencement of his service, many of whom have since become illustrious in the annals of India and of their country, yielded to him with common consent that pre-eminence which belonged to the ascendancy of his character. The resources of his mind rose superior to every emergency of civil government or military enterprise, and he united to these great qualities an unpretending modesty (that exalted sign of innate worth) which courted no applause and which would have obstructed his advancement had not his transcendent merits in the cabinet and in the field forced him into public notice and elevated him to the highest office of this Presidency.

Of him Canning said "Europe never produced a more accomplished statesman nor India, so fertile in heroes, a more skilful soldier." He died of cholera at Patticoindah, near Gooty, when making a farewell tour through the Ceded Districts on the eve of his retirement from the Government. His remains were brought to Madras in 1831. There is an equestrian statue of him by Chantrey on the Island, and a portrait by Sir Martin Archer Shee in the Banqueting Hall. He married Jane, daughter of Richard Campbell, of Craigie, county Ayrshire, whose picture by Lawrence hangs in the drawing room of Government House. Munro's father was a Glasgow merchant trading to Virginia. His nephew, John Collins Munro, Sub-Collector of the Southern Mahratta Doab, was killed together with St. John Thackeray, Principal Collector, at the reduction of Kittoor, October 23rd, 1824 (see No. 1144).

His services to Spain were recognized by his appointment as a Major-General in the Spanish army, and at a later period the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Ferdinand was conferred upon him. In 1819 he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Dominica, and in 1822 came as Quartermaster General to India, where he was present at the siege and capture of Bhurtpore on January 13th, 1826. For his services during the campaign he was made a Knight Commander of the Bath and received the thanks of the House of Commons. In 1833 he became Military Secretary to Lord William Bentinck, returning to England with him on his retirement from the Governor-Generalship in 1835. While in England, he challenged Sir William Napier to a duel on account of the slur he considered Napier had cast upon the Spanish troops in his "History of the War in the Peninsula"; but the quarrel was amicably settled. In 1836 he was appointed to command the forces in the Windward and Leeward Islands; and three years later, in September 1839, he was offered and accepted the Command-in-Chief at Madras. He arrived on August 1st, 1840, and died suddenly in the following January.

1853. | WALTER POSTHUMUS
POWELL. | Sacred to the memory of the Rev. WALTER POSTHUMUS POWELL, D.C.L., of Worcester College, Oxford, who for many years faithfully ministered within these walls as garrison chaplain of Fort St. George. His untiring and uncompromising energy as a pastor, his plain and manly character and his affectionate disposition won for him the esteem and love of all classes of the community. The scope of his preaching and living is well expressed in words which he inscribed in his will "wretched by sin, dead in trespasses, being saved by grace, justified by faith, I have peace with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ." He fell asleep on the 8th of June 1853, aged 48 years. |

386	20th Oct. 1886.	SIR HERBERT TAYLOR MACPHERSON.	In memoriam Lieutenant-General SIR HERBERT TAYLOR MACPHERSON, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., V.C., Commander-in-Chief of the Army of Madras, ob. Oct. 20, A.D. 1886. Aet. 59. He died near Prome, on the Irrawaddy, of fever contracted through exposure in Upper Burma while commanding the Forces in the field during the Third Burmese War. His remains lie in the cemetery at Rangoon. A most able leader in the field, in quarters devoted to the welfare of his men, he was beloved and respected by all. This tablet is placed here to mark his too brief command of the Madras Army, and the regretful sense of their loss by his friends in this Presidency. Sir Herbert Macpherson had only been appointed to the chief command in Madras in the preceding August in succession to Sir Frederick Roberts. He entered the Army in 1845 as an ensign in the 78th Highlanders (Ross-shire Buffs) and won the V.C. at the relief of Lucknow. On the transfer of the Company's rule to the crown, he was one of the first to join the Bengal Staff corps. During the Afghan War of 1878-79, he commanded a brigade and received the K.C.B. In 1882 he commanded the contingent of Indian troops despatched to Egypt by the Red Sea, was present at the battle of Tel-el-Kebir, and was made a K.C.S.I. He married in 1859 Maria, daughter of Lieutenant-General J. Eekford, c.b., of the Indian Army. His successor as Commander-in-Chief in Madras was Sir Charles G. Arbuthnot, K.C.B. The Macpherson memorial is a very handsome enamelled brass by Hart.
387	18th April 1890.	LIONEL LANGLEY ...	In memoriam LIONEL LANGLEY, Major Royal Engineers, aged 40 years, who died at Kullar in the Kistna district on the 18th April 1890, from injuries received in an encounter with a tiger. This brass is erected by his brother officers, serving in the Madras Presidency, as a token of their esteem and respect. Eldest son of General Sir G. C. Langley, K.C.B.
388	6th Oct 1892.	WILLIAM HENRY COAKER.	To the memory of WILLIAM HENRY COAKER, Lieut. 394	18th July 1824.	CHARLES HARWOOD HIGGINSON.	Sacred to the memory of CHARLES HARWOOD HIGGINSON, Esq., Senior Judge of the Court of Appeal and Circuit for the Southern Division of this Presidency, who departed this life at Trichinopoly, aged XL years. Impressed with a deep sense of duty to his Creator, he discharged it in the true spirit of Christianity with meekness and humility. A pious and dutiful son, an attached and affectionate husband, a kind and generous master, a warm and sincere friend;—these were his virtues in private life; in the discharge of his public duties, he evinced a sound judgment, diligent and unwearied attention, a just but merciful consideration of the merits and demerits of those whom it was his duty to judge, pure and incorruptible integrity. His surviving friends have raised this monument in testimony of their love, esteem and respect for one of the best of men. He joined the service as writer in 1799. The monument by C. H. Smith shows the shield, sword and scales of Justice and an open copy of Manu "on Laws." He married, April 17th, 1806, Miss Frances Westcott (No 1830).
395	25th July 1824.	JOHN WILLIAM FREESE.	Sacred to the memory of the late JOHN WILLIAM FREESE, Esq. Colonel commanding the Madras Artillery, in which corps he served with fidelity and honour for the space of 39 years. He departed this life at sea on board the H.C.S. "Duke of York" on the xxvth July MDCCXXIV, æt. LIV years. This tablet is inscribed to his memory by his afflicted family. He married Miss Stewart, August 1800.
396	14th Aug. 1824.	WILLIAM PARRY ...	In memory of WILLIAM PARRY, Esquire, who died at Porto Novo on the 14th of August 1824 aged 56 years. In him were happily united those qualities which elevate and adorn the human character, whether in the exercise of liberal and enlightened principles or in the practice of the social virtues, to which his urbanity and extensive attainments gave a grace and attraction beyond the ordinary reach of men. During a residence of 37 years in Madras his unblemished reputation had justly obtained for him the respect esteem and veneration of all classes of the community, and alike endeared him to the native and European inhabitants. His loss is irreparably felt and unfeignedly deplored. His remains are interred in the missionary church at Cuddalore. A figure by W Baily, R.A., of a native of India mourning against a pillar inscribed with the words "nihil humani ab illo alienum." Mr. Parry was the founder of the house of Parry & Co., originally Parry, Jones & Co. He married April 8th, 1794, Mary, née West, widow of Thomas Pearce, M.C.S. A George Parry, M.C.S., second son of Thomas Parry, Esq., of Banstead in Surrey, died at Calcutta, August 10th, 1801, aged 29.

397	1824–1825.	ANDREW FRENCH ... JOHN SPOTTISWOODE TROTTER. THOMAS HOWELL. JOHN RANDALL. PHILLIP COOK. JOHN COCHRANE.	Sacred to the memory of Captain ANDREW FRENCH, Captain JOHN SPOTTISWOODE TROTTER, Captain THOMAS HOWELL, Captain JOHN RANDALL, Lieutenant PHILLIP COOK, and JOHN COCHRANE, Esq., M.D., of the 16th Regiment, Native Infantry. The former was killed on the 29th March in the attack on the fortified heights of Arracan, the others fell victims to the fever which in 1824 and 1825 proved so fatal to His Majesty's and the Honourable Company's Troops, employed during the war against the Burmese. This slab has been erected by their brother-officers in testimony of their esteem and regard. Bus relief of a battlefield by Sievier, London.
398	3rd April 1826.	REGINALD HEBER ...	M.S. viri admodum reverendi et in Christo patris REGINALD HEBER, S.T.P. Episcopi Calcuttensis qui ab ipsa statim adolescentia ingenii tanta humanitatis cultu omnigenæque doctrinæ laude ornatissimus se suaque deo humillime consecravit in sanctissimum episcopatus ordinem adscriptus ecclesiæ apud indos anglicanæ infantiam usque ad vitæ jacturam aluit fovit sustentavit admirabili ingenii candore suavissima morum simplicitate divinaque animi benevolentia adeo omnes sibi devinxerat ut ecclesia universa patrem ethnici patronum carissimum desiderarent subita morte præreptus juxta urbem Trichinopolim mortales exuvias deposuit aprilis die III anno salutis MDCCXXVI, ætatis XLIII, episcopatus III. Madrasenses non solum Christiani sed et ethnici principes magnates pauperes ad hoc marmor extruendum uno consensu adfuerunt. Heber's last public act was to confirm Native Christians in the Fort Church at Trichinopoly. He is here represented by Chantry in the attitude of laying on of hands. Southey's ode on a Portrait of Heber contains a passage which might have been written as a description of this monument. " Native believers wept for thankfulness, When on their heads he laid his hallowing hands ; And if the saints in bliss Be cognizant of aught that passeth here, It was a joy for Schwartz To look from Paradise that hour Upon his earthly flock." See No. 2014.
399	5th June 1829.	JOHN HART JOLLIE.	Sacred to the memory of JOHN HART JOLLIE, Esq., who died at Cuddalore, 5th June 1829, æt. 33; to record whose premature and sudden dissolution in a distant clime, this tablet has been erected by his surviving father and brothers.
400	9th June 1831.	JANE KINDERSLEY ...	To the memory of JANE the beloved wife of NATHANIEL WILLIAM KINDERSLEY, Esq., of the Madras Civil Service, who died at Ootacamund 9th June 1831, aged 26. The universal prepossession excited by her gentle benevolent and cheerful demeanour ripened into love and esteem; as it was found to spring from christian charity, christian humility and that peace which the world cannot give. Strict integrity and singleness of heart marked her words and actions. Her warm affections and exquisite sensibility were controlled by sound sense. To be beloved, her only wish, was necessary to her existence. The removal of this amiable being was as sudden as it was premature. But in the remembrance of her unaffected piety and purity of heart, she has left to her husband the consolatory reflection that though unexpected, she was not unprepared to attend the awful summons.

Mr. Kindersley was the son of Nathaniel Edward Kindersley, M.C.S., 1779–1805. He married Miss Jane Cairnes Elliott, July 30th, 1825. On the same slab is inscribed a memorial to Emma, wife of John Robert Kindersley, M.C.S., born October 9th, 1832, died July 6th, 1875 (see No. 1895).

401 20th May 1832. JOHN MACK

... Sacred to the memory of JOHN MACK, Esq., Assistant Surgeon on the Madras Establishment. His rare professional merits and private virtues soon raised him to the honourable and responsible offices which he held at the time of his lamented death of Surgeon to the Governor's Body Guard and Physician to the Durlar of his Highness the Nabob of the Carnatic. Obiit A.D. 1832, an. etat. 35. A few of his sorrowing and admiring friends have joined in raising this inadequate memorial of his virtues.

The figure in relief on the tablet represents Hygeia, the goddess of health, and daughter of Æsculapius, offering an oblation to a serpent which with head erect drinks from the cup she holds in her hand.

402 12th Sept. 1832. JAMES STEPHEN LUSHINGTON.

Sacred to the memory of JAMES STEPHEN LUSHINGTON, Esq., of the Bengal Civil Service, who died at the early age of 28 years, second son of the Right Honourable S. R. Lushington, M.P., late Governor of Madras, and of Anne Elizabeth, eldest daughter of George Lord Harris, late Governor of Madras. Distinguished on his first arrival in India by superior talents and acquirements and passing with rapid success through his studies in the College of Fort William, he gave early promise of that intellectual and moral worth which is recorded with admiring friendship by the pious and accomplished Heber and which his short but brilliant career in this Presidency developed and matured as the Private Secretary of the Governor. He acquired by his impartial courtesy the esteem of every branch of the public service, while his many virtues and endearing qualities secured the approbation and realized the hopes of his affectionate and bereaved father. This monument is erected by the society which he adorned as a just tribute to his departed excellence.

A fine marble statue of a young man by Flaxman, and the most noticeable monument in the Cathedral. Lushington died at Laulpet near Arcot after a lingering illness. His father Stephen Rumbold Lushington was Governor of Madras (1827–1835) and had previously been in the Civil Service (1790–1807). He served as Private Secretary to General Harris, whose daughter he married September 19th, 1797, and whose life he wrote in 1840. He represented Rye and Canterbury in Parliament and died in 1868, aged 92. He was a cousin of Henry Lushington, of the Bengal Civil Service, who owed his escape from death in the Black Hole to the "refreshing draughts" he drew from Holwell's shirt sleeves. Henry Lushington was afterwards Clive's Secretary, and in that capacity was the author of the loll

406	3rd Feb. 1836.	ELIZA MACLEAN ...	Sacred to the memory of ELIZA MACLEAN, daughter of Major Hovenden, of Hemingford, in the county of Huntingdon, and wife of Lieut.-Colonel Thomas Maclean, of the Indian Army, gifted with every attractive grace, which rendered her the charm of society and endeared to many friends by the higher qualities of mind and feeling, those endowments and a sincerely christian spirit, were all united in her to fix the unbounded love of her husband, the reverence and affection of her family. With these virtues to strengthen the frailness of mortality, she passed through this transitory world. With the faith of a Christian awakening the hope of eternal life, she resigned her soul to heaven, on 3rd February 1836, in the 49th year of her age. A Rev. Walter Hovenden, B.D., formerly a Major in the army and subsequently Chaplain and Secretary to the Bengal Military Orphan Institution, died at the Sandheads, September 30th, 1832, aged 49. He was the son of Colonel Hovenden, of the same family as the celebrated historian, Roger de Hovenden, who lived in the reign of Henry II.

407	2nd Aug. 1836.	THOMAS SEWELL ...	Sacred to the memory of Captain THOMAS SEWELL, of the 50th Regiment of the M.N.I., and Deputy Secretary to the Military Board, who after a short but honourable career in the indefatigable duty of his duty, fell a victim to the climate of Goomsoor, at Garadah, 2nd August 1836, aged 32 years. This tablet has been erected by a few of his most intimate friends who esteemed and admired the many amiable and manly qualities which adorned his character.
408	2nd Sept. and 2nd Oct. 1836.	WILLIAM GARRARD ... WILLIAM GARRARD.	This simple tablet recordeth the names of an affectionate husband and of a dutiful son, Lieutenant-Colonel WILLIAM GARRARD and Lieutenant WILLIAM GARRARD, late of the Madras Engineers, who died at the Neilgherry Hills, the former aged 56, the latter aged 26. Colonel Garrard, through a course of 40 years, gallantly, zealously and with fidelity served his king and country and rose to the honourable station of Chief Engineer, but while thus discharging the duties thereof, the Almighty Ruler of events was pleased to change his earthly abode for a better mansion. His virtuous son was emulating the father's bright example as a faithful servant when his days were likewise numbered. The afflicted widowed mother finds relief in this brief record.
409	5th Feb. 1837.	DANIEL CORRIE ...	Sacred to the memory of the Right Reverend DANIEL CORRIE, LL.D., consecrated at Lambeth, 14th June 1835, first Bishop of Madras. "God forbid that I should glory save in the Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." With those words this faithful servant of Christ entered on his ministrations at Calcutta in 1806 as a Chaplain of the Honourable East India Company and from thence he preached his first sermon at Madras as Bishop of that See. By the Grace of the Holy Ghost, his light increasingly shown before men, as a preacher of Salvation by faith in Christ, both to his countrymen and to the natives; as a translator of the Scriptures and the Liturgy into the Persian and Hindustani tongues; as a leader of missionary designs and operations; as a founder of churches and schools; and as a promoter of all other measures fitted under the divine blessing to bring the heathen to the knowledge of Christ and to hasten His kingdom. Having thus served his generation by the will of God, he fell asleep in Jesus, 5th February 1837, in the 60th year of his age. This monument was erected to his memory by the inhabitants of Madras. A life-size figure by Weekes. The Bishop is represented in his robes and with an open Bible in one hand, resting the other upon the shoulder of a youthful native enquirer. He is best known as Archdeacon of Calcutta, during Heber's episcopate, having only held the office of Bishop eighteen months. His name will be handed down to posterity in the Madras presidency in connection with Bishop Corrie's grammar school.
410	18th Nov. 1837.	ANNE CHAMIER ...	Sacred to the memory of ANNE ANTOINETTE EVELINA, the beloved wife of HENRY CHAMIER, Esq., Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St. George. Her conduct, her kindness, her benevolence, received their due acknowledgement from mourners, the most sincere and numerous, European and native, that ever attended to honour female virtue at the grave. Born October 12th, 1798, departed this life at Madras, November 18th, 1837.

			A marble monument by Sibson, London. Mr. Chanier died in England, February 4th, 1867. He married, April 4th, 1816, Evelina, daughter of J. W. Thursby, C.S. (No. 1365).
411	18th May 1839.	JOHN MAITLAND ROSS.	Sacred to the memory of Captain JOHN MAITLAND ROSS, 5th Regiment N.I., who departed this life on the 18th May 1839 aged 36 years. His widow has erected this well deserved tribute to the memory of a kind and affectionate husband.
412	31st July 1840.	THOMAS MACLEAN ...	Sacred to the memory of Lieutenant-Colonel THOMAS MACLEAN, of the Madras Army, late Resident at the Court of Travancore, who died at Coimbatore on the 31st July 1840 in the 59th year of his age, after a long and painful illness borne with much submission and terminated in a calm but settled hope of a glorious resurrection in Jesus Christ. The value of his services as a public officer and the manly, generous and attractive qualities of his moral character were well known and extremely appreciated, while the retiring simplicity of his religious feelings was his peculiar characteristic as a Christian. This tablet is erected by his children in token of their love to the memory of a most tender and indulgent father and of their gratitude for the devotion with which for their sakes he sacrificed his health, and as it ultimately proved, his life, by an uninterrupted residence in India of more than 37 years. His remains are interred at Ootacamund, in the same grave with those of his beloved wife, whom he lost after a happy union of 30 years, and whom he mourned with a sorrow which time only rendered more touching and sincere. The monument by Denman, of 83, Regent Street, London represents a spreading Travancore palm.
413	12th April and 21st July 1842.	JAMES DREVER ... JAMES FORSYTH.	Sacred to the memory of Lieutenant-Colonel JAMES DREVER of the 6th Regiment, Madras Infantry, who died from the effects of a coup de soleil whilst gallantly leading his regiment at the storming of the fortress of Chinkeang-foo in China aged 42 years, and was buried on its ramparts. Also to the memory of Lieutenant and Adjutant JAMES FORSYTH of the same regiment, who died of cholera on the expedition to China on board the Honourable Company's Transport Walnut Castle at sea, 12th April 1842, aged 31 years. As a token of esteem and regard this tablet is erected by their brother officers.
414	20th Sept. 1843.	SIR JOHN DAVID NORTON.	This marble tablet is dedicated by his eldest son to the memory of the Honourable SIR JOHN DAVID NORTON, Kt., who was appointed Her Majesty's Puisne Justice at Madras, 1841, and who died and was buried at sea in the 56th year of his age after having won universal respect and esteem during his brief tenure of office. He was a man exemplary in every relation of life, a lover of all that is good and beautiful and

415	26th Sept. 1844.	THOMAS MOORE LANE.	Sacred to the memory of THOMAS MOORE LANE, Esq., Surgeon and Oculist to the East India Company, on the Madras establishment, Physician to His Highness the Nawab and Private Secretary to the Most Noble the Marquis of Tweeddale, K.T. and C.B., Governor of Fort St. George. He was suddenly called to his rest in the midst of his useful and honourable labours on 26th September 1844, aged 47 years. This tablet is erected as a memorial of affection and respect for a beloved friend, who being dead yet speaketh both in the example of his life and the blessed testimony he has left of the ground of his faith and hope. Portrait medallion of the deceased by J. Turnouth. He married, July 7th, 1824 Eliza, daughter of W. Thompson, M.D., of Wexford, Ireland.
416	17th Jan. 1845.	JOHN DENT ...	Sacred to the memory of JOHN DENT, Esq., Civil Servant and Provisional Member of Council of this Presidency. He died at Calcutta in the 50th year of his age. Lamented in his public capacity as one who in the course of 30 years' uninterrupted service had gained the complete confidence and respect of those officially connected with him and the distinguished approbation of both the Home and Indian Governments. In private life by his amiable and generous disposition, his overflowing kindness, his untiring zeal for the good of all classes and his high integrity of character he won the hearts of all who knew him. This monument is erected by the numerous European and Native friends to whom he was thus endeared, in testimony of their affection and esteem and as a memorial of his public and private virtues. The monument by Weekes shows Mr. Dent at work with his moonshee. He entered the service in 1812 and is buried in Circular Road Cemetery, Calcutta. On October 5th, 1816, he married Emily Jane, daughter of G. G. Ricketts, Registrar of the Supreme Court (see Nos. 142 and 519).
417	9th Feb. 1845.	WILLIAM GRIFFITH...	Sacred to the memory of WILLIAM GRIFFITH, Esq., F.R.S., Madras Medical Service, born at Ham in the county of Surrey, March 1810. He had attained to the highest eminence in the scientific world and was one of the most distinguished Botanists of the age. He acquired his knowledge by personal investigation in the different provinces of British India, and in the neighbouring kingdoms from the banks of the Helmund and Oxus to the Straits of Malacca, where in the capacity of Civil Assistant Surgeon he died in the 35th year of his age and the 13th year of his public service in India. This tablet is erected as an humble tribute to his memory by a few of his medical brethren of the Madras Service. Mr. Griffith was the first European to penetrate from Assam into Burmah. In 1838-39 he accompanied the army which marched from Sind through Quetta and Kandahar to Ghazni and Cabul. His collections number as many as 9,000 species, which is by far the largest number ever obtained by individual exertions. There is a monument to him in the Botanical Gardens at Calcutta and a tablet in the great theatre of the Medical College there.
418	21st Dec. 1845.	GEORGE BROADFOOT.	Sacred to the memory of Major GEORGE BROADFOOT, C.B., 34th Madras Light Infantry, of Kirkwall in the Orkneys, and of London. His valour, foresight and science mainly contributed to the success of the glorious defence of Jellalabad, and in the ensuing Affghan Campaign, he with his brave Corps of Mountain Sappers acquired enduring renown. His diplomatic and military services as Commissioner of the Tenasserim Provinces and as Governor-General's Agent on the North-West Frontier at a most important crisis of our Indian Empire called forth the eloquent eulogy of Sir H. Hardinge, that "he was as brave as he was able and second to none in all the great qualities of an accomplished officer." He fell at the battle of Ferozshahar in his 39th year, acting as aide-de-camp to the Governor-General. "Though severely wounded, he continued heroically to lead and animate the troops in the assault until mortally wounded in the Sikh camp at the moment of victory," the last of three brothers who died for their country on the battlefields of Asia. Raised by public subscription throughout the Presidency of Madras. The career of the Battye brothers forms a splendid parallel to the career of the Broadfoots. This monument is in the vestibule and shows the deceased recumbent in full military dress, watched by two sepoy's resting on their arms reversed. It is a fine specimen of Richardson's work. Broadfoot's life was written in 1888 by his brother Major William Broadfoot.
419	10th Feb. 1846.	SIR ROBERT HENRY DICK.	Sacred to the memory of Major-General SIR ROBERT HENRY DICK, K.C.B., K.C.H., of Tullymet, N.B., one of the heroes of the Peninsular war, who after distinguished services in H.M.'s 42nd Regiment Royal Highlanders, which regiment he brought out of action at Quatre Bras, closed a long and brilliant military career on the memorable field of Sobraon. Raised in grateful admiration by the public of the Presidency of Madras where, for some time, he held the Chief Military Command. Over the inscription is a 42nd Highlander in full uniform resting against a pedestal, on which is inscribed the battleroll of the regiment. For his gallantry at Waterloo, Dick was made Lieutenant-Colonel of the 42nd Highlanders, and his appointment was ordered to date from the day of the battle.

			Dick was born in India about 1785. There is a romantic story told of his parents' marriage to the effect that, when Henry Dundas and Edmund Burke were staying at Dunkeld with the Duke of Atholl, they accidentally met, while out walking, a farmer's daughter, who gave them refreshments, and, on learning who they were, begged them to help a poor doctor William Dick, to whom she was betrothed but who was too poor to marry. Dundas gave the doctor an appointment as Assistant Surgeon in the East India Company's service, whereupon he married and went to India and made a large fortune, with which he purchased on his retirement the estate of Tullinnet in Perthshire. He went to India in 1781 and retired in 1802.
420	21st May 1846.	CHARLOTTE ANNE BEAUMONT SERLE.	Sacred to the memory of CHARLOTTE ANNE BEAUMONT, the beloved wife of WILLIAM AMBROSE SERLE, Esq., who died 21st May 1846, aged 22 years. Serle was Registrar of the Supreme Court, and married a daughter of Major-General Fearon, C.B. Her sisters married Mr. (afterwards Sir) A. J. Arbutnot, C.S., and Sir Ralph Palmer, Chief Justice of Madras, from 1825 to 1835.
421	15th Mar. and 27th April 1850.	WILLIAM McTAGGART. CHARLOTTE McTAGGART.	Sacred to the memory of WILLIAM McTAGGART, of the firm of Arbutnot & Co., Madras (only son of the late William McTaggart, of the above firm), who died at sea, on his voyage back from Egypt to Madras, March 15th, 1850, in his 37th year; and of CHARLOTTE, his wife, third daughter of the late William Raynsford Taylor, of the Madras Civil Service, who also died at sea, on her passage home to England, April 27th 1850, in her 29th year. "The sea gave up the dead, which were in it." Rev. xx, 13. Erected by the only son and two sisters of the above-named William McTaggart. See No. 235.
422	5th Oct. 1851.	SAMUEL BEST ...	To the memory of Captain SAMUEL BEST, of the Madras Engineers, who died at Chittoor on the 5th October 1851 of jungle fever contracted during a few hours passed in the Yallegherry Hills, aged 43. This tablet has been erected by a few of his more intimate friends to record the esteem in which he was held for his many amiable personal qualities and the general respect felt for his great intellectual capacity and high professional talents. Captain Best, F.R.S., was the first to carry out a comprehensive scheme of roads for the Madras Presidency.
423	4th Aug. 1852.	CHARLES MORGAN ELLIOT.	Sacred to the memory of Captain CHARLES MORGAN ELLIOT, of the Madras Engineers, who died at Masulipatam on the 4th of August 1852. This tablet has been erected by the Corps of Engineers, as a mark of respect for a brother officer, distinguished in public life by rare professional talent, and endeared to his friends by excellence of heart and an amiable disposition. He was a brother of Sir Henry Elliot, K.C.B. (1808-1853), Lord Hardinge's Foreign Secretary and author of the "History of India as told by its own Historians." From 1846 to 1849 he was employed in the Magnetic Survey of the Indian Archipelago. He was a F.R.S.

BAMFORD, Assistant Surgeon M. SIMPSON all of the 25th Regiment, Madras Native Infantry, and Lieutenant and Acting Quartermaster KING, of the 50th Regiment, Madras Native Infantry, lost at sea while on their voyage to Rangoon with the head-quarters of the regiment on board the transport Lady Nugent .
425	9th Sept. 1855.	W. T. CARDALE ...	Also to the memory of Lieutenant W. T. CARDALE, 25th Regiment, Madras Native Infantry, who died at Madras of fever contracted on the Arrakan Hills. The officers of the corps, to evince their sincere regret and sorrow for the loss of their brother officers, have erected this tablet.
426	11th Sept. 1855.	HENRY VALENTINE CONOLLY.	Sacred to the memory of HENRY VALENTINE CONOLLY, Esq., of the Madras Civil Service, Collector and Magistrate of Malabar, and Provisional Member of Council, who, after nearly 12 years devoted to the improvement of the province committed to his charge, fell by the hands of a band of fanatics on the 11th September, aged 49 years. His friends, desirous of commemorating his services and Christian virtues, have erected this tablet and founded the scholarships which bear his name. He was murdered at Calicut by a party of Moplahs who rushed into the verandah of his house and hacked him to pieces in the presence of his wife. He was the son of Valentine Conolly, a Madras Surgeon, who sent all his six sons to India. Three of his brothers perished in Afghanistan within a year of each other: Captain Edward Conolly, 7th Bengal Cavalry, killed in action at Kohistan, September 28th, 1842; Captain Arthur, the celebrated traveller, who went on a mission to Bokhara in August 1840, and was beheaded in prison with Colonel Stoddart; and Captain John, who fell at the capture of Cabul in July 1842.
427	4th July 1856.	RALPH HORSLEY ...	To the memory of RALPH HORSLEY, of the Madras Civil Service, who was cut off by the hand of an unknown assassin at Bellary, on the night of the 4th July in the 26th year of his age. This tablet has been erected by several of his college friends. He was mysteriously murdered in what is the present whist room of the Bellary Club. His brother William Dowdswell Horsley, C.S. (1855-83), who was staying with him at the time, gave its name to the hillstation Horsley Konda in Cuddapah district (see No. 851).
428	25th Feb. 1858.	CHRISTOPHER BIDEN.	To the honored memory of Captain CHRISTOPHER BIDEN, H.C.S., for 19 years Master Attendant of Madras. This tablet is raised by the public to record the universal respect which his faithful discharge of duty, his untiring beneficence and his guileless and kindly heart won from every class of the community. Obiit 25th Feb. 1858, aged 68. The "Biden Home for destitute seamen" on the North Beach at Rayapuram, was founded and endowed by him. It is now used for another purpose.

440	24th Aug. 1866.	HENRY LINTON	... In memory of HENRY LINTON, Esq., B.A., of the Madras Civil Service, who died while holding the appointment of Under Secretary to Government on the 24th August 1866, aged 28. This tablet is erected by his friends throughout the Presidency.
441	23rd Sept. 1866.	JOHN TEMPLE	... In memory of Captain and Brevet Lieut.-Colonel JOHN TEMPLE of the 12th Madras Native Infantry, President of the Board of Municipal Commissioners for the town of Madras, and Superintendent of Stamps, who was accidentally drowned in the Adyar river on the 23rd December 1866, aged 43 years. This tablet is erected by his numerous friends in Madras. Son of Major Octavius Temple, Governor of Sierra Leone, and brother of the late Archbishop of Canterbury (1821-1902). Colonel Temple, Captain Hope, A.D.C. to Lord Napier, and two Misses Melver were drowned by the upsetting of a boat opposite "Brodie Castle" which was at the time the residence of Colonel Temple. Mr. Bostock, Agent of the P. and O. Company, was the sole survivor of the accident.
442	3rd Dec. 1866.	JOHN IMPETT	... Sacred to the memory of Colonel JOHN IMPETT. He served at Waterloo at the age of 15 and died Sheriff of Madras in the 68th year of his age. This tablet is erected by his many friends to whom he had long endeared himself by his urbanity, kindness and simplicity of his character. A complimentary dinner was given to him at Madras in 1865 in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Waterloo.
443	24th Sept. 1870.	CHARLES HARISON DRURY.	Sacred to the memory of CHARLES HARISON DRURY, Lieutenant-Colonel, 27th Regiment of Madras Native Infantry, Controller of Military Accounts and Commandant of the Madras Volunteer Guards. He served with distinction as Brigade-Major of the Madras Column in the suppression of the Bengal Sepoy Rebellion and was severely wounded in action at Cawnpore in 1857. Beloved in his private and honoured in his public life, he died at the age of 49, sincerely regretted.
444	1st Mar. 1874.	GEORGE FREDERICK PATER.	GEORGE FREDERICK PATER, born Aug. 6th 1844, died at Rangoon March 1st 1874, on board the steamship Baghdad , aged 29 years. An amiable disposition and gentle manners rendered him an universal favourite. He was cut off in the prime of life after enduring a long and painful illness with that fortitude and self-denying patience which characterized all his actions. This memorial is placed here by a small circle of his personal friends.
445	20th Feb. 1880.	FREDERICK WILLIAM JEBB.	Brigadier-General FREDERICK WILLIAM JEBB, Half Pay, 67th Foot, and Adjutant-General, Madras Army, died at Madras. This tablet is erected by the Commander-in-Chief and the Army Staff in memory of one who in his official and private life won the esteem and affection of all who knew him.

447	28th Aug. 1891.	ROBERT CALDWELL ...	Sacred to the memory of the Right Revd. ROBERT CALDWELL, D.D., LL.D., Fellow of the University of Madras; who for 53 years devoted his eminent talents to the furtherance of the Gospel, and the building up of Christ's Church among the Tamil people in Tinnevely; the last 14 of those years as Assistant Bishop to the Bishop of Madras, excelling as a scholar and philologist, intimately acquainted with the Tamil people, their history, language, religion, and customs, bringing honour thereby to the missionary's calling; and strengthening the cause of missions in the church at home; but all his attainments and fame did not divert him from his great purpose and the simplicity of the missionary life. He continued to be an earnest, sympathizing, vigilant watcher of souls. By his apostolic labours and example, he trained many native agents, brought thousands of heathen into the church of Christ, raised the character and status not of the Christians only, but also of those without the church, and won their attachment and reverence. He was born near Belfast, of Scotch parents on the 7th May 1814, and died at Kodaikanal on the 28th August 1891. His body rests beneath the chancel of Holy Trinity Church, which he built at Idaiyangudi, Tinnevely. He married Eliza, eldest daughter of the Rev. C. Mault, April 3rd, 1844.
448	20th Aug. 1891.	NORMAN ROBERT POGSON.	In memory of NORMAN ROBERT POGSON, C.I.E., F.R.A.S., Government Astronomer at Madras for 30 years, born at Nottingham on the 23rd March 1829, died at Madras on the 23rd June 1891. By his valuable contributions to Astronomy and by his discoveries and observations of stellar phenomena, especially of minor planets and variable stars, he earned an enduring name. Mr. Pogson was a most distinguished astronomer. He discovered twenty new variable stars and ten new minor planets—four at Oxford and six at Madras. He was assisted in his work for some years past by a daughter only less talented than himself, Miss Isis Pogson.
449	15th Aug. 1893.	THOMAS ARTHUR TAYLOR.	In memory of THOMAS ARTHUR TAYLOR, who died on the 15th of August 1893. This tablet is erected by the Freemasons of Madras, as a mark of affection and esteem.
450	22nd Sept. 1895.	HERBERT FREDERIC CLOGSTOUN.	Sacred to the memory of HERBERT FREDERIC CLOGSTOUN, C.S.I., Member of the Board of Revenue and the Legislative Council of the Governor-General of India, who died on the 22nd September 1895, aged 50 years. This tablet is erected in affectionate remembrance by his numerous friends. "E'en as he trod that day to God, so walked he from his birth, In simpleness and gentleness and honour and clean mirth." These lines are taken from the dedication of Mr. Kipling's "Barrack Room Ballads." Mr. Clogstoun joined the service in 1864 and was, at the time of his death, First Member of the Board of Revenue.

ST. GEORGE'S CATHEDRAL CEMETERY.

455	14th Mar. 1818.	ELIZABETH DE HAVILLAND.	ELIZABETH, the beloved wife of Major T. F. DE HAVILLAND of Engineers, and daughter of T. de Sausmarez of Guernsey, Esq., Attorney-General in that Island, died at the early age of 35 years. She is gone to her God whom she served with zeal and sincerity leaving an afflicted husband and four children to mourn her loss and to emulate her example; her enlightened mind was an ornament to society in which she stood highly respected, and, in the social duties of wife, mother, daughter, sister and friend, she shone with superior virtue. These virtues emanated from a warm and affectionate heart and were confirmed in true piety—to charity ever disposed, the deserving were never sent empty away. The Almighty Disposer of events bade purity and virtue lead the way, the name of this recorded worth here sought repose ere the cemetery was completed, and the afflicted husband who was forming it for public use submitted with pious reverence to the inscrutable ways of Providence which thus made him her protector in death as in life. She stands first in the awful book and gives a date to the register. Fiott de Havilland was a distinguished civil engineer and architect. He constructed the sea wall at Madras, and designed and built St. Andrew's Church and Bridge. In 1808 while at Seringapatam he proposed to bridge the Cauvery by five brick arches of 110 feet span with a rise of only 11 feet. This proposal having been received with incredulity, he built an experimental arch in accordance with his design in his garden at Seringapatam. It is still known as de Havilland's arch and a curious feature of it is that a man by leaping on the crown or keystone can cause the whole structure to oscillate. De Havilland, who was born April 10th, 1775, died at Guernsey, February 23rd, 1866.
456	18th Sept. 1819.	PATRICK GEORGE BLAIR.	Major PATRICK GEORGE BLAIR of the Madras Artillery, whose remains lie interred at Edilabad on the route from Nagpore to Hyderabad. He married Miss Jane Baillie in May 1806.
457	8th Oct. 1820.	RICHARD YELDHAM.	RICHARD YELDHAM, Esq., late Treasurer and Secretary to the Government Bank, aged 68 years. This monument was erected by his friends in India as a last tribute of their affectionate regard. He probably gave his name to Yeldham's Road, Teynampet. He was Commissary of Musters, King's Troops in 1800.
458	12th May 1821.	SAMUEL DALRYMPLE.	The remains of Lieutenant-Colonel SAMUEL DALRYMPLE, C.B., of the Madras Artillery, are interred here. The memory of his worth is inscribed on a cenotaph erected by his brother-officers at the Artillery Cantonment at St. Thomas' Mount, in testimony of their sense of his public services and private virtues. The cenotaph stands on the Mount parade ground. His age is there given as 49 years. He was married to Miss Margaret Hall by Captain James A. Kirkpatrick in camp at Hyderabad, June 18th, 1801.

459	30th Aug. 1821.	SIR GEORGE COOPER.	The Hon'ble SIR GEORGE COOPER, Kt., Senior Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Madras, aged 44 years. In 1816 he succeeded Sir Anthony Buller, who was transferred to Bengal.
460	19th Nov. 1821.	SIR SAMUEL TOLLER.	SIR SAMUEL TOLLER, Kt., late Advocate-General of this Presidency, aged 57 years. This monument is erected by his disconsolate family with many tears. Of his three daughters, the eldest married the Rev. W. Malkin, Madras Chaplain, January 1st, 1817; the second married Thomas Gellibrand, Sheriff of Madras, August 17th, 1818; the third, Harriet, married, February 19th, 1825, General Sir George Whitlock, K.C.B., who died at Exmouth, January 31st, 1867.
461	14th Dec. 1821.	WILLIAM HARRINGTON.	WILLIAM HARRINGTON, Esq., of the Madras Civil Service, aged 54. See Nos. 754, 1092 and 1627. He married Miss Ann Collet, November 10th, 1793.
462	10th Aug. 1822.	HENRY HARRIS ...	HENRY HARRIS, M.D., First Member of the Medical Board, who was taken from this life in the 54th year of his age. His superior abilities, his almost unequalled skill, and extreme kindness and humanity in his professional capacity are too well known to need any eulogium here. This humble tribute is erected by his afflicted wife who can never cease to lament the irreparable loss herself and children have sustained or to remember his many virtues and good qualities and whose greatest consolation is the hope of being re-united in another and better world. His portrait hangs in the Examination room of the Medical College. He was thrice married: (1) October 11th, 1786, "from the house of Francis Lind, C.S." to Miss Jane Charles, who died at Masulipatam December 22nd, 1800; (2) June 1805 to Mrs. Mary Baddeley, who died at Quilon, March 6th, 1807; (3) May 20th, 1811, to Mrs. Jane Brown née Aylmer. Harris was a great linguist and an authority on the Hindi spoken in the Deccan. The "Harris MSS." (now in the India Office) are frequently quoted in Shakespear's "Dictionary of Hindustani." His eldest son Charles Lind Harris, born November 20th, 1787, entered the Bengal Artillery and died in London January 30th, 1871, leaving a son Lieutenant-General Charles Shuter Harris, who is the father of H. N. Harris (Deputy Inspector-General, Bengal Police), E. B. Harris, B.C.S., and Colonel G. A. Harris, I.M.S.
463	21st Aug. 1822.	EDWARD UNTHOFF ...	EDWARD UNTHOFF, of the H.C. Civil Service, aged 28 years.
464	28th Dec. 1822.	HENRY HODGSON ...	HENRY HODGSON, Esq., of the Bengal Civil Service, aged 43 years.
465	24th May 1824.	CATHERINE MILES ...	CATHERINE, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel MILES, of Her Majesty's 89th Regiment, C.B., K.L.S., daughter and co-heiress of the Ven. Dr. Falconer, Dean of Litchfield, aged 44 years.
466	28th May 1824.	EDWARD WOOD ...	EDWARD WOOD, Esq., aged 46 years, second son of Edward Wood, Esq., of Littleton, Middlesex and Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St. George. This monument is erected by his brother Henry Wood, Esq. He married Miss Mary Eillay at Negapatam, October 1st, 1808.

467	31st May and 22nd Sept. 1824.	SIR WILLINGHAM FRANKLIN. DAME CATHERINE FRANKLIN.	SIR WILLINGHAM FRANKLIN, Kt. , one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Madras and formerly fellow of Oriol College, Oxford, aged 44 years. Also of DAME CATHERINE ELIZABETH FRANKLIN his widow who died Sept. 22, 1824, aged 30 years. Brother of Sir John Franklin. He was educated at Westminster and Corpus Christi College, Oxford. His father was Willingham Franklin, of Spilsby, Lincolnshire.
468	7th Sept. 1824	CAREY LALANDE ...	Erected to the memory of Lieut.-General CAREY LALANDE, of the Hon'ble Company's service, who died at Madras on the 7th day of September 1824.
469	2nd June 1824.	JOHN BINNY ...	JOHN BINNY, aged 55 years. This is the well-known "Deaf" Binny, founder of the house of Binny & Co., which originally went by the name of Binny and Dennison. He was at one time a Surgeon in the Company's service. His brother Captain Thomas Binny commanded the Succoes and Surprise galleys in the Nabob's service and was lost at sea. Captain Binny erected a tomb in St. John's R.C. Cemetery, Calcutta, to the memory of a Mrs. Anne Sutton, August 13th, 1797.
470	17th Sept. 1824.	CHARLES FULLERTON.	CHARLES FULLERTON, Esq., of the Civil Service, aged 40 years. He married, July 12th. 1815, Sophia, fourth daughter of Charles Maxtone, C.S. (No. 262).
471	21st Sept. 1824.	ARCHIBALD ERSKINE PATTULLO.	Captain ARCHIBALD ERSKINE PATTULLO, of the 4th Regiment, Madras Cavalry, commanding the Hon'ble the Governor's Body Guard. He married Isabella, daughter of James Brodie, O.S., December 18th, 1820.
472	21st Jan. 1825.	ANDREW SCOTT ...	ANDREW SCOTT, of the Madras Civil Service, aged 72 years, of which period he faithfully served his Honorable employers 52 years. See No. 1610.
473	16th July 1827.	JOHN NOBLE ...	Nat. 1779. Ob. xvi July 1827, æt. 48. Lieutenant-Colonel JOHN NOBLE, C.B., founder of the Corps of Horse Artillery on the Madras Establishment, distinguished by all that adorns the soldier, the citizen, the Christian, the ardour of a chivalrous spirit tempered by sound judgment and sustained by a just confidence in his own resources, generous and warm affections regulated by strict integrity and the crown of his other virtues, unaffected and humble piety. After a brilliant career of military service he returned from the short enjoyment of his well-earned honours in his native land to lay his ashes in this theatre of his former glory. There used to be a portrait of Colonel Noble in the Artillery Mess House at the Mount, representing him in the uniform of the corps which he founded and commanded. He entered the service as Lieutenant Fireworker, January 27th, 1796, and died on board the Roxburgh Castle in Madras roads.

474	21st Aug. 1827 and 10th April 1849.	WILLIAM READ ... ELIZABETH STEEL.	Lieutenant-Colonel WILLIAM READ, Deputy Quartermaster-General of the King's Troops, Madras, aged 45 years. Here also are deposited the mortal remains of his daughter ELIZABETH MARGARET, the dearly beloved wife of Brigadier-General S. W. STEEL, C.B., commanding the Ceded Districts Division of the Madras Army, who died of spasmodic cholera at Palsamoodrum on the route to Bellary on 15th February 1849, aged 41. Her remains having been brought to Madras were buried in this her father's grave on 10th April 1849. Truly amiable and affectionate in all the relations of life, she was a thorough Christian in faith and practice, admired and respected by all to whom she was known, and adored by her dependents. She was the pride of her devoted husband's heart, the ornament of his home, and the light of his life. Lieutenant-General Sir Scudamore Steel, K.C.B., was born in 1789 and died in 1865.
475	2nd July 1828.	EBENEZER BROWN ...	EBENEZER BROWN, M.D., Inspector of Hospitals and Principal Medical Officer of the King's Troops in the Madras Presidency. Erected by the officers of the Department.
476	27th Aug. 1828.	SYDENHAM CHARLES CLARKE.	SYDENHAM CHARLES CLARKE, Esq., Madras Civil Service, æt. xxix years. Son of Lieutenant-General Tredway Clarke, Madras Artillery.
477	29th Sept. 1828.	HARRIET DALMAHOY.	HARRIET, wife of J. DALMAHOY, Esq., Assistant Surgeon, and daughter of the Rev. Dr. Laurie, Ayrshire; she was born 25th September 1802. The tombstone has been so sullied by untruth that it is now a poor memorial of those we mourn; she, whose body reposes here, was a humble believer in Christ, simple and affectionate in disposition, and of an excellent understanding. Her memory is very dear to her husband and friends, and their love and respect to it are her best monument.
478	20th Aug. 1830.	RAMSAY SLADEN ...	RAMSAY SLADEN, Esq., late Physician General of Madras, aged 44 years. He married, October 1st, 1822, Emma, second daughter of the late Major Paul Bosc (see Nos. 198 and 2142).
479	9th Oct. 1830.	HENRY BYRNE ...	HENRY BYRNE, Esq., Barrister-at-Law and Master of the Supreme Court at Madras. Father of Rev. H. Barnes Byrne, Fellow of Queen's College, Oxford, 1851-63.
480	11th June 1831.	CHRISTOPHER ANSTEY THOMPSON.	CHRISTOPHER ANSTEY THOMPSON, aged 31, of the Hon'ble E.I.C. Civil Service, and Principal Collector of Nellore, second son of George Nesbitt Thompson, of Penton Lodge, in the county of Hants. G. N. Thompson was junior advocate to the company and Private Secretary to Warren Hastings in 1783.
481	23rd June 1831.	FRANCIS ARCHIBALD SAVAGE.	FRANCIS ARCHIBALD SAVAGE, of the Civil Service, aged 56 years. He joined as writer and Under Searcher of the Sea Gate in 1790.

482	10th Oct. 1833.	JOHN MONCKTON COOMBS.	JOHN MONCKTON COOMBS, Lieutenant-Colonel, of the 10th Regiment, Madras Native Infantry, and Commandant of the Cantonment at Pallavaram, who after an honourable career of 33 years in the Indian Army, during which he was frequently employed on the general staff and confidentially under General McDowell, Commander-in-Chief, and the Honorable W. Petrie, Governor of Prince of Wales' Island, was mortally wounded, at the cantonment of Pallavaram while returning from ball practice with his brigade by a Havildar of the 5th Regiment, who, infuriated by passion and blinded by intoxicating drugs, mistook the person of his intended victim and aiming at the life of another, sacrificed that of his best friend and protector. The assassin atoned to the laws for his atrocious crime; but what can compensate the loss of a fond husband and indulgent father to his bereaved family, of an esteemed comrade to his companions in arms, of a talented gentleman to the society he graced, and of an accomplished officer to the Government which he served with fidelity and zeal? The murder is described in Bevan's "Thirty Years in India," Vol. I, p. 147.
483	1st Mar. 1834.	JOHN MITCHELL ...	JOHN MITCHELL, of the Civil Service.
484	17th April 1834.	JOHN HANBURY ...	JOHN HANBURY, of the Civil Service, aged 45 years.
485	18th Oct. 1834.	GEORGE PETER TYLER.	GEORGE PETER TYLER, late of the Civil Service, aged 75 years. Brother of Admiral Sir Charles Tyler, G.C.B. He joined as writer in 1777, and from 1791 to 1822 served in Bengal. In 1830 he was Cashier of the Government Bank. Two of his sons William Hardinge and Edward Francis entered the B.C.S.
486	15th May 1834.	SIR ANDREW McDOWELL.	SIR ANDREW McDOWELL, K.C.B., late Major-General in the Honourable Company's Service on the Madras Establishment, aged 72 years. He entered the Army in 1783; served at Malavilly (1792) and Seringapatam (1799); and at the battle of Mahidpore (1817) commanded a brigade under Sir T. Hislop, Commander-in-Chief of the Madras Army.
487	21st May 1835.	HENRY WHITE ...	Major HENRY WHITE, of the 7th Regiment, Native Infantry, and Deputy Military Secretary to Government, aged 45 years.

527	15th Jan. 1751.	PETRUS USCAN DE COJA POGUS.	Elatus famâ in auras interque nubila caput condens, hic ingressus solo jacet discordium conciliator, jurgiorumque placator, Armeniorum fautor columenque firmum, indigentium præsidium fervidumque tutamen, in publica damna detrimentaque resarciendo impendiosus, largusque rector in divina, ædesque sacras propagando haud perparco strenuus impensor PETRUS USCAN DE COJA POGUS, Armenus, cuius cor Julfæ, annos natus 70, e vita cecessit 15 Januarii 1751. Pogose is the Armenian for Paul. Khojah is a corruption of the Persian "Khvajeh," signifying a man of distinction. Petrus was the son of Khojah Woskan or Uskan and a grandson of Khojah Pogose of Julfa. He was the most notable Armenian of his day in Madras and is said to have been at one time a Member of Council. In 1725 he built the Marmalong Bridge and in 1726 placed steps from the foot to the summit of St. Thomas' Mount. The concluding words of his epitaph "cuius cor Julfæ" refer to the bringing of his heart in a golden casket from Madras to be buried at Julfa in Ispahan. An oil-painting of the Khojah was executed at Madras in 1737 and is now in All Saviour's Cathedral at Julfa. Upon it is painted a heart, with the following distich:— "My heart longs for homo, where, should I be unable to go, I desire that, when my last day comes, my heart be sent to my native land, so that I, Petrus Uskan, may have a grave there." Uskan was a Catholic and had bought the ground where he lies buried and built a chapel upon it to our Lady of Miracles, making the Capuchin Father Severini his executor. After his death the Madras Government put the Danish missionaries in possession of the church and premises.

TABLETS IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

547	5th Dec. 1824.	JAMES WALKER ...	Lieutenant-Colonel JAMES WALKER, 3rd Regiment, Madras Light Infantry, who was killed when leading a column of Madras Troops to the storm of the Burmese intrenched lines near Rangoon. Thus fell in the moment of victory at the age of 42, a man whose name is recorded in the annals of his country as 'One of India's best and bravest soldiers.' Erected by the officers of the regiment and a few other military friends.
548	16th June 1852.	JOHN WYLIE ...	JOHN WYLIE, M.D., Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, formerly Physician-General of the Presidency of Madras, and for many years an Elder of this church. The benevolence, uprightness and simplicity of his natural character were enhanced and sanctified by the benign influences of Christian faith; and to the exercise of the humane and peaceful duties of the physician, he added the high endurance and intrepidity of the soldier, signally evinced by the gallantry of his conduct in the heroic and memorable conflict of Corygaum. After a life of exemplary usefulness in the service of his country, publicly honored and privately beloved, he died at Ardean in Scotland, in the 63rd year of his age. His fellow-countrymen desiring to testify their sense of his worth have erected this monument. He married firstly, April 17th, 1815, Helen, daughter of T. Allan of Louchhead near Edinburgh, and secondly, July 25th, 1824, Susan, daughter of Rev. Dr. A. Duncan of Ratho, Midlothian. Wylie was one of the heroes of Corygaum.
549	11th July 1852.	GEORGE ADAMS ... ROMAN CATHOLIC CATHEDRAL IN ARMENIAN STREET.

The French Capuchin mission of Madras was founded in 1642 under the sanction of Pope Urban VIII by the well-known Father Ephraim. When the friars built their Armenian street church in 1775, they inscribed the date 1642 over the gates as a public record of their first establishment in Madras, and on a later occasion, when the church was repaired and the gates widened, the date was retained. The earliest Capuchins in the city were Ephraim de Nevors, Zénon de Buge, Cosme de Giers, Jacques de Bourges, Esprit de Tours, Laurent d'Angoulême, Michel Ange de Bourges, René d'Angoulême and Thomas de Poitiers. The last named built in 1675 the church of St. Andrew within the Fort, which was confiscated and destroyed after Lally's siege (see No. 24). An interesting account of Father Ephraim will be found in Tavernier.

Offer an ‘Our Father’ and a ‘Hail Mary’ for the repose of his soul.” (Translation from the Tamil.) This inscription is inserted as being the oldest in the church. The Kavarais are the same caste as the Balijas.

Sacred to the memory of Madame la Comtesse MARIE ADELAIDE DAYOT BEADLE, Chauvinesse du Chapitre Royal de Sainte Anne à Munich, the lady of Captain Samuel Beadle of the Hon'ble Company's ship Surrey , aged 23 years and 6 months. This stone is inscribed with affection and grief by her disconsolate husband Samuel Beadle. O ma Fille! étoit ce pour te rencontrer ici, quo ton malheureux père accouroit de si loin. Que de vertus ensevelies dans sa tombe! Que de félicités détruites dans sa famille! O mon Dieu! Of the same family as the well-known merchant, whose name survives in Cammiade's Gardens, Nungumbaukum. He built the Salt Kotours.
602	10th Oct. 1837.	EDWARD SAMUEL MOORAT.	Within this chapel lie interred the remains of EDWARD SAMUEL MOORAT, Esq., eldest son of the late Samuel Mookartish Moorat, Esq., born 28th September 1793. His brother John Samuel Moorat, as a tribute of affection, inscribed this tablet to his memory.—R.I.P. Edward Moorat lived in the house known as the Old College. Moorat's Gardens were lately the office of the Director of Public Instruction. They were purchased by Government for Rs. 90,000 in 1827, and shortly afterwards Mr. Moorat parted with the Pantheon, which is the nucleus of the spreading block of buildings that now make up the Madras Museum. The brothers Moorat married in 1813 two sisters, the daughters of Mr. J. S. White of Pondicherry.
603	13th July 1839.	ELIZABETH ...	Erected by T. Chaverymootoo Moodelliar to the memory of his dear child ELIZABETH, god daughter of the venerable and illustrious Abbé Dubois, who departed this life on the 13th July 1839, aged 27 years, leaving her affectionate husband P. Suryahootamaroya Moodelliar with 5 children and numerous affectionate relatives to lament her loss. The connexion of the Abbé Dubois with this family may perhaps explain the presence of his portrait in the Connemara Library, where he is painted as a white Brahmin from the West, wearing a flowing turban and holding in one hand the seven knotted-bamboo staff that tradition assigns to every Hindoo pilgrim. church at Seringapatam was preserved till quite recently the block of wood upon which this turban was daily rolled. Jean Antoine Dubois was born at Saint Remèze in 1765, ordained in the diocese of Viviers in 1792 and left France for Pondicherry in the same year. He quitted India on January 15th, 1823, and died at Paris in 1848. His relations with the family of the deceased were very intimate as may be judged from the following letter:—

“Mon cher Chavermootoo, J'ai reçu votre lettre du 12, et je suis bien sensible à votre souvenir. Je ne sais sur quel fondement s'appuyent les personnes qui soutiennent que la religion chrétienne proscriit la distinction des castes. Je n'ai jamais vu des preuves de cette assertion vague. J'ai toujours été persuadé que la religion chrétienne s'accommodait à tous les usages et institutions civiles des pays où elle s'introduisait; or la distinction des castes m'a toujours paru une institution purement civile dans son origine, corrompue dans la suite par des fables absurdes. Cette distinction des castes m'a paru le chef d'oeuvre de la législation indienne. C'est elle qui a conservé parmi les Indiens, les sciences, les arts et la civilisation, et qui les a préservés d'un état de barbarie. Sans la distinction des castes ces peuples ne seraient pas plus avancés dans la civilisation que leurs voisins les Malais et les autres nations d'Afrique et d'Amerique qui vivent sous la même latitude. Cette distinction des castes a tant d'avantages qu'elle a existé chez la plupart des anciens peuples tels que les Egyptiens, les Israelites, etc., et qu'elle existe encore parmi les Indiens, les Arabes, les Tartares, et quant bien même la religion chrétienne deviendrait la dominante dans ces pays cy, je pense qu'il serait de l'intérêt de ces peuples de conserver toujours la distinction des castes. Lorsque vous trouverez une occasion favorable, faites moi le plaisir de présenter mes compliments respectueux au Colonel Symons. God bless you all. Yours truly, J. A. Dubois, Pondicherry, 16th July 1814.”

In memoriam optimi et dilectissimi patris hoc monumentum clerus populusque Madrasten. moerentes erexerunt A.D. 1881.—R.I.P. The Fennellys were brothers and natives of Cashel in Tipperary, and had been professors at Maynooth College before commencing their missionary labours in India. A nephew has been recently (1901) appointed Coadjutor-Bishop to Archbishop Croke (of Cashel) with right of succession. The portrait of John was painted by Simon Fonseca, and that of Stephen by John Fonseca, better known as a delineator of horses. Both pictures hang in the Archbishop's House in Armenian Street, together with the portraits of Dr. O'Connor, first Irish Bishop of Madras, and of Dr. Carew, his coadjutor, who was subsequently transferred to Calcutta and died there. In the same Hall is a large oil-painting of St. Patrick, in the act of destroying the statue of Dagon and replacing it by an image of the Virgin Mary. In the foreground a snake-bitten child is held up to be healed by the Apostle of Ireland, beneath whose feet the serpents and reptiles of the country are fleeing in confusion. The artist of this remarkable picture was an Italian lay brother, employed as gardener in the mother house of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate near Milan. The society has a mission in Burmah, and a curious story is told of a brother once arriving in Madras and recognising himself as having stood when a boy as model for the crozier holder to St. Patrick in this very picture.

He paid 8 pardaos for his tomb, the pardao being an Indian coin worth three tostoons and three vintens, i.e. , about 12 annas. The curious will find a long note on pardao in the Supplement to Yule and Burnell's "Hobson-Jobson." The word pardao is a Portuguese corruption of the Sanscrit pratap 'splendour, majesty,' and was no doubt taken from the legend on some of the coins to which the name was applied, e.g. , that of the Raja of Ikkeri in Canara, Sri Pratapa Krishnaraya.

Fragment to the memory of a person of importance on the Tinnevely Pearl Fishery Coast, the scene of the missionary labours of St. Francis Xavier. Lucena's life of Xavier (1600) says: "There are in the seas of the East three principal mines where they fish pearls. The third is between the Isle of Ceilon and Cape Comory and on this account the coast which runs from the said Cape to the shoals of Ramamancor and Manar is called in part, Pescaria." Mr. J. H. Boyle, of the Madras Civil Service, wrote an interesting account of the Paravars of la Pêcherie in the "Calcutta Review" for 1874, No. cxv.

THE LUZ CHURCH.

(Founded in 1516.)

638	1516	FOUNDATION STONE OF THE LUZ CHURCH.	FRE PEDRO DE ATOUGIA religioso observante de S. Francisco edificou esta igreja de Nossa Senhora da Luz em 1516. An ancient looking black stone in one of the outer walls, commemorating the building of the church in 1516 by a Franciscan friar. The tradition goes that when the Portuguese first arrived on this coast, they were uncertain where to establish themselves; but at length saw a light which they regarded as a divine intimation. On settling, they built a church on the site of the manifestation and called it Luz, that is the Light. This stone is the oldest European inscription in India.

There is in the Franciscan church at Cochin a tombstone to the memory of Vasco Fernandez Pimentel, Governor of Cochin from 1564 to 1567. From the occurrence of the name Vasco upon that inscription, it was for a long time regarded as recording Vasco da Gama's death, which occurred at Cochin on Christmas day, 1524. A De Castro was Portuguese Viceroy of India in 1604 and another in 1662.

The English Governor answered him as follows: "I acknowledge your civility in giving me notice of your determination, but I admire at your usurpation of an authority which did not belong to your predecessor, nor to yourself and successors, viz., to appoint vicars in any place under the English Government. You have made a wrong account, and if you would reckon right, must begin again. In this case I ought to deal plainly with you, that no foreign Episcopal authority can be admitted within the limits of our jurisdiction, and that you are not Governor or Bishop of Cuddalore no more than of Madras. But as your reverence is Bishop or Governor of Meliapore, I congratulate your accession to that authority, and desire and embrace your friendly and neighbourly correspondence; in pursuance of which I acquaint your reverence that I have determined to permit Padre Gulielmus a Valle, of the order of the Theatines to reside at Cuddalore in the room of Padre Don John De Clerici deceased. 			exemplo dedito, animam Salvatori suo ad Patrem redeunti reddidit die scilicet XXVI Maii MDCCXXVIII ætatis suæ XXXVIII. Verumtamen universa vanitas omnis homo vivens. In 1796 two members of the Barretto family from Bombay, Louis and Joseph, helped to rebuild the Portuguese Church in Moorgihatta Street, Calcutta. Both brothers lie buried there; Louis, born September 21st, 1745, died September 3rd, 1806, and Joseph, born January 1756, died September 25th, 1824. Their family is one that came very early to Asia. A Manuel Tellez Barretto was Captain on board the fleet which Admiral Lopez Suarez brought to India in 1505. Francis Barretto, nineteenth Governor of Portuguese India, died at Goa in 1558. Antonio Monez Barretto, who died in 1576, was twenty-second Governor. Another of the name was nominated Patriarch of Ethiopia. Mr. Luis de Medeiros Barreto of Madras was a prominent merchant and lent Nicholas Morse and the Council of Fort St. George 15,000 pagodas at 8 per cent. interest on the 18th July 1745. His will is still extant: from which we learn that his executors were Francis Carvalho, Father Severini, his wife Antonia Carvalho de Medeiros and Francis Barnswall, the Madras civil servant, who married a daughter of Madame Duploix by her first husband (see No. 95).

JEWISH BURIAL GROUND IN MINT STREET.

The cemetery is at the Memorial Hall end of Mint Street. Urquhart calls it the Hebrew burying ground at Hoghill. His curious name has not survived, but there is a Hogtown in the Eurasian quarter of Vellore. A large spreading tree in this cemetery has caught hold of what is an apparent gravestone and lifted it bodily in the air. At Agra is a similar phenomenon of a "skyed tombstone."

Do Beinventurado Baraon JAKES DE PAIVA, faleceo em 10 de Tisri 5548, anno a crisaõ do mundo, correspondeo a 17 Setembro 1687. James Paiva or Pavia is mentioned as "married" in a list of freemen living in Fort St. George in 1686. His widow kept house for Elihu Yale during the latter years of his Governorship (1687 to 1692). Madam Hieronima Pavia is always called a Portuguese Jewess. She lies buried at the Cape of Good Hope, beside her child Charles Yale, styled son of the former Governor of Madras, and it is recorded on her tombstone that the mother came from India to be buried by her little one's side, anno 1712. (Pennant's Tour in Wales i. 401.) Elihu Yale occupied with this lady and Mrs. Nicks one of the old houses which may still be seen on the bank of the Cooum between Government House and the General Hospital. The houses stand back from the little frequented road which runs through Napier Park and along the side of the river to Chintadripet Bridge. There are remains of stone and brick work which show that the gardens were once very extensive (see Nos. 15 and 611). Jaques de Paiva, L. Domingo and De Porte, "Hebrew merchants," were among the Aldermen of Madras in 1688.
662	18th May 1709.	ISAAC ABENDANA SARDO.	Here lies the body of ISAAC ABENDANA SARDO of Madras, Hebrew merchant, who died the 10th of May anno 1709, in the 47th year of his age. (Cont of Arms.) Mr. Abendana's widow is referred to in the following general letter of Governor Harrison and Council to the Court of Directors, dated September 16th, 1713: "The design of creating a charity school or schools at this place is a very noble one, and worthy of the Honourable Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge. We will not only be ready to adjust them with the power you have given us, but also with our purses; and do not doubt but many of our inhabitants will do the same, if the persons they send out are of tempers and qualifications fit for the undertaking. But we hope they will be English and not foreigners. The Danish missionaries have not wanted for our assistance on all occasions, though we must still continue of opinion that they spend a great deal of the Society's money to little or no purpose; and though there may be some good men among them there is one very turbulent person, of whose principles you may please to judge by his contriving the escape of Mr. Abendana's widow from her creditors here to Tranquebar and marrying her though a Jew to a Christian by the way." The turbulent missionary was probably J. G. Bövingh, whose acts and whose books troubled Fenger a great deal in writing his History of the Tranquebar Mission.
663	5th June 1745.	ABRAHAM SALOMONS.	Here lieth the body of ABRAHAM SALOMONS. His diligence, industry, honesty and punctuality in all his dealings justly gained him the reputation of a good merchant; his courtesy and benevolence to all degrees of mankind made him to be both beloved and respected. After a course of xix years residence in this place, he departed this life on the v June of the year mdcxciv of the Christian Aera. David

MUSEUM COMPOUND, PANTHEON ROAD.

665	16th May 1727.	JOANNES CONSTANTINUS.	'Ενθάδε κεῖται Ἰωάννης . . . CONSTANTINUS qui consummatus in brevi explevit tempora multa, oriundus ex Græcia natus in Armenia obiit xvi May ætatis suæ LII. Grati animi laboris opus monumentum hoc posuit frater eius GEORGIUS CONSTANTINUS Christianus anno domini MDCCXXVII. This slab was found at Messrs. Arbuthnot's Cement Works, Perambore, and is now in the Museum Gardens. The inscription is most difficult to decipher, and several lines are not readable. The stone stands in two pieces, the upper portion containing the Greek words. Its interest lies in the fact of its being the only Greek tombstone found in South India. It is considerably more ancient than any of the Greek monuments in Calcutta. The oldest epitaph there written in Greek dates from 1777, August 5th, and commemorates Alexander Argery, of Phillipopolis, the Arabic interpreter of Oudbert Thornhill, who built a church for his countrymen in gratitude for his safe return from so many voyages. Another Greek monument of 1820 is to be found at Benares with these words: "The stranger Demetrius Galanus the Athenian to the stranger Peter Federoff, the Russian." Galanus died May 3rd, 1833, and is buried in Calcutta.

THE MANILLA TROPHY.

666	6th Oct. 1762.	MONUMENT TO GENERAL DRAPER and ADMIRAL CORNISH.	BRITANNIA VICTRIX. The imperial trophies of the success of the British arms at MANILLA are erected by an order of Council in honour of the bravery of the land and sea forces on that expedition under the command of Brigadier General DRAPER and Rear Admiral CORNISH. Manilla taken by storm October VI, MDCCXLII. This stone originally stood in the Arsenal, where a number of trophies were arranged round it in a semicircle. It is now in the compound of the Madras Museum. Sir William Draper (1721–1787) erected a cenotaph on Clifton Downs near his house to the memory of the officers of his Regiment who fell in the Carnatic and in Manilla. As several members of Draper's Regiment lie buried in South Indian graveyards, the inscription finds place here. The monument consists of a raised tomb supporting a large vase surmounted by a funereal urn. On the side of the vase are the following Latin verses which do credit to their author, who was an Etonian and a Fellow of King's College, Cambridge :— Siste gradum, si quæ est Britonum tibi cura, viator, Siste gradum; vacuo recolas inscripta sepulcro Tristia fata virum, quos bellicus ardor Eoum Proh dolor! , haud unquam rediturus misit in orbem; Nec tibi sit lugere pudor, si forte tuorum Nomina sola leges, sed eum terraque marique Invictos heroum animos et facta revolvās, Si patriæ te tangat amor, si fama Britannum, Pace triumphales lacrymis aspergere lauros. Quin si Asiæ penetrare sinus, atque ultima Gangis Pandere claustra pares, Indosque lacescere bello, Ex his virtutem discas verumque laborem, Fortunam ex aliis. And beneath on a tablet: "Sacred to the memory of those departed warriors of the 79th Regiment, by whose valour, discipline and perseverance, the French land forces in Asia were first withstood and repulsed; the commerce of Great Britain preserved; her settlements rescued from impending destruction. The memorable defence of Madras, the decisive battle of Wandewash, twelve strong and important fortresses, three superb capitals, Arcot, Pondicherry, Manilla, and the Philippine Islands, are lasting monuments of their military glory. Their generous treatment of a vanquished enemy exhibits an illustrious example of true fortitude and moderation, worthy of being transmitted to latest posterity, that future generations may know humanity is the characteristic of British conquerors." The sides of the table are inscribed with the names of the officers of the 79th Regiment, who fell in Asia: "Field officers. C. Brereton, J. More (buried at Gyretty near Chandernagore, 26th January 1785); Captains. Knutall, Stewart, Wingfield, Delaval, Chisholm (buried at Cuddalore, 14th July 1761), Cheshyre, Upfield, Strahan, Muir, Moore; Lieutenants. Whaley, G. Browne (buried at Pullalore, North Arcot, 27th August 1781), Hopkins, Robinson, T. Browne, LeGrand, Winchelsea, Roston, Campbell, Fryer, Turner, Richbell, Boachier, Busted, Hardwicke; Ensigns. Collins, Vaslette, LaTour, Horler, MacMahon; Surgeons. Smith, Atherton." At the ends of the tomb in small oval tables are these words: "Siege of Madras raised, February 17th 1759; Conjeeveram taken by storm, April 13th 1759; Battle of Wandewash gained, January 22nd 1760; Arcot recovered, February 10th 1760; Corical taken, April 5th 1760; the lines of Pondicherry stormed, September 10th 1760; Pondicherry surrendered, January 16th 1761; Manilla taken by storm, October 6th." (See "Asiatic Annual Register" for 1799, page 198: Urquhart, volume I at the end.)

676	6th July 1827.	SIR THOMAS MUNRO.	Major-General SIR THOMAS MUNRO, Bart. and K.C.B., Governor of Madras, died at Putticondah on the 6th July 1827 and was interred at Gooty on the 7th idem. His remains were afterwards removed to the seat of Government, and deposited in St. Mary's Church, Fort St. George. Munro died of cholera while on tour in his beloved Ceded Districts. The story goes that shortly before his death he was riding through a pass in the ghauts and imagined that he saw a garland of flowers stretched across the valley. This optical delusion is believed by the natives to have been a presentiment. At Pattikonda Government constructed a tope and tank to his memory; and at Gooty is the Munro choultry, within which hangs an engraving of Shree's full length portrait, copies of which also adorn the cutcherries at Bellary and Cuddapah. Munro was known in the Ceded Districts under the appellation of the Father of the People; and in the village of Bellaguppa, Rayadrug taluk, Bellary district, the eldest sons of a shepherd's family were till recently named after him Munrolappa. Many local ballads were composed in his honour, some of which are still sung.
677	9th July 1827.	ARCHIBALD MACLEOD.	Captain ARCHIBALD MACLEOD of the 43rd M.N.I., who died of spasmodic cholera at Ramdospet near Ghooty, aged 34 years and 35 days. Commandant of Sir Thomas Munro's escort.

679	2nd Sept. 1785.	HENRY WHITE ...	HENRY WHITE, aged 8 years. Probably the son of Charles Nicholas White, C.S., 1776 to 1800.
680	4th Nov. 1788.	JOHN GAHAGAN ...	JOHN GAHAGAN, fourth son of Terence and Lucy Gahagan, aged 9 months and 5 days. Terence Gahagan, M.D., was afterwards Physician-General and Provincial Grand Master. He died at his house in Quebec Street, Portman Square, January 21st, 1814. In 1775 at Trichinopoly he initiated into Freemasonry Omdat-ul-Omrah, afterwards Nabob of the Carnatic (see No. 732).
681	13th July 1788.	ROBERT HOWLAND ...	[Lieutenant ROBERT HOWLAND, late of the 21st Battalion, Native Infantry, in the 32nd year of his age.]
682	10th Sept. 1789.	FRANCIS WRAGG ...	Major FRANCIS WRAGG, aged 52 years. Urquhart says he was in the 3rd Battalion, European Infantry, and met his death by a fall from an unruly horse. Wragg, when a Captain, was among the prisoners taken with Colonel Baillie in 1780 (see No. 2231).
683	27th Nov. 1789.	RICHARD NELSON ...	Major RICHARD NELSON, in the 40th year of his age. This monument was erected by his friend, Colonel Eccles Nixon. Urquhart says he was of the Honourable Company's Infantry and adds: "The procession and ceremonies, military and masonic, added to the emphatical and affecting manner in which the Rev. Doctor Wells delivered the funeral service, rendered the solemnity of the scene great, inducing that pleasing pensiveness, which is not easily described." Nixon, afterwards Major-General Sir Eccles Nixon, was lost May 29th, 1804, in the Prince of Wales Indiaman.
684	19th May 1792.	JAMES HUNTER ...	JAMES HUNTER, Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery, born 15th November 1755. Erected by his affectionate brother Arthur Hunter.
685	22nd May 1792.	DUGALD CAMPBELL ...	DUGALD CAMPBELL, Captain, 74th Regt. Foot, in the 37th year of his age. Another Captain Dugald Campbell of the 98th Regiment was among those with General Mathews poisoned in 1783 by order of Tippoo. The officer here buried fought before Seringapatam in 1792, and his gallantry in the attack on Sultan's redoubt was specially praised. He married Miss Elizabeth Mackay, July 31st, 1777. His second son Daniel Pasley died an infant at Madras, January 9th, 1780.
686	2nd Oct. 1792.	ROBERT OGILVIE ...	Captain ROBERT OGILVIE, aged 41 years. This tribute of regard and gratitude was erected by his old and faithful servant Viragoo.

687	28th June 1797.	JOHN WYNCH ...	This monument was erected by the British officers of the garrison of Vellore, as a tribute due from them to the memory of their late worthy Paymaster JOHN WYNCH, Esq., sincerely and universally regretted, aged 40 years. An enormous peepul tree grows in the enclosure of this tomb. Wynch was a member of the Civil Service, which he joined as writer in 1772.
688	11th May 1799.	ROBERT SALE ...	Colonel ROBERT SALE, who commanded this garrison, aged 64 years. Exemplary private worth and distinguished public integrity characterized the tenor of his actions. His long and useful life was a continued blessing to his family, of advantage to society and of benefit to his country in the practice of every rule of active benevolence. According to the Bengal Obituary "Sir Robert Sale, the hero of Jellalabad was the son of Colonel Sale, one of the fighting Colonels of the East India Company. He was, we believe, engaged in a sortie from Vellore when his gallant son was born, which event took place on the 2nd September 1782. His father was a Yorkshireman; his mother a Kentishwoman and daughter of Commodore Beynes, who was lost with his ship in the West Indies." In the Dictionary of National Biography the name is given as Harry Brine, Esq., of Buckden, Huntingdonshire, and the date of birth as 19th September 1782. Florentia Lady Sale was the daughter of George Wynch, a Madras civilian and grand daughter of Alexander Wynch, Governor of Fort St. George in 1773. She married Sir Robert Sale, when a Captain in the 12th Foot, May 16th, 1809, at Mangalore (see No. 979).
689	6th July 1799.	HENRY WILLIAMSON.	Captain HENRY WILLIAMSON of the 4th Regiment of Cavalry, aged 35 years. His death, lamented by all who knew him, was occasioned by excessive fatigue during the glorious campaign, which terminated in the fall of Tippoo Sultan.
690	1799	ERIC MACKAY ...	ERIC MACKAY, Serjeant in his Majesty's Scotch Brigade born in the parish of Iarg, county of Sutherland, aged 30 years. Perhaps a brother of the subject of the following notice: "For the satisfaction of my Highland friends, I take this opportunity of commemorating the fall of John Mackay, alias Donn, a corporal in the 73rd Regiment, son to Robert Donn, the famous Highland bard, whose singular talent for the beautiful and extemporaneous composition of Gaelic poetry was held in such esteem by the Highland Society. The son of the bard frequently revived the drooping spirits of his countrymen upon the march, by singing in a pleasant manner the humorous and lively productions of his father. He was killed by a cannon ball, on the 13th January 1782 and on the same evening was interred at Vellore by his disconsolate comrades with all the honours of war." (Narrative of the Military operations on the Coromandel Coast, by James Munro, Esq., Captain in the late 73rd or Lord Macleod's Regiment of Highlanders, 1789.)

696	5th June 1805.	JAMES BULL ...	Captain JAMES BULL of H.M.'s 34th Regiment, aged 21 years. Son of Major Bull, and younger brother of Colonel Robert Alexander Bull, R.H.A., C.B. and K.H. This officer had exchanged from a Hussar Regiment into the 34th, and was shot in a duel near the Chitteri tank, Vellore, by Lieutenant Sandys, of the 31th. Bull, who was engaged to be married, had refused to join the mess, and the Irish officers of the regiment, had drawn lots as to which of them was to call him out. Sandys and Yeuman, his second, were tried for murder at Madras and acquitted, but subsequently cashiered by Court-martial for conspiracy against Captain Bull's life, together with a third brother officer. It is noteworthy that Bull was gazetted as having "resigned" on the 7th of June, tho' he died on the 5th of that month. The commission was given out of the Regiment, by purchase, to Lieutenant J. Young of the 8th Light Dragoons. Possibly the purchase-money was secured for the family of Captain Bull. The records of the Court-martial on this case are to be seen at Fort St. George, Madras. A detailed account of the duel will be found in Carey's "Good Old Days of John Company", Vol. II, page 89, and in the Memoirs of George Elers, Captain in the 12th Foot.
697	10th July 1806.	ST. JOHN FANCOURT...	ST. JOHN FANCOURT, Lieutenant-Colonel of H.M.'s 34th Regiment, aged 37 years. Commandant of Vellore, who was killed while gallantly defending the Garrison in the mutiny of the sepoys on the 10th July 1806. His widow escaped by hiding with her children in a fowlhouse. Her narrative was published in the "Plain Englishman," 1821, a popular work edited by Edward Hawke Locker (at the time a naval officer at Madras, afterwards Commissioner of Greenwich Hospital) and Charles Knight. It is quoted in MacFarlane's "Indian Empire." Mr. A. F. Cox, in the District Manual, follows the account given by Captain Blakiston in his "Military Adventures under Wellington." Wilson's "History of the Madras Army" reprints the evidence of officers taken at the time.

Possessing unbounded benevolence and every quality of the soldier, he was endeared to the army in which he served and had acquired numerous friends. The monument is humble, but the record is true. According to the District Manual, page 84, "Major Armstrong was passing outside the Fort, in a palanquin, when he heard the sound of fire-arms. Alighting, he advanced to the crest of the glacis, and asked what the firing meant. The answer was a volley fired by some mutineers on the ramparts, which killed him on the spot."

701	10th July 1806.	JOHN POPHAM and JOHN ELEY.	Lieuts. POPHAM and ELEY, 5 Sergeants, 4 Corporals, 1 Drummer, and 70 Privates of H.M.'s 69th Regiment, who fell, while bravely resisting the mutineers at Vellore. This monument erected in 1863-64, previous to the second departure of the Regiment from India, marks the spot where they rest. The number of the privates killed should be 90; and 15 more subsequently died of their wounds. Colonel McKerras, Captain Willison, and Lieutenants Winchip, Jolly and O'Reilly (all of the 23rd N.I.) and Lieutenant Smart (1st N.I.) were also killed by the mutineers; but no monuments to their memory are discoverable. The following account of the mutiny is given in L. J. Trotter's "History of India":— "In the early morning of the 10th July 1806, the two native regiments at Vellore (one of which had been largely recruited from the ranks of Tippoo's army) rose in sudden mutiny, attacked the European barracks, where some 370 men of the 69th Foot (the present 2nd battalion of the Welsh Regiment) were still sleeping, poured volley after volley into their helpless victims, and shot down thirteen officers coming out from their rooms. Happily for the survivors, help was soon to reach them in their desperate need from the garrison of Arcot, eight miles off. At the head of a squadron of his 19th Dragoons and a few galloper guns, Colonel Gillespie (afterwards Sir R. R. Gillespie and killed in 1814 before the hill-fort of Kalanga on the Nepalese frontier) rode at his best pace to the scene of massacre, blew open the gate of the fortress and with the help of those inside dealt heavy destruction on the mutineers, hundreds of whom were shot, sabred or taken prisoners. Of the 69th, however, ninety-five men and officers lay dead and ninety-one wounded. Lord William Bentinck, Governor of Madras, was summarily ordered home without a hearing: but the real culprit was Sir John Craddock, the Commander-in-Chief, who had issued a set of orders regarding uniform, which the sepoys chose to regard as a wilful attempt to tamper with the creed and customs of their race. They were forbidden to wear earrings on parade, and were ordered to shave their chins and exchange their turbans for a kind of shako. The spirit of distrust and disaffection engendered by these orders was

707	13th Feb. 1830.	LAKE TORREANO BOYES.	LAKE TORREANO BOYES, Ensign, 10th M.I., seventh son of Capt. William Boyes of the 76th Regt., born at sea 6th March 1807. This monument was erected by his brother Capt. John Monson Boyes of the 38th N.I.
708	12th Sept. 1832.	JAMES STEPHEN LUSHINGTON.	Sacred to the memory of JAMES STEPHEN LUSHINGTON, Esq., Bengal Civil Service, private Secretary to his father, the Right Hon'ble Stephen Rumbold Lushington, Governor of Madras. In firmness of principle, in gentleness of disposition, in power of intellect, none exceeded the deceased. Through the whole of his short and brilliant career, his great ambition was the public good, and the promise of excellence so early developed, made his loss more deeply deplorable. He died at Laulpet (near Arcot) after a lingering and painful illness, aged 28 years. At the foot of this tomb is an inscription to Stephen Rumbold Lushington, an infant son of Charles May Lushington, C.S., younger brother of the Governor of Madras, who died at Vellore on May 17th, 1832, aged 2 years. A statue of James Lushington by Flaxman has been erected in St. George's Cathedral, Madras. He accompanied Bishop Heber from Allahabad to Lucknow during his tour in 1824 (see No. 402).
709	31st Dec. 1857.	BILLINGTON BAINES BOYD.	Lieutenant B. B. BOYD, late of the Madras Engineers, aged 18 years and one month, who was accidentally killed whilst zealously superintending operations on the Palar bridge near Vellore. Erected by the officers of his corps.

710	12th Nov. 1858.	HENRY DOUGLAS HART.	According to a correspondent, who was living in the district at the time, the deceased in his anxiety to have the arch completed on a certain date, and against the advice of older heads, removed the centerings with a thick bamboo himself and was crushed under the damp mass of bricks and mortars. Captain HENRY DOUGLAS HART, 39th Regiment, Madras N.I., aged 35 years, who died at Vellore by the hand of a fanatic sepoy assassin on the 12th November 1858. This officer was shot, while standing on the steps of the late General Ottley's bungalow, by a sepoy who stood on the ramparts of the Fort. The cause of the attack is not known. The sepoy is said to have stood on the ramparts, threatening the house referred to, the inmate of which, a lady, had gone to Captain Hart for help; he, returning with her to investigate, was shot on alighting from his carriage. A correspondent, who was living near Vellore at the time, gives the following account of the occurrence:—On the night in question the sepoy who was on guard at the Flag Staff bastion, in the Fort, fired off his musket. The Jail, in those days, was in the Fort near the Flag Staff. Old Sergeant Stafford, the Jailor, hearing the report, went out to enquire, and was shot dead. The sepoy then, by some means, foul or fair, managed to pass the sentries, and made for the officers' lines. Captain Hart happened to be the first officer driving to the scene of mischief, and was unexpectedly met by the sepoy near the Commissariat Office, and shot in his phaeton. A strong guard with other officers had by this time turned out, and the sepoy placed himself on the Mahomedan Saint's tomb situated on the south-east glacis of the Fort. Here he threatened either to "do" for the rest, or die, when asked to lay down his arms and surrender. The officer in charge seems to have known that the sepoy was able to defend himself with bayonet only, and so closed on the villain with drawn sword, disarmed and made him a prisoner. When his ammunition pouches were examined, it was found that there was enough ball ammunition to have done a deal more mischief, but not a single cap. He had dropped them out of the cap pouch, which he left open, while running about. He was handed over to, and tried and sentenced by the civil authorities, and was hanged on the plain between the Fort and the market. (Mr. LeFanu's note.)

CEMETERY WITHIN THE FORT, ARNEE.

The grave yard is a very interesting one and situated to the west of a long line of deserted bomb-proof barracks in the old and dismantled Fort of Arnee, 7 miles from Kalambar station on the South Indian Railway. It is described in Warren's book "L'Inde Anglaise."

711	12th Aug. 1784.	JOHN MACALISTER ...	Sacred to the memory of JOHN MACALISTER, Esquire, Captain of the Fourth Regiment of Cavalry in the Honorable East India Company's Service. Obit 12 Augusti die 1784, anno ætatis 38 et 10 menses. This is the oldest tomb in the district. In 1784 the Madras Government formed a regular establishment of cavalry by taking into its own service the four Regiments belonging to the Nawab which had been paid and mounted by the Company during the war. During the campaigns of 1781-2 the commandants of cavalry had been: 1st Regiment, Captain (afterwards Major-General) John Pater, Nawab's service; 2nd, Captain Edward Jourdan, Company's service;

			3rd, Captain (afterwards Major-General) J. D. Stevenson (see No. 818), Nawab's service; 4th, Captain John Macalister, Company's service. Colonel Cosby stood posted to the 1st Regiment and commanded the whole (see Nos. 796 and 2159).
712	19th June 1789.	THOMAS MUNRO	... A tribute of friendship to the memory of Lieut. THOMAS MUNRO, late of the 4th European Battalion, who died at Arnee on the—day of June 1789, aged 28 years. It is singular that there should have been at one time two sub-alterns in the Madras Army, named Thomas Munro. The famous Sir Thomas Munro, born May 27th, 1761, was of the same age as the officer who lies here and was himself present at the battle of Arnee, June 2nd, 1782. He had landed at Madras, January 15th, 1780, after working his way out as an ordinary seaman on board the Walpole . Next year he commenced his military career under Coote. A memorandum of his services written by himself is among his papers and will be found in the appendix to Bradshaw's "Life of Munro." He was quartered successively at Madura, Tanjore, Fort St. George, Kasimkota near Vizagapatam, and Vellore.
713	1st Sept. 1790.	THEODORE TANNER.	IVEY T. I. TANNER, Esq., aged 42 years. A civil servant, and at the time of his death Paymaster to the Army. He married Miss Frances Mary Dormond, June 27th, 1778, and was probably father of No. 1976.
714	23rd Dec. 1798.	HENRY ASTON.	HERVEY This monument, sacred to the memory of Colonel HENRY HERVEY ASTON, is erected by the Officers of His Majesty's 12th Regiment of Foot, as a lasting testimony of the Honor and Respect in which they held his character when alive. He died in the command of the Regiment at Arnee, in the 37th year of his age. Lamented shade! pupil of spotless truth, First in the ranks of honor's ardent youth, Thy generous soul, magnanimous in death, Stamps on our hearts who caught thy latest breath Our country's loss. But while we mourn the doom That sinks untimely Aston to the tomb The worth to which we consecrate this grave Shall waft thy spirit to the good and brave. Colonel Aston is said to have been a noted duellist, and an unerring shot. Mortally wounded in this, his last duel, he is said to have fired in the air, exclaiming "my last act shall not be one of revenge." and it is to this circumstance that the words "magnanimous in death" in the above inscription allude. A member of the family states that another Hervey Aston, brother of the above, distinguished himself as a duellist during the occupation of Paris (1815) when the French fire eaters were continually picking quarrels with the officers of the allied Armies. (Mr. LeFanu's note.) The Asiatic Annual Register adds that the deceased was "a man well known in the first circles of fashion in England and the friend and companion of the Prince of Wales, to whom he had been recommended by the generosity of his heart, no less than by the elegance and urbanity of his manners."

			From the Memoirs of Captain George Elers of the 12th Foot, we learn that Major Allen, the Paymaster, was Aston's antagonist. "He never held up his head afterwards and died in less than three months of a raging fever." Major Picton, a brother of Sir Thomas Picton, the Waterloo hero, had "called out" Aston on the previous day. His pistol missed fire and the Colonel fired in the air. Both Majors were tried by Court-martial and admonished.

An affectionate wife and tender mother who has left a family ever to regret the loss of her. John Smaasen was Assistant Surgeon to the Regiment de Meuron, who were quartered at Arnee after taking part in the siege of Seringapatam. Colonel Pierre Frederick de Meuron was in command, with two Lieutenant-Colonels, J. P. de Meuron Bullot (No. 233) and Henry David de Meuron (see No. 2249).

721	29th Sept. 1790.	ROBERT KELLY ...	Sacred to the memory of Colonel ROBERT KELLY, who departed this life in the vicinity of Arnee, September 29th, A.D. 1790, æt. 52. This monument was erected by Lieut.-Col. Urban Vigors, as a mark of respect for a gallant soldier. This is an imposing masonry column, about 65 feet high, situated in the old parade ground in the Fort. It is in good order and the inscription is quite clear. The ball on the top of the column fell off some years ago. Col. Kelly was killed in a duel in a field near Arnee by Lt.-Col. Vigors. Tradition has it that, on Colonel Kelly's appointment to command, Colonel Vigors spoke of him as an "old woman" to his wife, who repeated the remark to Mrs. Kelly, who insisted upon Colonel Kelly obtaining 'satisfaction,' with the above result. The story has been so handed down, and, in those days, it was nothing extraordinary that life should be lost for such a trifle. (Mr. LeFanu's note.)

Urquhart euphemistically says "He died most suddenly in camp at Arnee." His relict Miriam died at an advanced age at St. Thomas' Mount, May 28th, 1837, and her tomb was erected by her only surviving child Myra Taynton, widow of the late Lieutenant-Colonel John Taynton of the Madras Establishment. In Wilson's "History of the Madras Army" (ii. 199) Colonel Kelly is described as "an able and distinguished officer who had seen much service. When a captain he commanded the 9th battalion, which is still known by his name." In 1775, at Palamcottah, he tried his native commandant for mutiny and blew him from a gun. At the time of his death he was in command of the centre army of the force then being gathered to oppose Tippoo. The 21st battalion, which formed part of the centre army, was commanded by Captain (not then Colonel) Urban Vigors. This officer took a gallant part in the siege of Seringapatam and afterwards commanded the Hyderabad Subsidiary Force. He died April 11th, 1815, in England.

WANDIWASH.

Mr. LeFanu writes as follows "This Fort, immortalised by the unflinching valour of the illustrious, but neglected, Flint, contains the graves of many brave officers and men. The only tomb now traceable is a modest masonry construction, on the southern glacis of the Fort, east of the road leading to the gateway. Its tenant has not been identified. The nearest conjecture is that it shelters the remains of Major Brereton, mentioned below. There were, until some few years back, two small masonry tombs of European officers, lying close beside each other in a field, inside the Fort, to the right hand side after entering the gateway. They were, roughly speaking, about 80 yards north of the southern, and 50 yards west of the eastern rampart. Unfortunately, the site was ploughed over in recent years, a vandalism which did not occur in or after November 1887. Although diligent search was made in and near the spot indicated, no trace of these graves could be found, so well had the destroyer done his work. According to the voracious Orme, Lieutenants Minns and Latour were killed, in an unsuccessful attack on the Fort by the British, in 1759. On this occasion 70 rank and file also perished. Lieutenant Mainville and two Captains were killed in September 1759. The Fort was captured by the British in November 1759, and, on this occasion, Lieutenant Robert Campbell of the Artillery perished. Major Brereton fell in an unsuccessful attack made on the Fort, by the French, in January 1760. He was killed close to a retrenchment near a tank. On the same occasion three French Officers were killed. The Chevalier Poete, Knight of Malta, is specially mentioned as having fallen in January 1760."

Mr. Roberts was in the Civil Service from 1807 to 1838 and died in London, July 30th, 1850. He married a Miss Paul, July 9th, 1811. Their eldest daughter Elizabeth Sarah married, February 26th, 1835, T. Onslow, C.S. (No. 1619), third son of Sir Henry Onslow, Bart. (See also No. 2232.)
725	26th Nov. 1821.	JOHN WAY LONG ...	JOHN WAY LONG, late 3rd Judge of the Provincial Court, Central Division. Mr. Long was in 1796 writer on the Bencoolen establishment, but transferred to Madras. His wife Matilda died at Mugla-tore, May 7th, 1817, aged 24, and is buried at Masulipatam.
726	19th June 1822.	ARTHUR BALFOUR BUSHBY.	Ensign ARTHUR BALFOUR BUSHBY, 2nd Battn. 11th N.I., aged 19 years. Son of William Bushby, H.E.I.C.S. Four of his brothers were civilians: Charles Maitland and Henry Turner, Madras; William John, Bombay; and George Alexander, Bengal, who died Resident of Hyderabad, December 30th, 1856.
727	29th Mar. 1825.	T. E. GIBBON ...	THOMAS EDWARD GIBBON, aged 2 years and 5 months (son of Richard Gibbon, Esq., Surgeon).
728	19th Nov. 1823 and 23rd Mar. 1828.	MRS. WATERS ...	A large octagonal mausoleum, with an iron door, contains two tombs. It is locally known as the Meeting of the Waters, and tradition has it that these are the graves of the first and second wives of Mr. Waters, Judge at Chittoor. The door being secured by three heavy locks, it is not possible to see if the graves bear inscriptions. Popular belief amongst the natives adds that much valuable jewellery was buried with these ladies, and that more than one attempt was made to rifle their tombs. The two coffins are said not to be lying on the ground, but to hang suspended by chains from the roof. Mr. George Jenkins Waters was Judge of Chittoor from 1823 to 1832 and was afterwards Third Judge of the Provincial Court. He may justly be called the Blue Beard of the Civil Service, for he had no less than six wives. The first died November 19th, 1823, name unknown; the second, the daughter of W. Cooke, Collector of Chittoor, died March 23rd, 1828, the third, Maria Frances Dobbs, died October 28th, 1831; the fourth, Harriet Eliza Cooke, died October 13th, 1833, at Masulipatam; the fifth, name unknown, died March 30th, 1857; the sixth, a Miss Robson, he married at Brighton, December 6th, 1871. Mr. Waters, who must have been born about 1792, died February 12th, 1882, at Brighton. He was in the Civil Service from 1808 to 1847.
729	22nd Feb. 1828.	JOSEPH DACRE ...	J. DACRE, Esquire, of Kirkclinton Hall, Cumberland, and 3rd Judge of the Provincial Court of Appeal and Circuit in the Centre Division, aged about 45 years. Mr. Dacre's House is still well known in Chittoor.

Son of Mr. John Cotton (1783-1860), long Collector of Tanjore and Chairman of the Court of Directors in the year of Lord Ellenborough's recall. He was a celebrated sportsman and published in 1841 the well-known "Tale of a Tiger" illustrated by himself. He is also credited with designing the illustrations to F. W. N. Bayley's "New Tale of a Tub," but disclaimed them in a remarkable preface to his "Tale of a Tiger." "The first plate in Bayley's book with my name in the corner, I must disclaim in toto . The others have a certain resemblance, but still the actual designs are no more mine than they are yours. I have no idea of being presented with a niche small or great in the temple of fame, and I could only compare the benevolent assistance of Messrs. Aubrey, Colnaghi, and Puckle to the vigorous but undesired aid I once received from two stalwart but breechless Arabs in ascending the mausoleum of old Cheops. Fiat justitia is my motto, and I only desire that every tub may stand on its own bottom. Arcot, June 7th 1841." The Tale of a Tiger was translated into French in 1852 by the abbé de Savigny. There is a fine monument by Weekes in Ranipet Church to Cotton's memory. It bears a portrait medallion of the deceased, whose mother was Sophia Charlotte Stedman, daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel John Gabriel Stedman, 1744-1797 (see No. 346) Mr. John Cotton's son, grandson, and great grandson all entered the Indian Civil Service; and his father Joseph Cotton (1745-1825) was a Director of the E.I.C. from 1795 to 1823 (see No. 1255).

RANIPET CEMETERY.

Ranipet means Queen's town. It was built about 1771 by Sadatulla Khan in honour of the youthful widow of Desing, Rajah of Gingee, who committed suttee upon her husband's grave. A favourite Telugu ballad describes how Desing Rajah refused to pay tribute to the Nabob and girt with a magic sword sallied out to fight him near Gingee. He at first defeated the Mahomedan troops, but the powers of his weapon were only to last for a short time and when the Nabob resumed the contest, Desing, in spite of the utmost gallantry, was overcome and slain. Out of respect for his valour and his wife's devotion, the Nabob founded a new village opposite to Arcot and named it Ranipet. It was for many years a large Cavalry Cantonment.

MARY and CATHARINE DAVIS.	Here lyes the bodies of Mrs. MARY and CATHARINE DAVIS, the former the honoured wife of Mr. John Davis, Chiefe of Coodalore, the latter his most dear daughter, the former departed this life 29th November 1684, in the 30th year of her age, the latter ye 31st December 1683, being 18 months old; both of which he hopes are happy and will be acceptable to Christ Jesus on the last day, the former having led soe pious a life and conversation as to be just in all her actions and dye in charity with all men. Mr. John Davis had been reduced from the post of Chief in Council at Madapollam to that of second, and on his refusal to take up the appointment had been removed from the service in 1682, but was re-entertained on petitioning. He was sent to Cuddalore as Chief in March 1683, with Mr. Ralph Ord (formerly schoolmaster of St. Mary's Charity School, Fort St. George) as second. Another daughter, Katharine, aged 17 years, died August 24th, 1681, during his Chiefship of Madapollam, and is buried at Narsapore (No. 1196).
762	5th Oct. 1705.	VICESIMUS GRIFFITH.	Here lies interred the body of VICESIMUS GRIFFITH, merchant, youngest son of SIR JOHN GRIFFITH, Kt., and lately third in Council in this place, in which station he departed this life the 5th of October 1705, in the 36th year of his age. He was married at Madras, November 11th, 1698, to Grace Burton.
763	25th April 1708.	WILLIAM READ ...	Here lyeth interr'd the body of WILLIAM READ, sometime ensign in the Right Hon'ble Compa's garrison in Fort St. George. By his last will be bequeath'd to the Protestant church in said place what estate he dyed possessed of. In memory whereof the church erected him this monument. He dyed ye 25th April 1708. This may be compared with an inscription from Vizagapatam. "Here lyeth the body of Jonathan Wilson, aged about 65 years, who dyed in the year 1706, and having left his estate to the poor belonging to the English Church in Fort St. George, hath this monument of his charity and their gratitude."

765	13th Sept. 1747.	ROBERT MISENOR	To the memory of ROBERT MISENOR, a Sea Commander in the service of the Hon'ble East India Company, who died at Fort St. David in the 32nd year of his age and whose remains are here deposited. Misenor is a most appropriate name for a "country captain." His father John Misenor was in 1716 commander of the Princess Amelia. There is a still more characteristic notice of another ancient mariner recorded by Asiatics, but the tombstone is no longer extant. "Captain Andrew Kerr, formerly of the country service but better known by the name of the old Commodore. He was born at Fort St. David about the year 1724, which place he first left in 1735 and went to England that year. He was a sensible old man of plain and blunt manners, strongly characteristic of his profession. In his will he directed his body to be interred in a particular spot of his garden, without ceremony or service. His coffin had lain for many years in his godown and was occasionally made use of as a liquor chest, or a receptacle for horsegram. He died at New Town, Cuddalore, in the month of March 1800, at the advanced age of 76 years." Kerr was Captain of the Princess Royal Indiaman, which in 1779 brought out to Madras Charles Darke, grandfather of Lady Peel. Darke's wife died at Trichinopoly, July 17th. 1797 (No. 1984).
766	27th Mar. 1748.	JOHN HALLYBURTON.	Here lies JOHN HALLYBURTON, an honest brave man and a sincere lover of his country, who was basely murdered on the 27th day of May 1748, by a mutinous sepoy at the siege of Pondicherry where he served in quality of a volunteer, aged 31 years. This is the famous siege commemorated in the "Plan de la Ville de Pondichéry, dédié à la mémoire de Mr Dupleix, chevalier de l'Ordre du Roy, Commandeur de l'Ordre Royal et Militaire de Saint Louis, qui la defendit en 1748 contre l'Amiral Boscawen et l'obligea après 54 jours de tranchée ouverte de lever le siège, qu'il avoit mis devant cette ville avec 6000 soldats européens, 20000 soldats noirs et 15 à 20 vaisseaux de guerre. Il n'y avoit alors dans la Place qu'environ 1200 soldats européens et 2000 cipayes ou soldats noirs." The memoirs of Runga Pillay, Dupleix's Dewan, describe the siege in daily detail, and sum up its result in the remarkable words, "How can I picture the renown that the Governor has acquired; it is like the sun that shines everywhere." A French narrative of the events was published at Brussels in 1766, under the title "Relation du siège de Pondichéry." Hallyburton's will is to be found in the India Office and bears date August 4th, 1748 (?): "I, John Hallyburton, late of Madras, but at this present of Fort St. David, being in Health of Body and Mind do in case of my death make this my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all former Wills by me made. 			mourning." A Mr. David Haliburton, C.S., gave valuable information about Clive and Indian affairs to Sir John Malcolm, when he was writing Clive's memoirs. It was at Belsches' house that the Rev. Francis Fordyce, Military Chaplain of Cuddalore, insulted Lieutenant Clive in Dalton's hearing, and was caned by Clive publicly in the street. Charles Floyer, Governor of Fort St. David, instituted an enquiry on March 3rd, 1749, which suspended Fordyce and recorded "lest the same (i.e., the assault) should be to Mr. Clive's prejudice, we think it not improper to assure you that he is generally esteemed a very quiet person and no ways guilty of disturbances." Browning has worked up this and another incident of Clive's factor-days into his poem "Clive" (Dramatic Idylls 1880, second series) where his hero is described as a "desk-drudge, slaving at St. David's."
767	18th Oct. 1748.	MARY FLOYER ...	Here lyeth the body of Mrs. MARY FLOYER, lately the wife of the Hon'ble Charles Floyer, Esq., President and Governor of this place. She departed this life in childbed, aged 29 years 4 months and 26 days. On April 14th, 1747, Charles Floyer succeeded John Hinde as Governor of Fort St. David, which was the chief English settlement during the occupation of Madras by the French from October 1746 to August 1749 and continued to be the seat of government till April 5th, 1752. Floyer and Hoet were dismissed the service for gambling, July 6th, 1750. The well-known incident in Clive's life when he refused to pay money lost at the card table to players, who were proved to have cheated, occurred at Fort St. David. Clive was Deputy Governor of Fort St. David for two months in 1756 and held that appointment at the time he fought the battle of Plassey. Mr. Alexander Wynch, who was acting for him, surrendered the Fort to the French on June 2nd, 1753, so that Clive was its last substantial Deputy Governor, the local officers after 1761 being styled chiefs of Cuddalore. In the annual list of covenanted civil servants sent to the Court of Directors in 1757 appears the name of Colonel Robert Clive as "Deputy Governor of Fort St. David, at present commander of the troops in Bengal."

VANNARPALLIAM CEMETERY IN PALLIKUPPAM, CUDDALORE.

772	12th Nov. 1718.	JAMES HUGONIN ...	Here lyes the body of JAMES HUGONIN, who departed this life the 12th of November 1718, aged 62 years 10 months 12 days. Oh! Mortal! endeavour to subject thy fleshly lusts and exchange worldly desires for those of eternity. A Swiss and presumably the "old" Captain Hugonin who was confined in Fort St. David when Richard Raworth, the Deputy Governor, openly rebelled in 1713 against the authority of Governor Harrison. This singular insurrection proved to be a real crisis in the history of Cuddalore. Henry Davenport (who had married Jane Chardin, niece of the great traveller) was at once sent from Madras as Commissary to supersede Raworth, but "finding the whole garrison debauched from their duty, except old Captain Hugonin and some other officers which were confined beforehand" was forced to retire ignominiously. Raworth held out for two months longer with 130 men under arms, "of whom eighty Europeans, who seemed to be as stout men as any in the Company's service." Davenport meanwhile possessed himself of Condapah choultry and Horse-tail Point, two strategic points, and was reinforced from Madras by the President, Rev. Mr. Stevenson, Lieutenant Rouch, Messrs. Theobalds, Bulkley, Maubert, Nanney, Langlier, Turner and Richardson. This extraordinary affair ended by Raworth's escaping to Pondicherry through the good offices of Governor Dulivier. He eventually reached France and died in Paris, just as the Directors of the Company were preparing to prosecute him in England. In the consultations of May 12th, 1705, the name of Serjeant Hugonin occurs as having been promoted to be Ensign of a Company in Fort St. George, together with one Serjeant Dixon, a Roman Catholic, who apparently turned Protestant in order to obtain his commission. Another Francis Hugonin was the gunner of Fort St. George, who fired a salute of nearly 1,000 guns at the proclamation of the Firman granted by Percequer, on the 21th July 1717, the day concluding with "tubs of punch and a bonfire at night and abundance of fireworks upon the island by the black merchants."

Draper's Regiment, who died ye 14th July 1761, aged 22 years. Sir William Draper erected a cenotaph on Clifton Downs near his house with a Latin inscription, and a list of the officers of the 79th Regiment under his command who fell in Asia. Among the names is that of Captain Chisholm. Draper's Regiment was originally the 64th Foot. It arrived at Fort St. George in September 1758, became the 79th Regiment in 1759 and was reduced soon afterwards. The grade of Captain-Lieutenant was abolished throughout the army on March 4th, 1819.

775	16th Sept. 1782.	ILLEGIBLE ...	Cygit M. DE (?) HIT Ordonnateur de Karikal, decedé à Goudelour, le xvi Septembre de l'an 1782, âgé de 60 ans. The name is illegible. It may be de Leyrit or de Boistel (see No. 2204). On the 3rd April 1782 Cuddalore surrendered under Captain Hughes to the combined Mysorean and French armies, M. Duchemin being in command of the Pondicherry detachment. It was besieged again by General Stuart and a sortie of the garrison took place on June 25th, 1783. Bernadotte, then a young French serjeant, was wounded and taken prisoner, together with the Chevalier de Damas, who led the attack and was inconsolable because he was unwounded. Colonel Wangenheim, commander of the Hanoverian troops in the English service, was struck by the young serjeant's appearance and treated him kindly until his recovery and release. Many years later when Napoleon's army under Bernadotte entered Hanover, Wangenheim among others attended the victor's levee and was at once recognised by his old acquaintance. Wilks recounts the incident in his "Historical Sketches of the South of India," volume II, pages 442-3. He entered the army as cadet in 1782 and probably had the story from Wangenheim himself.

CATHERINE WOODHOUSE.	Sacred to the memory of the best of wives and most amiable of women, CATHERINE, the beloved wife of HARCOURT WOODHOUSE, Esq., one of his Majesty's Justices of Peace and Deputy Lieutenant for the county of Hertford, Captain in the Hon'ble Company's Service and Commandant of the four independent companies of this garrison in 1775 and 76. Her form was elegant, her deportment noble. Possess'd of every virtue, every grace that could adorn her sex, she was religious without superstition, prudent without meanness, generous without prodigality, the sweet companion and the steady friend. She was -but no more! Gratitude from an affectionate husband requires thus much; love, friendship, and esteem inscribe the rest. She bore the inevitable stroke with her usual unshaken fortitude on the 12th of May 1777, about the 47th year of her age. Alas ! in this neglected spot is laid A heart once pregnant with celestial fire, Hands that the rod of empire might have sway'd Or wak'd to extacy the living lyre. The coat of arms bears the word "Agincourt" and the motto "Frappe Fort." Captain Philip Dormer Stanhope, in his "Genuine Memoirs of Asiaticus" writes thus in a letter dated Chillingbrum, September 1775: "From Pondicherry I proceeded to Cuddalore, a fort of considerable extent but in a most shattered condition, situate on the most beautiful spot in India, and distant about a mile from the ruins of Fort St. David's, which at the close of the last year was given up to the French, and the fortifications levelled with the ground. I was here most politely entertained by Captain Harcourt Woodhouse, formerly of the county of Hertfordshire, who having spent a considerable fortune in every species of fashionable dissipation, entered the service of the Company and though in his seventieth year, still retains a great share of that activity and vigour for which he was distinguished in his youthful days."

802	5th June 1816.	ERNEST WILLIAM FALLOWFIELD.	Sacred to the memory of ERNEST WILLIAM FALLOWFIELD, Esq., Senior Merchant in the Hon'ble Company's Civil Service of the Madras Establishment, who departed this life at Pondicherry, aged 64 years 11 months and 27 days. Mr. Fallowfield entered the Civil Service of this establishment in the year 1767 and passed through the different ranks of it with distinguished ability, diligence and integrity. He at different times filled the important situations of Chief at Cuddalore, Resident at Nagore, Negapatam and Karical, Collector of the revenue of the country of Tanjore, Member of the Council of Fort St. George, Magistrate and Collector of Pondicherry and Cuddalore, and lastly a Member of the Board of Trade. In his manners he was reserved and modest, but warm and affectionate in his feelings. To all the above situations, he was called by Government without solicitation on his part, and he quitted none of them without begetting the esteem of all with whom he was connected in office. His excellent understanding was equal to any duty, and the mildness and urbanity of his manners, made every discharge of duty facile to himself and satisfactory to others. To thee, reader, he has left these virtues, for thy imitation. He was one of the Members of Council who signed the despatch to the Court of Directors, dated May 11th, 1799, announcing the fall of Seringapatam. It was received per Sarah Christiana, September 13th, 1799. The other signatories were Mornington, Clive and W. Petrie. Mr. Fallowfield married, December 13th, 1808, Mrs. Jany Elizabeth Honoria Pernon, widow of Eugene Pernon, Master Attendant of Pondicherry, who died March 24th, 1807 (No. 2172).

Parry & Co. of Madras for a long time resident at this station, born 22nd March 1822, died in London 1st August 1862. This tablet was erected by his partners in affectionate regard for his sterling worth. The motto on the coat of arms is "Dw am gwlad" (for our land).
814	4th Mar. 1880.	OCTAVIUS BUTLER IRVINE.	To the memory of OCTAVIUS BUTLER IRVINE, Madras Civil Service. For many years Judge at this station and Lay Trustee of this Church, who died at Vizagapatam, aged 48. This tablet is erected to his memory by his friends at Cuddalore. He was bitten when hunting with a cheetah and died of blood-poisoning. A most interesting memorial of Mr. Irvine and other old residents of the station is to be found in the archival whist box presented to the Cuddalore Club by thirteen of its original members in 1865. It bears the inscription: "The Cuddalore Club instituted in the days of W. S. Whiteside (C. S.), H. E. Busteed (C.L.E.), P. L. Roberts (C.S.), G. D. Irvine (C.S.), T. H. B. Young, C. W. Reade (C.S.), G. Banbury (C.S.), F. C. Carr (C.S.), W. S. Harrington, J. Grose (C.S.), O. B. Irvine (C.S.), W. O. Swanston, G. H. Ellis (C.S.), 1865." Various Latin mottos adorn the sides. Left, "Quod latet ignotum est, quod sors feret, feremus aequo animo." Right, "Iudus animo debet aliquando dari, ad cogitandum melior ut redeat tibi." Front, "Cede repugnanti, cedendo victor abibis." Back, "Accipe si vis. Accipiam tabulas; detur nobis locus, hora, sodales. Videamus uter plus scribere possit." Dr. Busteed, one of the donors and author of the well-known "Echoes from Old Calcutta," was for some time stationed at Cuddalore, and within the site of Fort St. David is a little monument erected by him, "in memoriam laborum, dolorum ac ludorum comitis fidelis Nettle oheu tenebrosa nocte anguis latentis victimae hoc monumentum crexit mae-rens H.E.B. Obiit 3 die Feb. 1862." All that is left of Fort St. David is the foundation with here and there lumps of the broken wall, and subterranean galleries now choked up, which visitors, reading the warning inscribed on the monument of the dog, are not likely to explore.

PORTO NOVO.

Porto Novo known also as Peringhipett or Mahomed Bandar received its name from the Portuguese who settled there in the 16th century. An English settlement was made there in 1683.

CONIMERE.

826 2nd June 1703. MARIA WESTRENNEN ... Hier leydt begraven Juffr. MARIA DE VISSER, huysvrouw van GERRIT WESTRENNEN boeckhouder in dienst der E. Compe overleden den 2en Juny anno 1703 oud 21 iaren 11 maanden en 7 dagen.

Conimere or Konyimedu lies 13 miles north of Pondicherry. The English settlement there is better known than the Dutch. An English factory was established in 1682 in consequence of a preliminary failure at Cuddalore. John Wilcox, the first Chief, with Richard Milton, accemptant and Ralph Ord, warehousekeeper, set out on October 25th, 1682, and on November 9th, received a cowle from the Havildar of Tindivanam. In 1688 John Nicks was appointed to be Chief and Conimere is best known to fame through his wife's private trading during his Chiefship. Three years later the Court "do hereby expel from our service that expensive and unjust person Mr. Nicks and all those that assisted him in that wicked sortment." In 1692 Mr. Dolben, the Judge Advocate, issued a warrant to arrest Mrs. Nicks "being a woman notoriously known to be a separate merchant from her husband"; and a guard of musketeers was put over her house at Madras. She paid what was demanded and, after a short visit to England, returned to Fort St. George, where she died in 1709, and her husband in 1711.

POTTANUR.

The "District Manual" describes the site as being on the high road 1 miles west of Pondicherry and close to the French Frontier.

827 11th Oct. 1778. AUGUSTUS DE MORGAN. Sacred to the memory of Captain AUGUSTUS DE MORGAN, who was killed in the execution of his duty in the sap battery before Pondicherry, aged 39 years, greatly beloved and sincerely lamented by all who knew him. A loss to the service, friendship and society. This monument is erected by his nephews GEORGE AND JAMES INNES as a testimony of their regard.

The deceased and two brother officers were blown up in a battery, which they had vainly reported to be unsafe. De Morgan's head is said to have been completely severed from his body by the explosion. He was an artillery officer and the only surviving son of John DeMorgan (No. 1042), one of whose daughters married an Innes (see No. 238). Augustus DeMorgan married Christina, daughter of the Rev. G. H. Conrad Hüttemann, a Tranquebar Missionary (1728-1781) and Kiernander's assistant at Cuddalore, where he died the year before the town fell into the hands of the French. Mrs. DeMorgan died at Ganjam in 1774 (No. 1124). They had three sons. The eldest, George Augustus, born at Vellore 1771, entered the Madras Cavalry and was killed in an action against Tippoo's troops at Amboor in 1792. Edward died an infant. The second son John, born December 21st, 1792, was married when a Lieutenant in the Madras army to Miss Elizabeth Dodson "at Colombo by the Rev. Mr. F. Rosenhagen in presence of John Briggs and Honor Briggs, 4th August 1798." From this union sprang the great mathematician. "At Madura 27th June 1806, the Lady of Captain John DeMorgan of a son." This child was the fifth of a family of seven. His two elder brothers, John Augustus and James

By his wife Sophia Elizabeth, daughter of William Friend, architect, he had seven children, of whom one son and one daughter survive (see Nos. 280, 773 and 2055). Sacred to the memory of WILLIAM STEVENS, Esq., Major in the East India Company's service and Chief Engineer at the siege of Pondicherry, who was unfortunately killed by a cannon ball. He was a gallant soldier and an honest man, justly esteemed while living, sincerely regretted now dead. This monument was erected by Major General Sir Hector Munro, K.B., as a token of his regard and esteem. Major Stevens was wounded in the advanced batteries of the south-west attack and died the same evening. General Munro, the hero of Buxar, had laid siege to Pondicherry on the 8th August 1778, with an army of 10,500 men, of whom 1,500 were Europeans. On the 10th of the same month Admiral Edward Vernon with four ships fought an indecisive battle in the roads with five French ships under M. Tronjoly, who some days later sailed away and left the town to its fate. After a gallant defence M. de Bellecombe, the Governor, surrendered the town on the 18th of October. Article I of the capitulation runs: "La belle défense faite par le Maj. Gen. de Bellecombe et sa garnison exige avec raison toutes les marques d'honneur. C'est pourquoi il est permis à la garnison de sortir avec les honneurs de la guerre. Arrivée sur le glacis, elle mettra ses armes en faisceaux par commandement de ses propres officiers et les y laissera avec les tambours, canons et mortiers. Il est permis à tous les officiers en général de garder leurs armes, et sur la requisition particulière du General de Bellecombe, le régiment de Pondichéry gardera ses drapeaux." Among those who took part in the defence was the Breton sailor of fortune Madec, whose life and adventures are narrated in M. Emile Barbé's book "le Nabab René Madec." The muster roll contains an even more interesting name, "Barras, chasseur au régiment de Pondichéry." Chasseurs ranked below sub-lieutenants and were of the grade of élèves-officiers. Barras was born June 30th, 1755, and entered the Languedoc Regiment at the age of 16. He then received a commission in the Regiment de Pondichery, and asked to be sent out to his kinsman M. de Chabrilune, Governor of the Isle de France. On his way he stopped at the Cape of Good Hope where he met Captain Cook, "who welcomed me in kindly fashion and I came very near accompanying him to austral lands." At Port St. Louis he learnt that the English were making great designs on French India and obtained permission to join his regiment at Pondicherry. On the fall of the town he became a prisoner on parole in Madras and Poonamallee, which he spells Pont Damalé. Barras' subsequent rise to prominence during the French Revolution is well known. La loi du 3 Ventôse l'an III destined him to return to India with two other commissaires, Le Tourneur (de la Manche) and Armand (de la Meuse): but the party never started. On 23 Thermidor l'an II, Barras had been named Commandant General of the armies of Paris.

842	20th Oct. 1828.	JAMES FRASER ...	Lieut. JAMES FRASER, Quarter-master, Paymaster, and Interpreter, 11th Regiment, N.I., who was killed in a duel at Bellary. He was brave, generous, and sincere, and much liked and esteemed by his brother officers, by whom this tomb was erected. This tribute to his memory was placed here by his friend Major-General Hugh Fraser, commanding the Ceded Districts, 1832.
843	10th Aug. 1829.	JAMES TAYLOR ...	Lieut.-Colonel JAMES TAYLOR, H.M.'s 48th Regiment, aged 46 years.
844	4th April 1831.	EDWARD WINTERTON SNOW.	Colonel EDWARD WINTERTON SNOW, Companion of the Bath, an officer eminently distinguished for high military bearing and gallantry. He commanded and led the Rifle Corps to the charge at the memorable battle of Mahidpoor, and was conspicuously engaged in the battles of Assaye and Argaum. ob. iv April MDCCCXXXI. Aet XLIX. This monument stands in a line with the memorials to Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor (1829), Captain Browne (1827), and Paymaster Raye (1826). This row of four obelisks is the most conspicuous object in the cemetery (see No. 2000).

Tomb erected by his mother. Edward de Warren, his brother officer (see No. 2181) describes his seizure at the 'mess-table in a most romantic way in his book "L'Inde Anglaise."
845	5th Mar. 1834.	GEORGE HUDDLESTINE THOMAS.	Captain GEORGE HUDDLESTINE THOMAS, commanding 7th Regt., Light Cavalry, who was killed by a fall from his horse on the morning of the 5th March, aged 37 years. This tomb was erected over his remains by the officers of the Regt., as a mark of their esteem and regard.
846	3rd April 1834.	CHARLES DOUGLAS BABINGTON.	Ensign C. D. BABINGTON, 31st Light Infantry, who fell at the assault on Buck in Coorg, aged 22 years. Tomb erected by the officers of his Regiment. Coorg was conquered in 1834 by a force under Brigadier Patrick Lindsay, C.B. The assault on Buck is described as follows by Mr. Lewis Rice in the third volume of his "Gazetteer of Mysore and Coorg" (page 179): "The Northern column, under the Command of Colonel G. Waugh, was composed of one brigade 6-pr. guns from Bellary, 300 rank and file and head-quarters H.M. 55th Regt., N.I., 31st Regt., L.I., rifle Company of 24th Regt., N.I., and 200 Sappers and Miners. It marched on the 1st April from Hosakota to Sanivarsante. On passing the Coorg boundary at the river Hemavati, the enemy's advanced posts had retreated and no molestation was offered until the force reached Kodlipet, where an armed body of 200 men occupied an entrenched high ground, but on their flanks being turned they speedily fell back, and the advanced guard of the English encountered only one more slight opposition at Mudravalli, which was as speedily overcome. A far different resistance the troops met on the following day, when they were to join the Eastern column at Haringi. They had scarcely proceeded a few hundred yards beyond their encamping ground, when they found the road blockaded with felled trees, which rendered their progress exceedingly difficult and slow. As the column approached a village in a wood near the base of the pass in which the enemy's principal position was situated, a feeble fire was opened, which was readily silenced. But the stockade, known as the Buck Stockade, was exceedingly strong; outside, protected by thick bamboos and trees and surrounded with a deep ditch, and inside, built of mud walls faced with stones and pierced with innumerable loop holes which commanded the approaches in every direction. The intrepid Coorgs who held it were commanded by Madanta Appachu (the late Head Sheristadar who died in 1876), a fine old Coorg, of tall stature and martial bearing, who ever since the British accession was a most loyal and devoted servant of Government. Determined to carry it by assault as the stockade barred their advance, the troops under Major Bird of the 31st Light Infantry as field officer of the day attempted every means of attack for four hours and a half, during which they were exposed to a most severe and raking fire; but in vain. A misdirected flank movement of H.M. 55th Regt. under Colonel Mill proved equally unsuccessful. Colonel Mill (see No. 350) was shot dead on the spot, likewise Ensign Robertson of the 9th N.I. and Babington of the 31st N.I. In this most unfortunate affair about 48 were killed, including the 3 officers, and 118 wounded."

			He was the twin son of John Horsley, M.C.S., 1817-51. The murder took place in the whist room of the present Bellary Club, then a private house, into which the deceased and his younger brother, W. D. Horsley, a student at college, had recently moved. The situation was lonely, the house standing by itself and being commanded on three sides by hills. On the night of the July 4th, at about half past twelve, Mr. Ralph Horsley was heard to call to his servants sleeping in the verandah, and was found a few minutes later lying dead in his writing room, which opened out of the bed room. An office box was then missing from its usual place under the cot, and was subsequently discovered broken open on the rocks some 300 yards away, the only object stolen being the silver handle of a seal. On an examination of the deceased's body, it was seen that the wound, a stab in the back, must have been sufficient to cause instantaneous death. No trace of the murderers was discoverable. The peons and servants had apparently heard nothing to attract their attention, although four of them were sleeping in the front verandah of the house. An inquest was held and an exhaustive enquiry instituted by Mr. C. R. Pelly, the Collector, but the crime long remained a mystery. It seemed probable that robbery and not murder was the motive of the intruders, and that Mr. Horsley was stabbed while endeavouring to prevent the theft of his month's pay. Several persons were arrested at the time on suspicion, but were subsequently discharged. At last in 1864 a man, about to be hanged at Delhi for another crime, made a full confession of Horsley's murder, giving such details and so correct a description of the treasury then in the Fort and of Horsley's house that the Collector and Horsley's brother William had no doubt that his statement was true and had cleared up the whole secret.

TOMB AT THE EAST FORT GATE, BELLARY.

855	1769	TOMB OF A FRENCH ENGINEER.	Under the wall at the East Fort Gate stands a tomb, said to cover the remains of a French Engineer. The tradition is that when Hyder Ali took possession of Bellary from its Poligar in 1769, he employed the services of this man to build the upper and lower Fort, but at the completion of the work, hanged him near the Fort Gate, because it was discovered that the opposite rock was the higher and commanded the Fort. A few years ago, when a new road leading to the gate was under construction, the Mahomedans of Bellary made a successful appeal for the preservation of this grave, saying that it contained the remains of a saint of their own faith. The tomb is certainly built in Mussalman fashion, and some doubt is thrown on the legend of the French Engineer's fate by the fact that a similar story is told of other fortresses built by Hyder or his son. For instance, the tale connected with the fort at Hosur in Salem district may be cited. It runs as follows: Captain Hamilton (or according to others Stevenson), a British officer, then in captivity, is said to have been employed by Tippu Sultan to construct the fortifications, with the assistance of a midshipman, also a captive. Unfortunately, the position chosen happened to be overlooked by a neighbouring hill, and Tippu, on learning of this mistake, at once issued orders for the execution of the two prisoners. The Englishmen had, however, during their stay at Hosur, been on very friendly terms with the inhabitants of the place; and so great was the sympathy evinced for them that no one could be found willing to put them to death, or even to lend a weapon for the purpose. After much difficulty, the only implement that could be procured was a small shoemaker's knife, and with this instrument the prisoners were beheaded, Hamilton, stipulating that the younger man should die first. Tradition adds that, at the time of execution, a native maistry, who had long worked under Hamilton, begged him to leave him some memento. Hamilton had nothing to give the man but an old pair of compasses. Some thirty years ago an English officer, while visiting Hosur, was struck by observing a native carpenter at work with a pair of compasses (an unusual circumstance) and asked him where he had obtained them. The workman answered that the compasses were an heirloom in his family, and had been given to one of his ancestors by some European officer, pointing in proof of his assertion to the letters J. H. scratched on one side. The story goes on to say that in a field named by this workman, two skeletons were found, which bore marks of decapitation. It is a historical fact, as narrated in Thornton's "History of India," volume II, pages 439, 440, that Hamilton and two other prisoners were massacred at Hosur on the approach of Lord Cornwallis' army in 1791. A thrilling tale on this subject under the title of "a Pair of Compasses" appeared from the pen of Mr. D. S. White in the "Madras Athenaeum" about the year 1875. It may be of interest to add that the bridge in Madras known as Barber's bridge was originally named Hamilton's bridge from the Engineer who built it. The natives called it Ambuton's bridge, and, in course of time, the name being supposed to be synonymous with "Ambattan," the Tamil word for a barber, the title was transferred into the present one of Barber's bridge.

The circumstances of his death are as follows: He landed from England in May 1853, and, in the latter part of 1854, was engaged in laying the Telegraph line from Bellary to Secunderabad. When on the point of joining the working party, which was spanning the Tungabhadra River some few miles above Hampasaugar. he was attacked by cholera and died in the Hospet travellers' bungalow. He was a man of good birth, and closely connected with the family of Claverings in Durham, and had he lived a few months longer, would, it is said, have succeeded to a Baronetcy. A short time after his death, a Government enquiry was instituted and a report sent in by Mr. Brunton, at that time Superintendent of Telegraphs. Mr. Jones was present at the time of the death; and Mr. C. Dawson, lately store-keeper at Kurnool, was also a member of the working party. An old man of the Korava caste, who dug the grave, was alive at Hospet in 1894. According to him, four Europeans, who were staying at Hospet, went to Huligi (in the Nizam's dominions) to see the shrine of the deity. While there, one of the party was attacked by cholera, and returned to Hospet very ill. He died at one o'clock in the travellers' bungalow and was buried in his hat and clothes under a banyan tree. Local rumour has it that he tried to prevent the hook-swinging festival at Huligi, and was visited by the wrath of the goddess in consequence. In 1893 a slab was placed over the spot indicated by the grave digger, in an open piece of ground some 40 yards to the south of the travellers' bungalow, beneath two banyan trees.

MANGALORE CEMETERY.

860 29th Nov. JOHN CARNAC
1800.

In memory of Brigadier General JOHN CARNAC, formerly Commander in Chief of the Forces in Bengal and afterwards second in Council at this Presidency. He distinguished himself by the important victory gained over the Shalazaddah in the year 1761, and in both stations his zeal for the public service, integrity and disinterested conduct were equally conspicuous. He died at Mangalore the 29th November 1800, aged 84 years.

His father was probably Captain Carnac or Carnae, a Huguenot refugee, who died in Dublin in 1756, aged 91. He had a brother Scipio (untraced) and by a first marriage in India with a Miss Woolaston (m. 1766, d. 1767) had an only son "Master Bobby" who died in 1769 in London of a dose of physic given to him by Sutton, the inoculator. As John Carnac was born seemingly in 1714, he can hardly have been a son of the Peter Carnac, who in 1716 married at St. Antholins Adriana Lelante and was perhaps identical with the Peter Carnat (sic) from Meyruis, naturalized in 1698. John Carnac commenced his military service in the 39th foot (Primus in Indis) and being in India when that regiment was ordered home in 1758, was admitted into the Company's service with the rank of Captain. In 1760 when a Major he succeeded Colonel John Caillaud in command of the army at Patna and on January 15th, 1761, won an important victory near Behar over the imperial troops of Delhi and a French contingent under M. Law, who, with fifteen officers and fifty of his men, was taken prisoner. The courtesy with which the captives were treated appears to have greatly impressed the natives, who had at that time but little acquaintance with European usages in war. The author of the Seir Mutakharin remarks upon this incident: "Nothing can be more modest or becoming than the behaviour of these strangers whether in the heat of battle or in the pride of success." Carnac was appointed a Brigadier-General in May 1764. The following year he drove the Mahrattas across the Jumna. His name with Clive's is signed to the Allahabad treaty of August 16th, 1765. Returning to England in 1767 he was elected M.P. for Leominster. Four years later he was again in India and rendered effective aid to Lord Clive in quelling a mutiny of the English officers in Bengal. In 1776 he was appointed Second Member of Council at Bombay and successor to the chair. While still filling that office in 1778, he was named one of the civil committee with the army who early in the following year executed the unfortunate convention of Wargaum. For his participation in this affair he was dismissed the service, but remained in India till his death. When in Parliament he had married Miss Eliza Rivett, a celebrated court beauty and the daughter of Mr. Thomas Rivett, M.P. for Derby. Her portrait was painted by Reynolds and now hangs in the Tate Collection. It is esteemed one of the finest of his works and an excellent engraving of it appears in the second volume of Mr. James Douglas' book on Bombay. Mrs. Carnac died at Broach, January 18th, 1780, aged 28. Memorial tablets to herself and her husband were erected in Bombay Cathedral by James Rivett, her brother, who arrived in India in 1776 and rose to be Member of the Bombay Council. He died in 1803, aged 43. After his brother-in-law's death he had assumed the name

He was born on the 13th of September 1783, and departed this life on the 17th of May 1824, aged 40 years and 4 (sic) months universally respected and esteemed. Son of the first Lord Harris, Baron of Mysore and Seringapatam (1746-1829). His sister married S. R. Lushington, Governor of Madras from 1827 to 1832. His son George Anstruther Harris joined the Madras Civil Service (1830-66) and was for several years Judge of Mangalore. The third Lord Harris, his elder brother's son, was Governor of Madras from 1854 to 1859. Balmatta, the well-known hill in Mangalore, is said by some to have named after the family seat in Kent "Belmont." It was formerly the Collector's residence and cutcherry, until sacked by the Coorg rebels in 1837. The house and grounds were subsequently made over to the Basel Mission by Mr. H. M. Blair, the Collector.

L.D.S. The "amicus moerens et mirans" was Father Ladislaus. Father Dubois, who is said to have related to the family of Abbé Dubois, made the building of Cordel Church the work of his lifetime, but died before it was finished. It is now a deserted ruin, in the chancel of which its founder lies buried. Father Dubois had acquired during his lifetime a widespread reputation for sanctity, and the spot is visited to this day by numerous pilgrims of all castes and creeds.

CHURCH AT THE LITTLE MOUNT.

This church contains a cave where St. Thomas is said to have suffered martyrdom, and visitors are also shown the print of his footsteps. The Little Mount owes its name to the Portuguese, who, with a view to distinguish it from the Big Mount (St. Thomas' Mount) where they had built a church on the Hill, called the former "Monte Picano." The church contains a grave where St. Thomas is said to have suffered martyrdom, and visitors are also shown the print of his footsteps. There is a description of it in Milne Rae's "Syrian Church in India" (1892).

883	1612	STATUE OF ST. THOMAS.	Este baluarte S.T. fes ANT. GSZ. DE ATHAIDE a sua custa no ano de 1612. "This statue of Saint Thomas did Antonio Gonsalves De Athaide make at his own cost in the year 1612." The figure represents St. Thomas raising his right hand in the attitude of benediction and holding in his left hand a carpenter's square. Three sites near Madras are connected with the legend of St. Thomas. They are the Cathedral of San Thomé, which claims to possess the apostle's grave; the Little Mount, where he is said to have been martyred; and St. Thomas' Mount, on whose summit is the church containing the famous inscribed cross. St. Thomas and St. Bartholomew are also said to have preached Christianity in Ceylon, and there is the still more curious tradition that Ceylon had been visited and the Christian faith introduced by the Eunuch of Candace.
884	1663	KHOJAH MARGAR ...	(Translation from the Armenian.) This is the tomb of KHOJAH MARGAR, the son of KHOJAH DAVID, in the year 1112 (of the Armenian era corresponding to 1663 A.D.). Epigraphica Indica, volume VI, part II, April 1900, contains a facsimile of this inscription with the translation, "This is the grave of Khojah David, the son of Khojah Margar." The proper reading of the text according to Mr. Mesroby J. Seth is as given above. This is the oldest Armenian tombstone in Madras. It is at the foot of the steps leading to the church and in shape and appearance resembles a milestone.

CHURCH OF THE EXPECTATION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN, ST. THOMAS' MOUNT.

This church crowns the summit of St. Thomas' Mount, familiarly known as the Big Mount, an isolated cliff of greenstone and syenite 300 feet above the level of the sea. In the Annual Register for 1774 will be found extracts from a curious poem on Saint Thomas' Mount written by "a gentleman, resident in India." Its author was Eyles Irwin (1751-1817), a well-known Madras Civilian (see No. 1393).

888	800 A.D.	INSCRIPTION THE CROSS.	ROUND MUN HAMICH MESHIKHAI AVAKSHAYI MADAM-APRAS-ICH. KHAR BUKHTO SUR-ZAY MUN BUN DARDO DENA. "He whom the suffering of the selfsame Messiah, the forgiving and upraising has saved is offering the plea whose origin was the agony of this." Inscription round the cross behind the altar. This cross was found by the Portuguese about A.D. 1547 when digging amongst the ruins of former Christian buildings for the foundations of the chapel over whose altar the cross was subsequently fixed. The characters are Sassanian Pehlevi, "the divine high-piping Pehlevi" of Omar Khayyam's nightingale, stanza VI. It is the old heroic Sanscrit of Persia. Dr. A. C. Burnell, M.C.S., was the first in 1873 to decipher the inscription, which dates from about the ninth century A.D. There is a facsimile of it in Epigraphica Indica, volume IV, page 174. Practically the same inscription is found round the two crosses in the Valiyapalli church at Cottayam in Travancore, followed in the case of the larger cross by a text in old Syriac from Galatians VI, 14. "But far be it from me to glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ."
889	1707	SAFAR ZACHARIAS ...	Este alpendre com a porta desta igreja mandou fazer Coja SAFAR ZACHARIAS no anno de 1707. Tablet let into the outer wall of the church commemorating the building (mandou fazer = fieri mandavit) of the porch (alpendre) and doorway by an Armenian named Zachary in 1707. The Armenian inscription below runs: "This is in memory of Safar, son of Zachariah, the Mahtosey." Mahtosey means pilgrim and denotes one who has gone on pilgrimage to the Holy Sepulchre at Jerusalem. It corresponds to the Persian Haji or in Holwell's quaint spelling "Hodgeo, who acquire this title from having made a pilgrimage to Hodge."
890	20th Oct. 1707.	GREGORIO PARAO ...	GREGORIO PARAO Armenio 1707. "This is the tomb of Gregory, who is the son of Sarkies. He is a native of Erivan, a citizen of a great city, a merchant of pearls and a sojourner at Madras. He is of a meek and humble nature. The Lord seated on a throne of light shall have mercy on his soul and he will be worthy of the Kingdom. Whoever on his behalf shall say 'Father, I have sinned' shall be remembered before Christ. Died in the year of the Saviour 1707, on Saturday, October 20th." (Translation from the Armenian.) This is the one of the oldest inscriptions of this nation traceable in Madras. There are older ones at Calcutta (Reza Beebe Sookeas 1630) and at Agra. An Armenian colony had existed at the last-named place from very early times, and in 1609, Captain William Hawkins, of the ship Hector , envoy from James I to the Court of the Mogul, had been given an Armenian maiden in marriage by Jehanpir. Hawkins unfortunately died on the journey home. His widow married Gabriel Towerson, one of the first factors of the East India Company, who was killed in the Amboyna massacre of 1622.

John Roach married Adeodata Wheatley, March 17th, 1717. He had displayed great gallantry that same year in defeating an attack made on Trivatore by the Nabob's troops; and Governor Collet and his council made him "Major of all the Honourable Company's forces on the Coast of Coromandel and in the island of Sumatra." He was also awarded a gold medal set with diamonds and valued at 300 pagodas. Roach sailed for England in January 1735 (see No. 89). Os quacs. "They, after having purified their souls by various tribulations, which the enemies of Christian souls raised against them, went to enjoy the eternal reward (galordao) which they merited by their manly (varonil = virilis) Christian virtues and heroic patience." The Portuguese epitaph is practically a translation of the Latin, but the latter is more remarkable from its curious reference to the "varia et permixta tribulationes a carno mundo necnon a diabolo instigate." Richard Ware's name figures at the foot of the list of Freeman living within Fort St. George in 1684 with the note "married to a Mustez." A Samuel Hepburn married Rosa Acart, April 27th, 1729.

TABLETS IN ST. THOMAS' CANTONMENT CHURCH AT THE MOUNT.

896	13th June 1801.	WILLIAM SYDENHAM.	To the memory of Major General WILLIAM SYDENHAM, Commandant of the Artillery at this Presidency, who died on the 13th of June 1801, aged 48 years. The officers of that Corps have erected this monument. His able and valuable public services during the long period of 33 years were acknowledged in the repeated approbation of the Governments of India and of the Honorable the Court of Directors.
			This monument is in the compound at the back of the church.
897	16th July 1827.	JOHN NOBLE	Lieut.-Colonel JOHN NOBLE, C.B., born at Greenock in Scotland, served with distinguished reputation in India during a period of 32 years. He formed and commanded the Madras Horse Artillery with eminent skill and with the recorded approbation of the highest Military and Civil authorities, and died at Madras 16th July 1827, in the 48th year of his age. In remembrance of his intrepidity of spirit and presence of mind, his professional enthusiasm, vigour and promptitude in action, and kindness and generosity in peace, his brother officers of the Madras Artillery have raised this monument.

898	10th Nov. 1839.	A. E. BYAM	A fine marble monument by Chantrey, with a bust of the deceased. In the R.A. Mess, Woolwich (upper smoking room), is a portrait of Noble. There is an isolated tomb to his memory at the Mount, erected by the native commissioned and European and native non-commissioned officers and gunners. It was blown down in the hurricane of 1846, but re-erected in 1848 under the superintendence of Captain R. L. Reilly, P.W.D. (No. 1602). It bears in Tamil, Telugu and Hindustani the words "Colonel John Noble." In memory of Captain A. E. BYAM, of the Madras Artillery, who, endeared to all who knew him, by his noble and generous disposition, and universally admired for his enthusiastic love of his profession, after serving his country for 18 years on the establishment of Fort St. George, and distinguishing himself in most of the campaigns which occurred during that period, died at the Cape of Good Hope, on the 10th of November 1839, aged 34 years. This tablet is erected by his afflicted widow, as a poor tribute to his worth, and in testimony of her devoted attachment. Captain Adolphus Elizabeth Byam was a godson of the Duchess of York, from whom he took his second name Elizabeth. There is an obelisk to his memory on an eminence opposite the Bolarum Residency. He had been Military Secretary to the Resident at Hyderabad, and died at Rondebosch, near Capetown. He married, April 26th, 1835, Maria, widow of the Lieutenant-Colonel Grant (Nos. 2125 and 2279).
899	22nd April 1844.	JOHN PETER GRANT.	JOHN PETER GRANT, Esq., of Corrimony in the county of Inverness, Staff Surgeon, Tenasserim Provinces, and for many years attached to the Regiment of Artillery, who during a service of 20 years in various parts of the extensive empire, embracing the Burmese, Coorg and Chinese campaigns, was not less distinguished in the practice of his profession than for kindness of heart and urbanity of disposition, died April XXII. 1844, XLIII years of age. Erected by his friends and brother officers. Perhaps of the same family as Sir John Peter Grant, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, who was the second son (born 1807) of Sir John Peter Grant, Kt. (1774-1848), of Rothiemurchus, Inverness, M.P. for Great Grimsby and Tavistock, a Puisne Judge of the Bombay Supreme Court and subsequently of the Calcutta Supreme Court from 1833 to 1848.
900	18th Aug. 1849.	JAMES EDWARD PORTEOUS.	To the memory of JAMES EDWARD PORTEOUS, Esq., Assistant Surgeon, for 12 years Medical Officer of the C. Troop Horse Artillery, who died at Jaulnah the 18th August 1849, aged 39 years. In grateful and affectionate remembrance of his worth and of the unremitting kindness, which endeared him to all classes, this tablet was erected by the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the C. Troop Horse Artillery and many other friends. Dilectus desletus decessit.

902	18th Aug. 1850.	ALFRED BEADNELL ...	Lieutenant ALFRED BEADNELL, Adjutant, 1st Battalion Artillery, who died at Secunderabad on the 8th August 1850, aged 32 years. Erected by his friends in the Regiment.
903	12th April 1852.	AUGUSTUS FREDERICK OAKES.	Major AUGUSTUS FREDERICK OAKES, Captain in the Madras Artillery, Director of the Artillery Depot of Instruction, who was struck down at his guns by coup de soleil during the attack on Rangoon on the 12th April MDCCCLII, aged 44. This tablet erected by his brother officers records their grateful sense of the benefits he conferred on the Regiment of Artillery and perpetuates the testimony borne to his merits by the Government he served. "Major Oakes' whole course of service was distinguished by the singular activity and unceasing labour with which he devoted himself to every subject belonging to his profession, rendering his death a loss not only to his immediate regiment, but to the service at large. Major Oakes died as he had lived in the energetic discharge of his duty."
904	4th June 1852.	HUGH MONTGOMERY. ARCHIBALD FOULIS. JOSIAH FREDERICK SMITH. WILLIAM DALLAS.	Sacred to the memory of Captain HUGH MONTGOMERY, Captain in the Regiment of Artillery, Major in the army, Superintendent of a division in Mysore, an officer of distinguished ability, whose death at Calcutta on the 4th June 1852 was consequent on the fatigue and exposure undergone at the attack and storming of Rangoon on the 13th and 14th days of April preceding "where he ably and gallantly fought the Light Field Battery under his command." Also to the memory of Captain ARCHIBALD FOULIS, who had honorably served in the Coorg, Goomsor and China wars, greatly and deservedly beloved by all. Also to the memory of Lieut. JOSIAH FREDERICK SMITH and WILLIAM DALLAS and the non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment who have died during service in Burmah. This tablet is erected by the officers of Artillery to record their deceased comrades' merits and services.
905	11th Feb. 1855.	JOHN BACK ...	Lieut.-Colonel JOHN BACK, of the Madras Artillery, who having served with distinction in the Kolapoor campaign of 1826, in the expedition to China in 1842, and in the second Burmese War in 1852, died at sea on his return from Rangoon Feb. 11th 1855, in the 52nd year of his age. This tablet is erected by his three surviving sisters.
906	26th Sept. 1857.	CHARLES WADE CRUMP.	In memory of CHARLES WADE CRUMP, Lieutenant in the Madras Artillery, whose life full of high promise was well but early closed in the 32nd year of his age at the relief of Lucknow under General Havelock on the 26th September 1857. He was killed while doing his duty with a skill and courage, conspicuous even there. His brother officers here record the affection and honour with which they hold the memory of this able and devoted soldier.

			Major Dirom's narrative of the siege records : " 17th April 1799, Col. McDonald with the 2nd 12th Madras Infantry occupied the bank of the little Cauvery, which thence was known by the name of McDonald's Post." Murray's " Handbook to India " (1894 edition), writing of the spot, says : " It is hard to realise that here we have McDonald's Post. The rippling of water is only heard, except for the occasional splash made by a bright kingfisher shooting down into the stream, and in the distance the slow creaking of the labourer's water lift."

PULLALORE.

Pollilore or Pullalore is a village lying about 2 miles from Polur Railway Station, which is between Conjeeveram and Arkonam on the Chingleput-Arkonam branch of the South Indian Railway.

967	27th Aug. 1781.	JAMES HISLOP	... Sacred to the memory of Captain JAMES HISLOP who was killed by a cannon ball from the enemy near this spot, the field of battle, while serving as Aid-de-camp to Lieutenant General Sir Eyre Cooto, K.B., Commander-in-Chief. His professional abilities and private virtues were felt and acknowledged by all his contemporaries.
968	27th Aug. 1781.	GEORGE BROWN	... Sacred to the memory of Lieutenant Colonel GEORGE BROWN. When Lieutenant of Grenadiers in Draper's Regiment, he lost his right arm on the storm of Conjeeveram Pagoda occupied by the French on the 16th April 1759 and fell in a general action fought on this field between the English forces and the troops of Hyder Ally Cawn Behawder on the 27th August 1781, esteemed by every rank, a gallant soldier, an able officer, and an honourable man.

These are two lofty obelisks with inscription tablets painted black. Urquhart locates them in a garden near a village about 4 miles from Perambaucum. "The battle in which the above gallant officers fell is described as having been one of the most ably contested and desperate that was ever fought with the native powers of India. The scene of action was on the same memorable ground where the gallant but illfated troops commanded by Colonel Baillie had been recently destroyed by the countless hosts of Hyder and his son Tippoo." Hyder claimed it as a drawn battle. Another veteran of these campaigns lies buried near Chandernagore in Bengal opposite Gyretty Ferry. "Major James Moore, who so gallantly distinguished himself during the late war in the Carnatic; he died on the 26th of January 1785, aged 34 years. S.O. sculpsit." The sculptor was Samuel Oldham. A monument was erected to Baillie's memory at Seringapatam by his nephew Lieutenant-Colonel John Baillie, Resident at Lucknow, in 1816 (see No. 2231).

WALLAJABAD.

Wallajabad received its name from Mahomed Ali, Nabob of the Carnatic, 1754-95, the hero of the Nabob's debts, who took the title Walajah in 1776. Its mortality for troops became so great that it earned the appellation of "the grave of Europeans." There are three portraits of Nabob Walajah in existence; a full length at Government House, Calcutta; a replica of this with a different background at Hampton Court Palace (dated 1774); and a similar picture in one of the Committee Rooms of the India Office. The painter was George Willison, a Scotch artist, who realised a large fortune in the East Indies and died at Edinburgh in 1797. He painted the curious portrait of Lord Pigot in the Tanjore Palace (see No. 329).

969	17th Oct. 1802.	EDWARD BACON	... Ensign EDWARD BACON, of his Majesty's 74th Regiment, died the 17th day of October 1802.

TRIPASORE.

Tripasore stands in a Zemindari estate about 2 miles west of Tiruvallur. It was formerly a considerable cantonment and a station for cadets in the Company's service.

- 984 September 1781. SAMUEL KILPATRICK. This tomb is erected by me as a mark of esteem, affection and gratitude to the memory of Major SAMUEL KILPATRICK of the Hon'ble Company's service, Bengal Establishment, who departed this life while on service with Colonel Pearse's detachment on the Coromandel Coast. William Kilpatrick.

Colonel Thomas Deane Pearse was Warren Hastings' second in the duel with Francis. He died in 1789 and lies in South Park Street Cemetery, Calcutta. On his epitaph it is recorded that he marched a detachment to join the army under Sir Eyre Coote in the Carnatic and served there during the war and returned to Bengal in 1785. During the campaign of 1781-82 several duels took place with fatal result and in one of these Major Kilpatrick fell. The survivors in such encounters were tried by Courts-martial for having been accessory to the deaths of the persons killed, and were invariably acquitted. The finding of the Court in the present case is dated camp at Velout, September 18th, 1781: "The Court, having well considered the evidence for and against the prisoner Captain Richard Scott, together with what he has urged in his defence, are of opinion that the charge against him, viz., of his having been accessory to the death of Major Samuel Kilpatrick, has been fully proved, but as through the whole course of the proceedings many circumstances occur very favourable and alleviating, they do therefore acquit him of any degree of criminality, and he is hereby acquitted accordingly. Signed George Mackenzie, Major, 73rd Regiment and President." Both Scott and Kilpatrick belonged to the Bengal Native Infantry.

COVELONG.

On the coast 20 miles south of Madras. The fort now demolished was called by the natives Saadat Bunder, and was built by Anwar-ud-deen (Nawab of the Carnatic 1744-49) within musket shot of the sea near the ruins of another belonging to the Imperial East India Company of Ostend, whose principal factory was at this place. Covelong possesses a Roman Catholic Church, almshouse and orphanage founded and supported by grants from the DeMonte family, formerly rich merchants of Madras. The place is only known to-day as a Salt factory.

- 985 17th July 1811. JOANA MUNIS. PEREIRA. Aqui jaz um modelo perfeitissimo da obediencia filial, um completo exemplar do amor filial. Aqui jaz JOANA PEREIRA MUNIS filha muito amada do Victoriano e Rosa Pereira, esposa gratissima de Antonio Munis, a qual na flor da sua idade contando 18 annos e 25 dias terminou a carreira de sua vida em Caulão em 17 de Julho de 1811. Cujo pac em signal do seu amor e para desafogo da sua dor mandou fazer este epitafio, e pede a todos se lembrem da sua alma com um Padre Nosso e Ave Maria.

- 986 5th Feb. 1816. CHRISTOPHER BILDERBECK DEMONTE. At the entrance of this chapel are deposited the remains of CHRISTOPHER BILDERBECK DEMONTE, son of John DeMonte, Esquire, and of Mary, his wife, who died at Rastadt in Germany on the 5th of February 1816 in the 22nd year of his age on his return from the Continent of Europe to India. His remains have been removed from thence to this chapel by his disconsolate parents in the year 1817.

He adorned the prosperity with which the Providence blessed him by humility, moderation, and active, though unostentatious benevolence, while his heart and hand were alike open to the cries of genuine distress or the calls of public utility, without respect to differences of religion or nation. He strikingly exemplified the injunction of the Lord Jesus Christ, "When thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth." The firm of Lys Satur and DeMonte was dissolved January 1st, 1810, and the old firm of Lantour & Co. altered to the title of Arluthnot DeMonte & Co. DUTCH CEMETERY AT PULICAT.

Pulicat (Palaiyaverkudu "the old jungle of mimosa trees" or Pavalaikkadu "the jungle of coral") is situated 25 miles north of Madras on the south bank of a lake of the same name. It is the site of one of the earliest settlements of the Dutch East India Company, who in 1609 built a fort here and named it Castel Geldria, after Gelderland, one of the States of Holland. The old Dutch cemetery is perhaps the most interesting of its kind in India; and the artistic merit of the coats of arms carved on the tombstones is such that it has been suggested that they were sent out from Holland, though no authority is known for the statement. Twenty-two of the tablets are reproduced in reduced facsimile in Mr. Rea's "Monumental Remains of the Dutch East India Company" (Archaeological Survey Series, volume XXV). The burial ground is entered by a quaint Romanesque lichgate, bearing the date 1656 and the words "Beati qui in domino moriuntur, quiescent a labore suo. Apocalyps cap. XIV. v. XIII. Salich syn se die in den Heere sterven, sy rusten van haren arbeyt." In front of each of the two gateposts stands a sculptured stone skeleton, almost life size. These figures are said to be male and female. One has a hourglass on his head and the other supports a skull on a column. The native legend is that the former figure holds an eggshell and represents a Dutch Governor who, during a terrible famine, doled out eggshells of rice to the starving poor and made a fortune out of their sufferings. His memory was so execrated that every passer-by used to spit at the effigy, and a railing was therefore placed round it. An old church and an old sun dial adjoin the cemetery. On the opposite side of the lake to Pulicat is the small hamlet of Coromandel which is popularly supposed to have given its name to the whole of the eastern coast of this Presidency. The word Coromandel is however either a corruption of Cholanmandalam "the realm of the Chola kings" or of Karumanal "the black sand" (ironstone) washed down by the Palar river and carried up the coast. Towards Sadras, especially, quantities of such sand are found on the shore.

DUTCH CEMETERY AT SADRAS.

Sadras or in Tamil Saduray is situated on the sea coast about 35 miles south of Madras. Its name was probably shaped into the usual form by a sort of conformity with Madras or Madraspatam. It was made a settlement by the Holland East India Company in 1647. Valentijn, the Dutch historian (1726), gives a fanciful derivation for the word "The name of the place is properly Sadrangapatam, but for short it is also called Sadrampatam and most commonly Sadraspatam. In the Tellinga it indicates the name of the founder, and in Persian it means 'thousand troubles' or the Shah-board which we call chess." The only historical fact of any political importance connected with it is the abortive peace conference between the French and English, which held its sittings here in January 1754. The English deputies were Messrs. Falk and Vansittart, those of the French, Father L'auver, Superior of the French Jesuits in India, M. Kerjean, Dupleix's nephew and M. Bausset, a member of council at Pondicherry. Sadras was taken by the British in 1795, but restored to the Dutch in 1818. It finally passed into British possession in 1824, along with the rest of the Dutch Settlements in India, exchanged for others lying mostly in Sumatra. The old Dutch cemetery within the Fort is still maintained in order under treaty.

KARUR.

1108	2nd April 1783.	MORGAN STANLEY and OTHERS.	This obelisk commemorates the siege of the fort at Caroor and its evacuation on the 2nd April 1783, during which operation there was sustained a loss of one officer, Lieutenant STANLEY 102nd Regiment, killed, 19 Europeans and 30 sepoy killed and wounded. In 1760 Karur, then the most important frontier post of Mysore, was captured by the English and held by a British garrison till 1768 when it was re-taken by Hyder Ali, to whom its possession was confirmed by treaty next year. In 1783 Colonel Lang held the fort for a few months, and it is this occupation that is here commemorated. It was a third time captured in 1790 by General Meadows and again restored in 1792. This oft-contested fortress passed finally into the possession of the English after the fall of Seringapatam and was abandoned as a military station in 1801. It is now a busy market town and an important centre of railway traffic. The obelisk is 2½ miles south of Karur, just beyond the village of Tanton where there is a rock temple of some local consequence. It is a heavy and inelegant monument 13 feet high and is believed to mark the site of the besiegers' camp.

CUDDAPAH TOWN CEMETERY ON THE SIDHOUT ROAD.

1109	1st Sept. 1807.	WEBB THACKERAY ...	W. THACKERAY. The stone bears no date and gives no information, but it undoubtedly marks the grave of Webb Thackeray, C.S., who died at Gundloor, 45 miles from Cuddapah, aged 19, in the first year of his service, but not before he had won notice for a clever little grammar of Hindustani in verse. He was uncle of the novelist and son of William Makepeace Thackeray, the elephant catcher of Sylhet. He was called Webb after General Webb, the victor of Wynendaal, whose rivalries with the Duke of Marlborough are commemorated in Esmond. Three of Sylhet Thackeray's twelve sons entered the Madras Civil Service. St. John Thackeray (b. 1791) was killed at Kittoor near Dharwar in an attack on the Desai's fort, October 23rd, 1824. His eldest brother William Thackeray (b. 1778) joined as writer in 1796 and was Subordinate Collector in the Ceded Districts from 1800 to 1803. He became the friend of Sir Thomas Munro and long wielded influence in Southern India as Chief Secretary and eventually Member of Council. He had the ablest pen of his day in the Madras service and his writings hold an honourable place alike in the Fifth Report and in the selections printed by the Company, 1817-21. Richmond Thackeray, B.C.S. (b. 1781), the novelist's father, went on sick leave to Madras in the first year of his India service, and it was from his brother William's house that he wrote to his mother on February 17th, 1799: "My dear Mater, it is intensely hot at Madras and I am obliged to go out in the sun. There are no palankeens here, for the bearers are all gone with the force which has taken the field against Tippoo Sultaun. I would give anything to be again at home. I would even be glad to carry gravel in a basket on my shoulder in the garden. It was this time last year we made the new walk; it will be wonderfully altered when I see it again." As Hunter remarks, the poor lad was never to see it again. "He lies for ever by a coarse brick path in a land where no gravel is found." William Makepeace Thackeray was born at Calcutta (where his father was Secretary to the Board of Revenue) on the 18th July 1811 in the house in Free School Street which is now the Armenian College; but five months later his father was appointed Collector of the 24 Pergunnahs, and it was at Alipore he lived until, on the 13th September 1815, Richmond Thackeray was borne to his last resting place in the North Park Street burying ground. Richmond's Madras brother William died on his passage to the Cape of Good Hope, January 11th, 1823, on board the Nancy .

Lieutenant George Rawson Boddam was a grandson of Rawson Hart Boddam, Governor of Bombay, 1784 to 1788, by his first wife Mary Slater, who lies buried in Bombay Cathedral, July 9th, 1762, aged 18. Governor Boddam was the youngest son of Charles Boddam, Senior, who came out to Madras as Supercargo and married Mary Hart at Fort St. George in June 1716. His elder brother Charles Boddam, Junior, married in 1754 Frances, daughter of Nicholas Morse, Governor of Madras, 1744 to 1746 (see No. 129). The Boddams originally came from North-East Rosshire, and are supposed to be descendants of a French prisoner who escaped from Edinburgh Castle.

1116	15th June and 7th July 1832.	CHARLES EDWARD and AGNES MACDONALD.	Erected by the civil officers of this station as a tribute of affection and esteem to the joint memory of CHARLES EDWARD MACDONALD, Esquire, of the Madras Civil Service, aged 24 years, a civilian of the fairest promise, who, while attempting, in the fearless and conscientious discharge of his duty, to appease by prompt and persuasive measures, the fury of a fanatic rabble of Moormen, assembled on the 15th of June 1832, in the town of Cuddapah, was though completely unarmed, attacked, deserted by all his peons and barbarously murdered. And of AGNES, his wife, who only survived him 21 days, having died on the 7th July 1832, broken hearted, in the 20th year of her age. "They were lovely in their lives and in death shall not be separated." There is a monument to his memory in the Cuddalore Church. He was a grandson of Flora Macdonald. His wife was the daughter of E. W. Stevenson, Port officer of Port Novo. Mr. J. D. B. Gribble gives the following account of his death in the District Manual: "On the 15th June 1832, the Pathans of Cuddapah, the most excitable and daring of the Cuddapah populace, descendants of the same men who had attempted to assassinate Hyder Ali at Sidhout, were in a great state of ferment. Early in the morning it was discovered that a small pig had been killed and thrown bleeding into the Jumna Musjid. It turned out afterwards that this pig was merely a bandicoot, and had been purposely placed there by a Mahomedan, aided by two Hindus. But the excited mob did not stop to consider who had done the thing. They met in the market place and in the bazaar streets; they raged and fumed, and their numbers increased every minute. By ten o'clock the crowd was so large and had worked itself into such a state of fanatical fury, that the additional Sub-Collector, Mr. Macdonald, sent off a message to the Collector Mr. Lacon, who resided at some distance from the town, telling him that he would endeavour to quiet the mob, but, if necessary, would send for the military from the cantonment.

Mr. Macdonald then got into his palankeen and went to the cutcherry where he found native subordinates assembled and in a great state of alarm. An order was at once sent for a detachment, but Macdonald was not destined to see its arrival. A letter was brought to him from a Missionary. Mr. Howell, who lived in the middle of the town, and who said that he feared an instant attack upon his house. Macdonald, in spite of the protestations of the cutcherry officials, at once determined to do his best to help the missionary. He went into the bazaar accompanied only by a few peons. A naick and some of the treasury guard sepoys followed him, but it is probable that their presence served only still more to excite the crowd. Macdonald had scarcely reached the bazaar before he was attacked and cut down. His revenue peons ran away, but the guard tried to defend him and shared his fate. The last blow is said to have been dealt by a Pathan butcher; but after this had been dealt, the mob was taken aback. It had assembled quickly, but it dissolved at once; in a few minutes there was no one to be seen in the streets, and the only signs of the outbreak were the dead bodies of Macdonald and the faithful sepoy guard. After a time the military came and the tardy Collector, but all they could do was to carry back poor Macdonald's body in his palankeen. The Collector endeavoured to magnify this into a preconcerted rising of the Mahomedans with intent to massacre all the European residents, but it is clear that it was nothing more than a sudden outburst of fanaticism to which Macdonald generously, but injudiciously, exposed himself."

1117	14th April 1833.	CHARLES MATTHEW WHISH.	CHARLES MATTHEW WHISH, Esquire, of the Civil Service, who departed this life on the 14th April 1833, aged 38 years. Brother of John Clinton Whish, C.S., who left a legacy to build the well-known Whish's choultry at Guntoor. Another Whish, Martin Thomas, was in the Bengal Civil Service, 1809-21, and died at Almora, May 19th, 1821.
1118	17th May 1838.	HENRY TURNER BUSHBY.	HENRY TURNER BUSHBY, of the Madras Civil Service, aged 44 years. He married Lucy Ann Jeffreys, May 28th, 1818. Their son is Henry Jeffreys Bushby, the well-known London Police Magistrate, who was for some time in the B.C.S. The Bushbys furnish a pathetic instance of four brothers dying in India. Besides Nos. 726 and 879, Lieutenant J. S. Bushby, M.N.I., died at Mominabad, April 4th, 1827 (see No. 2295)
1119	10th Sept. 1845.	ROBERT DEAN ODELL.	Lient.-Colonel ROBERT DEAN ODELL, 25th M.N.I., aged 42 years. He married Miss Sophia Matilda Dobbin, June 8th, 1820.
1120	2nd Jan. 1859.	JOHN THOMPSON ...	Sacred to the memory of JOHN THOMPSON, Assistant Superintendent, Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co.'s Indigo Factories, who died at Cuddapah on the 2nd January 1859, aged 42 years. The district indigo is still known in the London market under the name of karpah indigo. The trade is now entirely in the hands of native merchants.

1122	30th Mar. 1877.	CHARLES VERE STA- PLETON COTTON.	C. V. S. COTTON, Assistant Engineer, Bengal Public Works Department, son of Col. H. C. Cotton, Royal Madras Engineers, who fell a victim to small-pox in attending the famine sufferers at Rayachoti, aged 33 years.

Son of Hugh Calveley Cotton, who married Louisa, daughter of James Brodie, M.C.S., and died in 1881, aged 83. He was nephew of General Sir Sydney John Cotton, G.C.B. (1792-1874), who died while Governor of Chelsea Hospital, aged 82; of Richard Lynch Cotton, D.D. (1794-1880), Provost of Worcester College, Oxford, who died at the age of 86; of Charles Robert Cotton, M.C.S. (1796-1873), who lived to be 77; of Admiral Francis Vere Cotton (1799-1884), who died, aged 85; and of Sir Arthur Cotton, K.C.S.I., C.B. (1803-1899), the famous Canal Engineer, who survived till the age of 96. The longevity of these six brothers, aggregating to 509 years, is probably without a parallel. The oldest brother, Rev. H. C. Cotton died, aged 71: and another brother General Frederick Conyers Cotton born in 1807 died in 1902. Of the family of eleven brothers three only died young.

GANJAM CEMETERY.

This little graveyard is picturesquely situated near the ruined fort of Ganjam which was built in 1768 by Mr. Edward Cotsford, the first Resident, at one time a Captain of Engineers, who had seen service on the Manila expedition. Cotsford was a man of considerable energy, and his vigorous administration called forth the following remark in Hickey's "Gazette", November 17th, 1780: "Mr. Whitehill's private and public character is so despicable as to render him unworthy a moment's consideration. The times require a Cotsford at the head of our Presidency; they require not only an honest but a sensible man." The most historic tomb in this cemetery has unfortunately disappeared. It is that of Alexander Macrabie, the brother-in-law and devoted Private Secretary of Philip Francis, whom he accompanied to India in 1774. Next year he found himself Sheriff of Calcutta, and it was part of his duty to carry out the execution of Nuncomar. He fell ill in August 1776 and was sent to sea; but getting worse, landed at Ganjam, where he lingered till November 29th, 1776. He had just been appointed to a Writership in the Bengal Service. No trace of his grave is now discernible. Macrabie kept a diary of his life in India, extracts from which found a place in the Memoirs of Francis, who preserved it among his own papers. The visit to Madras in September 1774 is characteristically described. The party disembarked from the Ashburnham while the "sun flamed in the zenith" and were honoured with much military parade and firing of salutes. "We were received like the fallen angels in a little hell of our own." Mr. Wynch, the Governor, and the small social world showed them profuse hospitality, having ready for them on the very first evening a concert, assembly and supper, where the newly-arrived ladies, "by exciting different passions in the two sexes, did all the mischief they could desire." "Fort St. George," it was observed, "does not abound with pretty women, though it may boast with some reason of Mrs. Johnson. The appearance of the ladies even before country dances is more ardent than luminous. When the minuets are ended, they go home with their partners to undress, and after a little refreshment return again in the purest innocence of muslin and the simplicity of a nightgown." See Mrs. C. F. Keary's "Correspondence of Francis" and Dr. Basteed's "Echoes from old Calcutta." "The loss," says Mr. Merivale, "of this clever, lively, unselfish and most attached dependant evidently affected Francis keenly. There is something very touching in Macrabie's numerous letters to his chief during his absence, addressed to his 'dearest and best friend,' wishing him once more all happiness, and assuring him 'sick or well, I am yours with the truest affection.' He seems not only to have loved his brother-in-law as a friend, but to have worshipped him almost as an idol." Until 1815 Ganjam continued to be the head-quarters of the district and a military station, but in that year it was visited by an epidemic of fever which almost depopulated the place and led to its total abandonment in favour of Berhampore. The decaying fort, the pillars of the Judge's house and the old parade ground are all that remain of a station which was once famous for the magnificence of its European residences.

1124	25th June 1774.	CHRISTINA and EDWARD DE MORGAN.	In memory of CHRISTINA DE MORGAN obiit 25th of June 1774 in the xx year of her age. Demeruit vitam tua virtus optima coniux. Vita brevi perii, recreet te vita perennis. Also in memory of their dear child EDWARD DE MORGAN obiit 18th September 1774. Edward De Morgan was baptized at Fort St. George, August 1773; his brother John, baptized December 1772, married Miss Dodson in 1798, and became the father of the great mathematician Augustus. Captain Augustus De Morgan, Christina's husband, was killed before Pondicherry, October 1778, aged 39 (see No. 827). Christina De Morgan was the daughter of the Rev. George Conrad Hüttemann of Tranquebar. Her sister Elizabeth married Jacob Pietersz, member of the Dutch Council at Negapatam; and another Sophia, the Rev. C. W. Gericke (see Nos. 334 and 1802).
1125	16th Sept. 1785.	JOHN MAXWELL STONE.	To the memory of JOHN MAXWELL STONE, Esquire, chief of this settlement, obiit 16th September 1785, aged 50 years. (Coat of Arms.) Stone was grandson and heir of the Hon. John Maxwell, second son of John, third Earl of Nithisdale. He married Mary Seale, July 20th, 1757. He entered the service in 1755, was Member of Council in 1774, and in 1777 was recalled by order of the Court of Directors. His daughter Anne married Robert Maunsell, afterwards chief of Ganjam. His son John Frottere Stone died at Madras in 1789 (No. 166).

1282	25th May 1833.	HENRY MUNN ...	Lieut. Colonel H. MUNN, 14th Regiment M.N.I., aged 5 years. Colonel Walter Campbell when a Lieutenant in H.M.'s 62nd Regiment, writes of Masulipatam in August of this year "So great has been the mortality that the Surgeon has requested the Colonel to let the dead be buried quietly without music or firing, as the almost daily repetition of the dead march has a very depressing effect on the patients in hospital." He speaks of the Fort "as originally built by the Dutch on a patch of dry ground surrounded by swamp, which no living creature, but a Dutchman, a frog or an alligator would ever have chosen for his habitation. Welsh, who was Fort Adjutant and Postmaster there in 1799, says: "The soldier's description of it is extremely apposite that there is only a sheet of brown paper between it and Pandemonium."

			of an improved learning in this interesting and important part of the Madras Presidency. Masulipatam bids fair to become to the Northern Circars more than Oxford or Cambridge have been to the United Kingdom." Noble's life was written in 1867 by his brother Rev. John Noble, Rector of Nether Broughton. It is a curious coincidence that the founder of the Masulipatam Mission should bear the same name as Robert deNobili, the father of the Madura Mission. The Noble Memorial College occupies the site of the former Collector's office, overwhelmed by the storm-wave of 1864.
1292	31st May 1881.	CHARLES JOHN CROSTHWAITE.	CHARLES JOHN CROSTHWAITE, M.C.S., who died at Masulipatam from the effects of fever, aged 41 years.

Boileau, Circuit Judge of the Northern Circars, born May 9th, 1850. His grandfather, Thomas Ebenezzer John Boileau, died February 8th, 1853. He married, firstly December 26th, 1817, Mary Anne, only daughter of A. Miller, Surgeon, and secondly July 4th, 1832, Ellen, nee Neale, widow of Colonel E. Conry (No. 346). Colonel A. J. M. Boileau died at Cuddalore, August 8th, 1871. He married, January 31st, 1849, Lucy, daughter of E. Smalley, C.S. (see No. 1827).

MASULIPATAM FORT CEMETERY.

The Fort is now a melancholy ruin deserted except for the Port officer's bungalow. Till late in the last century Masulipatam or Bunder, to give it its popular native name, was the seaport where troops disembarked and took the high road for the Deccan stations. The town is a mile and a half from the Fort, a paved causeway across a swamp connecting the two.

1294	Sept. 1787.	WILLIAM BLACKER ...	[Captain WILLIAM BLACKER, Commandant of the Seventh Battalion of the Coast Native Infantry.] Urquhart, who prints the following epitaph to his memory :— " Ye ardent youths, aspiring after fame, Whose bosoms kindle at a soldier's name; Ye laurel'd veterans, who have often stood Nobly intrepid, in the field of blood. Ye social tempers, who delight to bless, Alive to love, to friendship and distress; Whose fervid hearts—few such does heaven bestow— With ev'ry gen'rous manly virtue glow; Ye who maintain, while spotless honour binds, The dignity of independent minds, Join o'er this grave, a kindred spirit prize, And drop a tear where BLACKER's body lies." Presumably related to Colonel Valentine Blacker, c.b., the historian of the Maharatta War (1817–21), who was originally in the Madras Light Cavalry and subsequently Quarter-master-General of the Madras Army. He died February 4th, 1826, aged 40, and is buried in South Park Street Cemetery, Calcutta, near Major-General "Hindoo" Stuart (d. 1828), whose tomb is the model of a Hindoo temple.
1295	11th Dec. 1789.	ANN BANKS ...	Sacred to the memory of my beloved wife ANN BANKS who departed this life in the bloom of youth, aged 18 years and 8 months. Not once but twice the fatal arrow flew. My infant daughter first and then the mother slew.

1296	21st Jan. 1790.	ANN BRITAIN ...	Here lieth the body of Mrs. ANN BRITAIN, who departed this life the 21st day of January 1790, in the 27th year of her age. Her husband Samuel Britain was a free merchant.
1297	27th April 1795.	CHARLES FRASER ...	Here lies the body of Colonel CHARLES FRASER, aged 56 years, who died at Masulipatam in command of the Northern division of the Army. This stone is inscribed with filial reverence and affection by his son HASTINGS, 1814. See Nos. 174, 299, 803 and 1639. The deceased had six sons and three daughters, of whom the eldest, born at Vellore August 25th, 1771, was so named after Warren Hastings, at that time a Madras Member of Council. Hastings Fraser fought at Seringapatam and commanded a brigade at the taking of the island of Bourbon in 1810. He died as a General in 1854 etat. 83. His youngest brother General J. S. Fraser became Resident at Hyderabad.

H.S.E. integer et urbanus, cui summæ fuerunt animi dotes quas ad extremum fovit, machinarum mirus artifex, necnon in literis humanioribus ac musicis versatus, MICHAEL TOPPING, mathematicus admodum solers; ingenii multa quidem pignora posteris reliquit et missus in has regiones astronomiam excolere, societatis mercaturæ in India orientali faciendæ sumptibus, speculam sideralem iuxta sancti Georgii arcem formavit et posuit; officio functo promittens maiora occubuit febri, Jany. 7 A.D. 1796, etat 48. According to Urquhart "his death was occasioned by a malignant fever, the consequence of over-exertion in a survey of the northern tanks, after a severe inundation." He came out to Madras as Government Astronomer and gave the first idea of the Godavari anicut, which Sir Arthur Cotton revived with such admirable success. He was the author of several able reports, one of which, being a journal of the first survey of Coringa harbour (1789), is quoted in Mr. Henry Morris' "Godavari Manual." William Hodges, R.A., in his "Book of Travels in India during the years 1780 to 1783," gives an engraving of the great pagoda at Tanjore stating that the picture is one which he painted from an accurate drawing made by Mr. Topping "an ingenious friend of mine now on a survey of the coast of Coromandel for the E.I. Company." Cecil Smith, C.S., married Miss Eliza Topping, May 10th, 1793.
1299	30th Mar. 1797.	CHARLOTTE NEWBERRY.	Mrs. CHARLOTTE NEWBERRY, aged 35 years. Her husband Stephen Newberry was a Conductor of Ordnance, who married Charlotte Collins at Madras, December 31st, 1782.

Two of his brothers served in this Presidency; Thomas Townshend, Madras Engineers, born 1809, who rose to be Major-General, K.C.B., and Military Secretary at the India Office, and died in 1893; and Arnold Christian, Lieutenant-Colonel, Madras Artillery, born 1811, died at Bath, May 15th, 1891, who was Postmaster-General of Madras from 1859 to 1872. T. T. Pears sent two sons to India; Maurice, B.C.S., and Thomas, now Lieutenant-Colonel and Resident in Nepal. A. C. Pears was the father of Stuart Durand and Arthur Grant Pears, both of the P.W.D.
1315	29th June and 28th July 1827.	JAMES WILLIS ... ROBERT GARRAWAY.	Lieutenant J. WILLIS, 38th N.I., who died on the 29th June and Lieutenant and Quarter Master R. GARRAWAY, who died on the 8th July 1827 These are the only tombs of this year extant. Mr. Mackenzie writes in his manual: "Court-martial records have preserved a tragic story of a young officer killing another with a billiard cue here in 1827." The former mess house with a small theatre is now used as the station club.

CYCLONE MONUMENT IN THE FORT, MASULIPATAM.

1316	1st Nov. 1864.	ANTHONY FRUVALL and OTHERS.	This monument commemorates the melancholy fate of ANTHONY and MARY FRUVALL, their sons, JOSEPH, MICHAEL PETER, MANUEL and DANIEL, their daughter, MARY ANN HONEY and her children JOSEPH and GEORGIANA, and about 30,000 souls, who were all unexpectedly swept into eternity by the ocean wave which desolated this town on the night of the cyclone of 1st November 1864. Manuel Fruvall anxious to pay a tribute of affection to the memory of his brother and family and to express his cordial sympathy with his surviving fellow-citizens, has caused this pillar to be erected on the very spot where his relatives perished (which for years had been their happy home) to perpetuate the remembrance of this awful event and to serve at the same time as a lasting memorial of the grateful feelings with which he and the entire population recognise the unceasing and noble-hearted exertions of their worthy Chief Magistrate, G. Thornhill, Esquire, to console the survivors and relieve as far as human succour could avail the distress of the inhabitants. O ye seas and rivers bless ye the Lord, praise and exalt him above all for ever.—Dan. III, 78.

The text is from the Song of the Three Holy Children in the Fire, which appears in the Apocrypha as part of the third chapter of Daniel. Manuel Fruvall was a shop-keeper, and there are persons of his name buried at Hyderabad. Shortly after the cyclone a traditional land mark at Bunder disappeared in the shape of "Eliza's Tree." Eliza Draper, Sterne's correspondent, had stayed at Masulipatam with her uncle John Whitehill, after her elopement from Daniel Draper's house at Mazagon, Bombay, on July 12th, 1773, and spent much of her time under this tree, which was the general resort of the station "to eat the air" both in her day and long afterwards. An unsupported Masulipatan tradition describes Mrs. Draper as a fair Eurasian with dark eyes. She was the daughter of May Seluter, a Bombay factor, and his wife, a Miss Whitehill, and was born at Anjengo, April 5th, 1744. John Whitehill, her uncle, was chief of Masulipatam from October 28th to December 11th, 1773, and again from April 22nd, 1774, to January 29th, 1776. He acted twice as Governor of Madras for short periods in 1777 and 1780, and obtained an inauspicious notoriety in connection with the Nuzveed Zemindary scandal, which led in 1783 to the introduction of a bill of pains and penalties against him in Parliament.

TOMB AT ENGLISHPALEM, MASULIPATAM.

1317 25th Aug. JOHN ROWLAND ... Here lyeth interred the body of JOHN ROWLAND, who departed this life the 25th of August 1701.

The first English Settlement at Masulipatam was in 1611. In August 1699 Mr. Thomas Pitt, "Pyrott Pitt," landed there as Agent for the new East India Company and assumed the title of President of the Coromandel Coast and Consul for the King of England. In 1700 the old Company resolved to re-establish a Chief and Council there and despatched a force of twenty-four soldiers with a Lieutenant, Sergeant and Corporal. Rowland was probably one of the party. His tomb is in the quarter of the town called Englishpalem, which was the site of the H.E.I.C.'s factory, as Frenchpeta and Valandupalem were of the French and Dutch Companies. There are other tombs there which were repaired and cemented over some years ago. Rowland's is the only inscription now legible. Tradition has it that Captain Alexander Callender (District Manual, pages 61 et seq.) is buried there. He was one of the heroes of Forde's capture of Masulipatam from De Conflans in 1761. At the hour fixed for the assault, he mysteriously vanished, but reappeared when the contest was at its height and fell by the last shot fired.

1318 29th Aug. JACOB DEDEL ... Hier leyt begraven den E. JACOB DEDEL in syn leven Raetvan in dienst ende opperhoofd te water ende te lande over de Nederlandtse E. Comp deser eust Coromandel overleden den 29 Augusty Anno 1624.

"Here lies buried the Honorable Jacob Dedel, in his life councillor in the service and chief by land and by water of the Netherlands East India Company on the Coromandel Coast, died August 29th, 1624." This is the oldest Dutch inscription in the Madras Presidency, if not in India. It is inscribed on a detached tomb in the old parade ground within the Fort.

Mr. Gordon Mackenzie writes in the "Kistna Manual" as follows:—"The site where the Dutch had their villa residences is still known as Valandupalem, a corruption of Hollandpalem, and their burial-ground is in a corner of the compound of a bungalow behind the Collector's office. It contains several tombstones in very good preservation. The stone is the hard nāpa rāyi on which the Hindoos carve their inscriptions, but the Dutch must have had a trained stonemason, for almost every stone bears a coat-of-arms, executed with considerable skill. Even the gravestone of an obscure Schipper or sea captain probably not of a degree to bear coat armour, has an effigy of the deceased with the three-cornered hat and long coat, familiar in old illustrations, reminding one that this Dutch skipper was a contemporary of those bold mariners, Gulliver and Robinson Crusoe." The graves are enclosed by a good masonry wall, but some inscriptions have disappeared before that destructive personage, the village herdsboy, who, stone in hand, delights to chip off the raised letters that tell of the virtues of long buried merchants and their vrouws." Other stones have been carried off by dhobies for beating clothes. The five inscriptions quoted by Mr. Mackenzie are reproduced here, together with the complete text of the other Dutch epitaphs, as prepared by Mr. Robert Morris, Collector of Kistna, and Rev. Father van de Westelaken.

So that here lie, one father, one mother,
One sistor, four brothers,
Two men and two wives,
But not more than six lives."

The records of Fort St. George mention that in 1687 there was a great contagion at Masulipatam, which may account for some of these deaths. The whole family must have been swept away by the pestilence, for the charitable friend who wrote the inscription did not know their exact ages. Daetcherom and Palicoll are in the Godavari district.

ARMENIAN TOMBS AT MASULIPATAM.

In the "Azdarrar," the first Armenian newspaper published at Madras from 1794—6, there are frequent references to the Armenians of Masulipatam and the periodical visits of the Armenian priests of Madras there. At the commencement of the wars with Hyder, the Armenian community of Madras had divided into three parts, one settling at Negapatam and Seringapatam, another at Masulipatam, where they erected a church about 1782, and the third remaining at Madras. See Mr. Seth's "History of the Armenians in India."

			who chose to come to it. He had a cellar or godown, as it is there styled, full of the choicest liquors, and amongst the rest, pipes of Madeira of various ages, slung by ropes from the roof, to which he decreed an 'Europe voyage' as he called it, every time the door was opened, by making a servant swing them about for some minutes. His wine was never fined, and seldom bottled, but drawn for immediate use. He was a man of few words, and directed his servants by snapping his fingers, or by whistling. A native of Savoy, or Portugal, of a diminutive form, being under the middle size, with a visage more resembling a baboon than the human species, and manners the most uncouth and outré, Colonel Martinz was still the father of his corps, and the kind friend of all his little community; and to sum up his character in a few words, was generally known, much beloved, and wanted only the outward forms of religion to be universally respected and esteemed" (see No. 1272).

1393	9th Oct. 1813.	EUGENIE CHERRY ...	Here lie the mortal remains of EUGENIE, wife of GEORGE F. CHERRY Esquire, who left this world for a better on the 9th October 1813. Possessed of every amiable quality which could call forth love and esteem and eminently gifted with those qualifications which claim respect, she was an affectionate wife, a faithful friend, and truly good woman. This tribute of respect to her memory is erected by a mournful husband. Mr. Cherry died at Combaconam, February 10th, 1827. He was eldest son of John Hector Cherry, acting Governor of Bombay in 1802. Mr. Cherry and "Mrs. Bridget Josephine Eugenie Irwin were united in holy matrimony according to the rubric of the Church of England this 2nd day of June 1812 at half past ten o'clock A.M. by R. Andrews, Assistant Magistrate. Witnesses J. S. Sullivan (C.S.), John G. Turnbull (C.S.), Lieut.-Col. Shakespear, U. O. Snakespear." She was the widow of William Irwin, a Madras civilian, who died childless, September 2nd, 1810, off Malacca. Her previous marriage took place at Karikal, April 20th, 1802, when she is described as Mlle Eugenie du Perron, daughter of the late Colonel du Perron of the Regiment of Pondicherry (No. 1374.) Her first husband's father was the well-known Eyles Irwin (1751-1817), who married Honor Brooke. He was dismissed from the service in consequence of the part he played in denouncing the deposition of Governor Pigot, but returned to Madras with Lord Macartney, whom he afterwards accompanied on the embassy to China. He was one of the first to take the overland route. He wrote two volumes of travels and innumerable books of poetry of the age, and was a friend of Hayley. His parents were James Irwin, H.E.I.C.S., of Hazeleigh, and Sarah Beale, daughter of Mary Beale "from St. Helena," baptized at Calcutta, February 28th, 1728, and buried at St. Helena, September 8th, 1792. Robert Maplettoft, Chaplain of Fort William, 1750–77, one of the most interesting persons in the ecclesiastical history of Bengal. Maplettoft's portrait hangs in the vestry room of St. John's Church, Calcutta. He went through the siege by Surajah-ud-Doulah, only to die at Fulta of his sufferings. He and his wife are honourably mentioned by Holwell. Mr. Hyde in his "Parish of Bengal" informs us that Mrs. Maplettoft "upheld the cause of the Pretender to her latest days and used, so tradition says, to fling a pinch of snuff over her shoulder in contempt of the Hanoverians, when King George was prayed for in Church."
1395	9th Mar. 1819.	FRANCIS ELLIS.	WHYTE Lieut. and Adjutant HENRY MILLER of the 4th N.V. Bn., who served the Honorable Company 28 years. He was a sincere Christian and an affectionate husband, whom it pleased God to call away at the age of 48 on the 25th April in the year of our Lord 1817. This tribute of affection is erected by his disconsolate and affectionate wife Ann Miller. Henry Miller married Ann Akin, November 8th, 1791. FRANCIS WHYTE ELLIS, Esquire, of the Madras Civil Service, whose valuable life was suddenly terminated by a fatal accident at this place, on the 9th March 1819 in the 41st year of his age. Uniting activity of mind with versatility of genius, he displayed the same ardour and happy sufficiency on whatever his varied talents were employed. Conversant with the Hindu Languages and Literature of the Peninsula, he was loved and esteemed by the natives of India with whom he associated intimately, and his kind and playful disposition endeared him to his own countrymen among whom he was distinguished no less by his capacity as a public servant than by a mind fraught with intelligence and information, and alive to every object of interest or utility. The College of Fort St. George which owes its existence to him is a lasting memorial of his reputation as an oriental scholar, and this stone has been erected as a tribute of the affectionate regard of his European and Native friends. 			On the other side of this monument is the inscription in Tamil, a translation of which follows: "Sacred to the memory of him called ELLIS who entered into his rest, to the deep sorrow of the Goddess of Earth, on the 9th March 1819 A.D. (1741 of the Salivahana Era) at Muhavai, otherwise called Ramnad, during one of his tours from Madras to the districts of the South. He was deeply learned in the English language, that language which spreads like a creeper penetrating into every nook and corner of the world. In his profound learning, he shone like a sun, wherever he went, dispelling the darkness of ignorance. He was well versed not only in the 3 kinds of Tamil, but also in Sanscrit His Tamil was as sweet as fresh ambrosia; he translated into English all that bore upon litigation and morals in the Code of Manu. He wrote a wonderful version in English on the first part of the sacred "Kural" of Tiruvalluvar which treats of virtue. Again, he translated into English inscriptions on stones and copper plates reciting the mutual duties of Kings and of their subjects. He caused 27 wells and tanks to be dug that people might be benefited." He arrived in India in 1796 and was all his life a great oriental scholar. Sir Walter Elliott in presenting to the Library of the India Office a valuable Tamil manuscript, the Tembavani of Beschi, obtained by Mr. Ellis, gives the following account of him in the pages of the "Athenæum": "For upwards of twenty years he devoted all his spare time to the cultivation of Sanscrit and the various dialects peculiar to Southern India. Having determined to publish nothing until he had exhausted every available source of information, he had amassed a vast amount of material, the elaboration of which would have shed a flood of light on the still obscure history of that region, and likewise anticipated much of the knowledge of its philology and literature which recent researches have brought to light. When his task was almost completed, he undertook a journey to Madura, the Athens of the South, for the elucidation of some minor details and resided for some time with Mr. Rous Peter, the Collector of the district. During a short excursion to Ramnad, in the same province, he accidentally swallowed some poison and died on March 10th, 1819. No one was at hand who understood or cared for his pursuits. His ordinary tangible property was sold by auction at Madura and Madras under instructions from the Administrator-General, but all his papers were lost or destroyed."

1418	11th Sept. 1855.	HENRY VALENTINE CONOLLY.	HENRY VALENTINE CONOLLY, many years Collector and Magistrate of Malabar and Provisional Member of Council. His European and Native friends in Malabar, loving and admiring his public and private virtues, have united to raise this slight memorial of his eminent worth and Christian character. Conolly married firstly a Miss Jane Moorsom, September 24th, 1830. She died in 1835 and he married secondly, February 22nd, 1841, Anne, only daughter of C. Birch, of Dublin. He was murdered at 9 P.M. by Moplahs, who came from behind into the verandah where he was seated with his wife reading their newly-arrived mail letters. His death led to a sanguinary struggle, in which the native troops were defeated and English soldiers had to take the field to crush the insurrection. H. V. Conolly was the brother of Arthur Conolly who perished at Bokhara. Their father Valentine Conolly was a Madras Surgeon. An advertisement of the auction of his bungalow on Choultry Plain by Robert Henderson appears in the Madras "Courier" for August 14th, 1799, the oldest number in the possession of the Connemara Library.

This Peter Vanspall married Joanna Groenroode, the widow of George Fischer (d. 1812). See No. 1747.

ANJENGO FORT.

The best description of Anjengo is that given in the Reminiscences of Colonel James Welsh, who was nearly drowned in the many rivers he had to cross to get there in 1819: "This place once so famous in Eastern History is now fast going to decay; the fort on the sea-shore resembled that of Tuticorine, being a commodious square, with the interior completely occupied by a capital Government House and other public buildings, all of which tottering to their foundations have been lately sold for the materials, and are now dilapidated. I put up in a small Portuguese house on the backwater, immediately under the eastern face of the fort, and said to be the very house in which Eliza Draper was born; but which, like all the rest of the place, bore evident marks of better days. Sic transit gloria mundi. The remembrance of the Abbé Raynal's apostrophe to Sterne's Eliza from his History of India, made me somewhat desirous of beholding this place; but time has now left no trace of a woman, whose name has been most capriciously handed down to posterity by two eccentric priests, who might have employed their talents on a much better subject, so far as we can learn at this distant period. Still, in spite of my disapprobation of Lawrence Sterne's heroine, I found myself mechanically led to seek some relique and actually robbed a broken window of two or three pieces of oyster shell, in memento of my visit to the birth place of Eliza Draper. Another century, and even the site of the house will be washed away, or mingled with promiscuous ruins; while Sterne's writings will last to the end of this sublunary sphere; a proof to after-ages of his transcendant wit, his energetic feelings, and, I am sorry to add, his unfortunate depravity." Eliza Draper was the daughter of May Selater, a Bombay factor, who married a Miss Whitehill. She was born at Anjengo, April 5th, 1744, and educated in England. On July 28th, 1758, when little more than 14, she married Daniel Draper, Secretary to the Bombay Government, a man 20 years her senior; and in 1768 paid a visit to England with him and her two children. It was there that Sterne met her at Commodore James' house in Soho. Two years later she returned to India and lived with Mr. Draper at Tellicherry and Surat, of which places he was Chief. But her married life was not a happy one, and she eloped from his residence at Mazagon near Bombay on January 12th, 1773, and sought refuge with her maternal uncle at Masulipatam, where she gave her name to Eliza's Tree. She died on August 3rd, 1778, at Bristol and has a monument in the Cathedral cloisters. An article in Hickey's "Gazette" describes her as a native of St. Helena, but apparently without foundation. Another celebrity born at Anjengo was the historian Orme, once Fourth in Council at Madras. His father was a physician who rose to be Chief of the factory, and his son was born on Christmas Day, 1728. James Forbes, F.R.S., grandfather of the well-known Montalembert, was Resident of Anjengo in 1772 and describes it at length in his Oriental Memoirs. His engraving of it, taken from the sea, shows the cemetery on the beach with its tall white monuments. Thirty of these have no inscription, but one of them certainly marks the resting place of J. Whitehill, a relative of Eliza's, who was Chief from 1759 to 1769, and died in the latter year. The massive laterite fort is still standing and in a good state of preservation.

			Deborah Brabourn's two little children are buried at Fort St. George, 1708. Her husband John Brabourn married secondly Ann Bright, June 28th, 1705 (see No. 50).
1481	1777	JOHN TORLEPE	JOHN TORLEPE. This appears to have been the name inscribed on the slab opposite Deborah Brabourn's. The stone is now worn perfectly smooth. John Torlepe was second Resident of Anjengo, the Chiefship having been reduced to a Residency in 1776.

ANJENGO CEMETERY.

1482	11th May 1726.	MARY WALKER	... Here lieth interred the body of MARY WALKER, wife of SAMUEL WALKER, who departed this life the 11th May 1726, aged 27.
1483	25th Nov. 1773.	ANNE WRENCH	... Here lieth the body of ANNE WRENCH, who departed this life Nov. 25th Anno 1773, aged 87. The loss of one let us good people deplore So famed for virtue, piety, charity and more, Formed in mind without a single fault, Scarce any body is free from envy but in part. Can any one pass by this lifeless tomb Without reflecting how short it is to come That everybody must follow her ere soon or late. To live and be like her may wish to be their fate. P. E. Wrench was Chief of Anjengo from 1769 to 1774.

This slab was recovered from the site of the old fort of Chetwai (about 4 miles south of Chowgat in the Ponnani taluk) by some Moplas who took it to their mosque. Mr. Logan, Collector of Malabar and author of the District Manual, had it removed to the Deputy Tahsildar's office, and it now lies in the compound of that building.

PORTUGUESE TOMBS IN THE CHURCH OF ST. FRANCIS, COCHIN.

Cochin was first visited by Portuguese ships under Admiral Cabral on December 24th, 1500, when the Rajah of Cochin gave the strangers leave to trade. Vasco de Gama came in 1502 and left some of his men. In 1503 Alphonso Albuquerque arrived with a fleet of six sail and commenced the Fort St. Emmanuel. The Franciscan friars who accompanied his expedition built a small wooden chapel, on the site of which the stone church of St. Francis (Francis of Assisi 1182) was afterwards erected. On January 8th, 1663, the Dutch took Cochin and converted the Franciscan church into their own place of worship and turned the cathedral of Santa Cruz into a sugar warehouse. The Dutch occupation lasted 132 years. In 1795, on the conquest of Holland by the French, the place was besieged and captured by Major Petrie. In 1806 for strategic reasons the English blew up the cathedral.

The armorial bearings are well preserved and the first quarterings somewhat resemble the original arms of the Gama family which, since Vasco da Gama, are quartered with the Quinas or national banner of Portugal. Vasco da Gama, Conde da Vidigueira, Almirante, Visorrei das Indias, died in the town of Cochin on the morning of Christmas day 1524 and was buried with great pomp in this church, then the principal chapel of the Franciscan monastery dedicated to St. Anthony. Fourteen years later the mortal remains of the discoverer of the Cape route to India were removed to Portugal by his fifth son Pedro da Silva da Gama and deposited at Vidigueira. Here they rested till 1872 when they were carried to Lisbon to be deposited in the Portuguese Pantheon.

This stone now lying in the porch was found buried 2 feet below the ground and broken in several places. Estevam is the Portuguese form of Stephen. The best known Padre Estevam is Thomas Stephens, S.J., of New College, Oxford, Rector of the College at Salsette, the first Englishman to actually visit India (1579). His letters to his father which are still extant aroused great enthusiasm in England and led to the opening up of direct trade with India.

TABLETS IN THE CHURCH OF ST. FRANCIS, COCHIN.

1532	28th Oct. 1894.	ALFRED SEALY.	FORBES Rev. ALFRED FORBES SEALY, M.A., of Caius College, Cambridge, late Director of Public Instruction in the Cochin State and Principal of Ernakulam College for 25 years. He was the zealous Lay Trustee and finally the beloved Minister of this Church. Endeared to all classes of society by his loving sympathy, he "fell on sleep" suddenly on the first anniversary of his ordination, Sunday 28th October 1894, aged 63 years. This memorial is erected by his friends. It is to Mr. Sealy that the preservation of the Dutch and Portuguese tombstones of Cochin is largely due. He had the different monuments collected and planted against the walls of the church and careful facsimiles of the inscriptions taken.

1543	20th Aug. 1815.	CHARLES BIDDULPH.	CHARLES BIDDULPH, Esq., Captain of H.M. ship Volage . He was second son of Sir Theophilus Biddulph of Burbury in Warwickshire and having made choice of the navy for his profession, he was brought up under the patronage of the late Admiral Sir Samuel Hood. Having, after a life spent in the service of his King and country, just attained the rank of Post Captain, he fell a martyr to a pulmonary complaint caught in the execution of his duty at the early age of 28, and has left his country to deplore the loss of a most active, zealous and excellent officer and his relations and friends a most benevolent, truly upright and honourable man. He died off Cochin on the 20th of August 1815. His first cousin William, a Captain in the B.N.I., married, April 14th, 1841, the eldest daughter of Dr. Nathaniel Wallick, the well-known Botanist and Curator of the Company's Garden at Calcutta. Sir Samuel Hood is buried at Madras (see No. 341).

Hier rust ter zaligen opstanding de waardige overblyfzels van de weleleden Heer en mejuffrouw WOLFF, beide deugdzaam echtelieden. De eerste gend. geboren den 31 Maart. 1748 overleden den 13 Sep. 1815, en de tweede gend. Geboren den 22 Maart. 1760 en overleden den 15 Nov. 1820.
1545	22nd April 1824.	ARTHUR FRITH ...	Lient.-Colonel ARTHUR FRITH, aged 57 years. Commanding 2nd Batt. 1st N.I. He died at the Bolghotty Residency, which occupies the site of the Dutch Biergarten. On September 11th, 1811, he married Miss Jane Ellis Kerr.

COMPOUND OF THE PORT OFFICE, PARADE ROAD.

1546	8th Aug. 1524.	SIMEON DE MIRANDA.	En esta sepultura iaz SIMEÃO DE MIRANDA ffº de Fyº de Mirãda e de Dona Cecilia d'Azambuja q̃ faleceo a 8 d'Agosto de 1524. (Coat of arms.) "In this tomb lies Simeon de Miranda, son of Francisco de Miranda and Dona Cecilia d' Azambuja who died on the August 8th, 1524." The oldest European tombstone in South India, brought to light while digging the foundations of the new Port office. The inscription is written in a crabbed character, most difficult to read.
1547	10th June 1641.	MANOEL DE CEABRA ..	Sepultura do R. P. Doctor na santa theologia MANOEL DE CEABRA mestre e schola nesta Santa Se e Thezoreiro Mõr apresentado. Faleceo sendo Governador Provisor e Vigario geral deste Bispado a 10 de Junho de 1641. There were four grades among Canons: Deão (Dean), Cantre, Thezoureiro Mor (=Major), and Mestre Schola. The deceased was at the time of his death Vicar-General, the Bishop being D. Fr. Miguel da Cruz Rangel, who died in 1646. The tombstone has been reburied, where found, under the gate-wall of the Port office. It has a very fine coat of arms with cross keys.
1548	UNDATED	LOBO DA GAMA ...	Aqui iaz nesta S. Rva LOBO DA GAMA fº de ANDRE DA GAMA. The word before Lobo is a monogram containing the letters R.V.A. and perhaps I. It has been read as "Reverencia," but contains more probably the last letters of the word "Sepultura." The connexion of these Da Gamas with the family of Vasco is not established. Vasco Da Gama had four sons: Estevam, Viceroy of India in 1539; Christoval, who commanded the Portuguese invasion of Abyssinia in 1541; Pedro da Silva, Governor of Malacca, the firm friend of Xavier; and Alvaro d' Atuide, who succeeded Pedro in his office. One of these four sons was the father of Francisco, born 1566, and Viceroy in 1597 and 1622, and of Luys, Admiral of the Indies and Ambassador to the Court of France in 1648. Paulo, Vasco's brother, was Captain of a ship on his first expedition to Cannanore in 1497.

WHITE JEWS CEMETERY AT COCHIN.

1550	11th Sept. 1666.	MOSES ALEGOA ...	Asion alaz shel kebed arab rabbi MOSES ALEGOA niftar hodesh elul ya shenad atekhu. "This is the tomb of the venerable chief rabbi Moses Alegoa who died on the 11th of the month Elul 5426," (corresponding to Sept. 11th 1666). The oldest inscription in the Beth-haim or "house of life" at the back of the Jews' quarter, Muttoncherry. The modern cemetery is some distance beyond it and bears this inscription with translations into Malayalam and Hebrew. "This compound wall and the shed inside were erected by Jacob Hai Ephraim Cohen to the memory of his father Mr. Ephraim Jacob Daniel Cohen and his sister Miriam. May their souls rest in peace. Rahanaim. 5658 A.M., 15th Sept. 1898." All Cohens are of the tribe of Levi, the Sacardotal tribe and their tombs bear the symbol of two hands crossed in prayer. There is another tombstone of interest kept in the lumber godown just outside the White Jews Synagogue. It runs "Asion alaz shel kiar DAVID bar Kiar HAIM CASTEL niftar belal shelishe shenad atarsu."—"This is the tomb of David, son of Haim Casteel, who died in the night of Tuesday 5466."

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH AND CEMETERY, OOTACAMUND.

Mr. Marmaduke Lawson, late Government Botanist, was a great lover of the Nilgiris and in a letter quoted by Sir M. E. Grant Duff in his "Notes from a Diary" (1881-86) wrote: "I cannot understand why English people, who live out here, should always be wanting to rush from a lovely place like Ootacamund to spend their winters in the Cimmerian smoke of London, Leeds and Liverpool. The climate of Ootacamund is pleasanter and more healthy than any other in the whole world. The work people have to do out here is very little and very unirksome. The hunting, to judge from the number of limbs which are broken every year, is far better than anything that can be got in England. For sport, there are always plenty of crows and sambur to kill: and when everything fails, the place possesses the prettiest of churchyards."

1582	24th April 1825.	WILLIAM MACDONALD ROBERTSON.	Major W. M. ROBERTSON, late 15th Regiment N.I., who died 24th April 1825, and whose remains lie interred in the burying ground attached to Stone House, aged about 42 years. He is mentioned in Welsh's Reminiscences, Vol. II, p. 215.

1606	5th Nov. 1860.	SIR HENRY DAVISON.	The Honorable SIR HENRY DAVISON, Knight, sometime H.M.'s Puisne Justice at Madras, then Chief Justice of Bombay and afterwards and until his decease Chief Justice of Madras. He died at Ootacamund on the 5th of November 1860 in the 55th year of his age, deeply and deservedly regretted by a large circle of friends in England and India, who have erected this monument and also a tablet in the church to his memory in token of their affection. His body lies beneath this stone. The dedication of Thackeray's Virginians runs as follows: "To Sir Henry Davison, Chief Justice of Madras, this book is inscribed by an affectionate old friend, London, September 7th, 1859." Ootacamund twenty-five years earlier was the residence of Macaulay, who lived at Woodcock Hall during the months of July and August 1834. He dilates more than once upon "his cottage buried in laburnums, or something very like them, and geraniums which grow in the open air." The scenery of the Nilgiris he likened to "the vegetation of Windsor Forest or Blenheim spread over the mountains of Cumberland."
1607	29th April 1863.	JAMES OUCHTERLONY.	Lieut.-Col. JAMES OUCHTERLONY, Royal (Madras) Engineers, aged 50 years, who died of jungle fever brought on by exposure while in the execution of his duty. His brother officers have erected this tablet in remembrance of a distinguished member of their corps.
1608	29th July 1864.	WILLIAM HENRY WAPSHARE.	Major WILLIAM HENRY WAPSHARE, aged 50 years. A true friend, a just magistrate, a good man, he gained during a residence of several years in this place, the universal esteem and affection, of which this stone is an inadequate record.
1609	6th May 1866.	CAROLINE ELIZABETH, CAROLINE ETHEL and CHARLES HAVELOCK.	In loving memory of CAROLINE ELIZABETH HAVELOCK, the wife of Lieut.-Colonel William Havelock, K.H., late H.M.'s 14th Light Dragoons, a resident at Ootacamund for the last 15 years of her life. She was a faithful worshipper in this church, an excellent wife, a good, kind and judicious mother. Highly

KRISHNAGIRI.

On the 7th November 1791 Kistnagherry Fort was attacked by Colonel Maxwell (No. 781) who was repulsed with the loss of Lieutenant Forbes (No. 179) and Lieutenant Lamont, both of the 74th Regiment, killed. The Fort surrendered by Tippoo under the 1792 treaty with the rest of the Baramahal.

1671	5th Aug. 1857.	SARAH WRIGHT ...	SARAH CHARLOTTE, the wife of Captain J. WRIGHT, 1st N.V. Battalion, aged 26 years. There are several other nameless tombs in this cemetery at the foot of the Rock. One must certainly commemorate Captain Harry Smith, Commandant of the Garrison, who with many others was blown up at midday on April 25th, 1801, by the explosion of the magazine (see Welsh's "Military Reminiscences," Vol. I, p. 306). The ruins of this magazine are still visible on the top of the Rock.

JOHN CAMPBELL GLOVER.	There is a stone in South Park Street Cemetery, Calcutta, to a similar old servant, Francis Lemesle, steward for upwards of twenty-seven years to six successive Governors-General, from Cornwallis to Minto. He died October 19th, 1822. Major JOHN CAMPBELL GLOVER, Madras Veterans. Major Glover had his arm and part of his shoulder torn off by cannon shot in Burma. The wound was so disfiguring that he shunned society and retired as Paymaster to Royacottah, where he married a Mahomedan lady. She died there and to her memory he built a very beautiful tomb. Glover then took up his residence near the great banyan tree at Jakkeri, 11 miles from Hosur, which covers two acres of ground. is inscribed by brothers, who, cherishing his memory, thus record his worth.

A very fine raised stone. Colonel Welsh stayed in 1809 in his house built by Colonel Doveton, a former commandant and afterwards Commander-in-Chief of Madras. "If there ever was a pure heart in wretched sinful man Bob Strange possessed it. He was very abstemious; an early riser and great walker; he required no conveyance on a journey; night or day was perfectly the same to him; and he would cheerfully walk 20 or 30 miles to breakfast in a morning, and return the same night, as a matter of course. His mild and gentle manners particularly endeared him to the natives; and when walking out, he always carried some money and little scraps in his pocket, to give the little children he was sure to meet in his perambulations. Still, he was not a soldier; he could not drill; and a smart dress was his abomination; but he was of more consequence, in my estimation, than 1,000 soldiers, raising the European character wherever he went, and compelling the natives to love their usurping rulers." He was the youngest son of Sir Robert Strange, the engraver. His brothers were James Strange, C.S. (1751-1840), and Sir Thomas Strange, C.J. of Madras (1756-1841). Colonel Strange married, November 1810 Miss G. M. Hargrave (see No. 1843).

1682	7th Nov. 1831.	HENRY CURRIE ...	Lieutenant HENRY CURRIE, 9th Regiment Native Infantry, commanding Royacotta, aged 28 years.
1683	21st Sept. 1834.	WILLIAM BURTON PATON	Captain W. P. BURTON. Erected by his afflicted widow. Of the 27th N.I. He married, September 28th, 1825, Miss M. H. Lutter, daughter of Major Lutter, of the Danish service. Her sister J. A. Lutter married Ensign L. E. Duval, 27th N.I., the same year. Mrs. Burton died October 25th, 1835.

SANKARIDROOG.

The Travellers' Bungalow under the Rock was formerly the house of James Oram, long commandant of the garrison, who died August 13th, 1759. The 3rd or Palamcottah Light Infantry, of which he was Lieutenant-Colonel, originally went by his name. Welsh, who was an officer in the same regiment, praises him highly and mentions incidentally that he had the nickname of the Sepoy "Maccaroni."

1684	27th Aug. 1808.	WILLIAM ASH ...	WILLIAM ASH, Lieutenant, 1st Battalion, 7th Regiment Native Infantry, aged 22 years.
1685	18th June 1820.	ROBERT WATERS ...	Lieutenant ROBERT WATERS, of the 25th Regiment Madras Native Infantry, son of Robert Waters, Esq., Bloomsbury Square, London, aged 28 years, who departed this life leaving an amiable young woman to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and of a person universally admired and esteemed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. His first wife, Minerva, whom he married October 26th, 1813, was the youngest daughter of Colonel Mühlendorff of Tranquebar. She died at Arnee, March 21st, 1815, aged 17 years.

TRANQUEBAR.

Tranquebar, in Tamil Tarangambadi, "the village by the sound of the wave," dates from 1618. A Danish East India Company was founded at Copenhagen in 1612, and six years later, the first Danish merchantman the Oeresund landed in India. Its Captain, Roelant Crape, was a Dutch sailor, who had been at the court of Tanjore in his youth. He was pursued from Ceylon by the Portuguese and wrecked off the coast of Coromandel. With a few of his crew he escaped to the Naik Raja of Tanjore, who befriended him and gave him the site of Tranquebar, 5 miles long by 3 broad. Crape was then joined by a small fleet under Admiral Ove Gedde, a youth of 24. Gedde, whose manuscript diary of his voyage has been published by Schlegel, laid the foundations of the Dannesborg and of the Church in the Fort, of which the first pastor was Peder Sorensen Aal-, who died some years afterwards at Tranquebar. In 1621 the Company made over their territory and charter to King Christian IV in liquidation of a debt. In 1815 Christian VIII ceded his Indian possessions to the East India Company for £120,000. Tranquebar is in many respects the most interesting old European town in India. It is surrounded by a fine Fort wall in remarkable preservation. The carriage road enters through an imposing gateway bearing the date 1792 and the monogram of his most Christian Majesty of Denmark. The principal thoroughfares still retain their ancient names of King Street and Queen Street, and the houses, which are solid and well-built, have no compounds, but adjoin each other. Some of them contain old fashioned cisterns to catch the rain, and tradition has it that the Danes used to keep their drinking water sweet by stirring it occasionally with a red-hot crowbar. On the south side of King Street is the Lutheran Mission Church, called New Jerusalem, and on the opposite side lies the English Church or Zion, formerly reserved for the official Danish community, as opposed to Ziegenbalg's native congregation. Inside Jerusalem's Kierke is an altar screen with symbolic devices, and a text of seven lines in Portuguese followed by twenty-four lines in Tamil. "Do tal maneira amou Deus ao mundo, que deu a seu Filho unigenito, para que todo aquelle que n'elle crê nao pereça, mas tenha a vida eterna. S. Joao cap. 3 ver. 16. Zum Tische des Herrn. Aufgerichtet 1807. Erneuert 1850." Upon the communion table are two silver candlesticks inscribed "Christian Hansen Pauch. Anno 1682. Anna Maria Erichs Dotter." The pulpit is the identical one from which Ziegenbalg and Plütschau preached in periwigs: the high chairs were made by the Moravian brethren, who so vainly attempted to colonise the Frederic's Islands of Nicobar: the last century hymn books are in Portuguese, printed at "Trangambar, na officina da Real Missao do Dinamarea" and contain an "oração por a illustrissima Companhia da India Oriental." Zion Church possesses other curious relics of the past. Its spire, shaped like a soldier's spiked helmet, has a bell with the date 1752: and within the vestry hangs an extraordinary painting of the Last Supper, coloured in relief upon wood after the manner of Albrecht Dürer with the motto "Tu vis esse meus per cenam, Christe, sacram; Fac ut in aeternum sim maneamque tuus." The Dannesborg, recently used as a district jail, is a massive building facing the sea. In one of its disused chambers can be seen the date 1677 and the arms of Christian the Fifth. Another piece of the old wall preserves the escutcheon of the Danish Company (Asiatiske Handel) with the figure of an elephant underneath. There are as many as five cemeteries in the town, containing inscriptions in nine languages—Armenian, Danish, Dutch, English, French, German, Latin, Portuguese and Swedish.

Udi den Herre Zebaots navn hauer Herr Commendant CHRISTEN BRUN til denne ny Jerusalem Kierkis bygning nedlagt den förste steen. Anno 1717 Febr. d. 9. Commandant Brun, the layer of this foundation stone, was the successor of Johann Sigismund Hasius, who had imprisoned Ziegenbalg and told him "that Heaven was very high above his head and Copenhagen very far off." A deed of amnesty between them was drawn up on October 15th, 1714, and signed on one side by J. S. Hasius, Andreas Krahe, C. Brun, Jacob Pauch, and on the other side by Ziegenbalg and Gründler. Hasius was recalled by the company in 1716, the year Ziegenbalg returned from Europe. See Fenger's "History of the Tranquebar Mission" for a very curious account of these times. He reprints Ziegenbalg's sermon preached at the foundation of the Church, on the text 1 Corinthians 3. 11.

As Ziegenbalg was the first to preach in New Jerusalem Church, so he was the first to be buried there. He lies on the right hand of the altar, opposite his colleague Gründler. Their places are marked by thin copper-plates let into the wall, with Latin inscriptions from the pen of Schultze, who was like Schwarz a native of Sonnenburg in Brandenburg. The Latinity is not remarkable, except for the use of the ante-classical word "denatus," which is found all over Tranquebar. Ziegenbalg is the father of Protestant Missions in India. His name, though little known among Englishmen to-day, was once received with enthusiasm in London. He had audiences of King George in 1716, and preached many times in the Chapels Royal and Savoy. The S.P.C.K. gave him a congratulatory address in Latin, to which he returned a reply in Tamil. Encouraging letters were written to him by Dr. Wake, Archbishop of Canterbury, and one communication, received in India after Ziegenbalg's own death, bears the following testimony to his apostolic usefulness: "I consider that your lot is far higher than all church dignities. Let others be prelates, patriarchs and popes; let them be adorned with purple and scarlet, let them desire bowings and genuflexions. You have won a greater honour than all these and a far more magnificent recompense shall be given you." An account of Ziegenbalg is given in the first number of the "Calcutta Review."

What she was is shewn by the many noble tears shed on her grave. What she might have been, we learn from her memory of her virtues which lives imperishable in the heart of friends. All who admire virtue and charm will to their last bear witness that she deserves to be their example. She was not only the fondest of daughters, but the truest friend of a bereaved mother and a stepfather, who kindly erected this memorial.”

1744	18th April 1872.	MARIA BARBARA STEVENSON.	MARIA BARBARA, widow of E. W. Stevenson, second daughter of Colonel Mathias Jurgen Von Mühlendorff, Royal Engineer of Denmark, born in 1791, died 18th April 1872. E. W. Stevenson was Master Attendant at Porto Novo and Cuddalore, where he died in 1823. There is a tradition that Colonel Mühlendorff was a son of Fræderick V of Denmark and aided the Crown Prince and the Queen-Mother in their conspiracy to depose Struensee, Christian VII's Prime Minister and Court Physician, and that he was sent abroad in consequence. Struensee intrigued with Christian VII's Queen Caroline Matilda, grand-daughter of George II. He was beheaded, and she retired to Zell with George III's permission. Mühlendorff was born, December 5th, 1750, and came to India in 1777. In his old house at Tranquebar is a curious arch, evidently a copy of some arch in Denmark, with the inscription, "D.E.M.E.P. anno 1791," and Mühlendorff used to say that these five letters were the initial letters of the sentence which was the secret of his life. He died July 23rd, 1836, and lies in a nameless tomb near his wife Agatha née Sundt, whose sister married Blücher's brother. Mühlendorff had a brother Count Danneskjold Samso, a title so ancient that he was considered the senior nobleman in Denmark. The Count's estate was named Holme-gaard. The Mühlendorff blood runs in several Madras families through the Colonel's five daughters (see Nos. 718, 801 and 1831).

Miss Tournac married firstly George Frederick Fischer, a ship's captain, whose sister Wendela (1730-61) became the first wife of the Rev. J. Z. Kiernander (1710-99). She married secondly Mr. Stevenson, the brother of Daniel Stevenson (1748-1806), and of Major-General James Daniel Stevenson, a friend of the Duke of Wellington's, who fought at Seringapatam and died February 14th, 1805 (see No. 818). A Mrs. Tournac and child were among those at Calcutta who escaped to the ships at Fulta and were there in July 1756. John Lewis Tournac, her husband, sent provisions to Fulta for the English and seems to have been a French subject.

This lady had a descendant who kept an inn at Sadras, where Colonel Welsh stayed in 1802. "Nona Malles or Miss Isaacks is one of the greatest curiosities in the East. This enormous spinster had formerly weighed 21 stone, but at this period she was by severe illness reduced to 15; and she shortly afterwards paid the debt of nature. Having relations at Negapatam, she had occasionally performed the journey in a palanquin made expressly for her use, and, it was asserted, was then carried by no less than 36 bearers; while other Europeans had but twelve, and many a fat Brahmin was actually moved about at the same rate by four; the sacred character of the latter no doubt lightening the apparent weight; but could an European mountain, though a young one, which her native appellation (Nona Malles) indicated, be carried by fewer sable and imbecile emmets? This young lady kept the inn or hotel at Sadras, where she lived well herself, and never starved her customers; but being in the habit of favouring them with her company at meals, the sight of her shrivelled form, her skin hanging in flakes, for all the world like the hide of a young rhinoceros, was not exactly calculated to improve our appetites at the dinner table."

An account of his exploit will be found in Mrs. Kindersley's "Letters from the East Indies" (1777), who mentions that his wife and children were thrown into prison. He himself was accused of gross covetousness through which many people at Negapatam had been ruined. The English Governor Palk befriended him and Mr. Van Teylingen finally obtained a full release from the Dutch Government. His coat of arms is in the church. His descendant J. F. T. Van Teylingen was Surgeon at Tranquebar and died there in 1873, aged 71.

1843	15th Mar. 1791.	MARGARET STRANGE.	Near this place (whither her remains were brought from Madras) lies the body of MARGARET, only daughter of James and Anne Calderwood Durham, of Largo, in the County of Fife, North Britain, wife of JAMES STRANGE, Esq., in the Honorable East India Company's Civil Service; she died the 15th day of March 1791, aged 32, leaving issue one daughter. Impressed by the most lively sense of those distinguished and most amiable talents which endeared the wife, companion and friend, he, with the trembling hand of true affection, inscribes this marble to her memory. James Strange (1754-1840), at this time Paymaster at Tanjore, was brother to Sir Thomas Andrew Strange, first Chief Justice of Madras (1800-1817). He was a witness at the latter's marriage in October 1806 to Louisa, youngest daughter of Sir William Burroughs, Judge of the Calcutta Supreme Court. Another brother Colonel R. M. Strange died at Royakotta, November 29th. 1811. Their father, the well-known artist and engraver Sir Robert Strange, fought at Culloden in 1745. The tale is told how after the battle he fled to Edinburgh, where his fiancée Isabella Lumisden concealed him in her hoop, while the house was being searched for rebels. Her brother Andrew Lumisden was private secretary to the Stuart princes. James Strange married secondly in 1798 Anne, second daughter of the first Viscount Melville and widow of Henry Drummond the banker. She died January 1852. Thomas William Lumisden Strange, born January 4th, 1808, was the eldest son of the Chief Justice and a Madras Civilian from 1825 to 1863. He died in England, September 3rd, 1884.
1844	13th Feb. 1798.	CHRISTIAN FREDERIC SWARTZ.	To the memory of the Rev. CHRISTIAN FREDERIC SWARTZ, born at Sonnenburg of Neumark, in the Kingdom of Prussia, the 26th October 1726, and died at Tanjore the 13th of February 1798, in the 72nd year of his age. Devoted from his early manhood to the office of missionary in the East, the similarity of his situation to that of the first preachers of the Gospel produced in him a peculiar resemblance to the simple sanctity of the Apostolic character. His natural vivacity won the affection, as his unspotted probity and purity of life alike commanded the reverence of the Christian, Muhammadan and Hindu; for sovereign princes, Hindu and Muhammadan, selected this humble pastor as the medium of political negotiation with the British Government, and the very marble that here records his virtues was raised by the liberal affection and esteem of the Rajah of Tanjore, Maharajah Serfojee. The proper spelling of the name is Schwarz, not Swartz. The monument in this church is by Flaxman. The aged missionary is represented upon his death-bed and on his left stands Raja Serfojee, his pupil, with two attendants, while on the right is the missionary Kohlhoff. Schwarz was the son of a simple German brewer and baker. He entered Halle University in 1740 and became intimate with Hermann Francke and Schultze, who inspired him with a desire to go to India. He landed at Cuddalore in 1750 and joined the Tranquebar mission. In 1768 he was chaplain to the Company's troops at Trichinopoly and remained there till 1778, when, leaving Trichinopoly in charge of Pohle, he took up his residence at Tanjore by Raja Tuljajee's request. About this time he was entrusted by Governor Thomas Rumbold with a mission to

Hyder, who received him courteously and kept him three months at Seringapatam. Schwarz's report was never published, but the details of his mission may be found in Pearson's "Memoir" and in Wilks' "Historical Sketches of the South of India." Previous to the treaty of Mangalore the Government sent him on another embassy to Tippoo, who, unlike his father, refused to see him. In 1767 Raja Tuljajee adopted a minor Serfojee and made Schwarz his tutor. Serfojee was the last representative but one of the Mahratta dynasty of Tanjore, founded by Shahjee, father of the great Seevajee, who obtained Tanjore as a jaghire. It is of Serfojee that Lord Valentia speaks with such praise in 1804 and Heber in 1826. Heber says that he quoted Fourcroy, Lavoisier, Linnaeus and Buffon fluently, that he had an accurate judgment of Shakespeare, that he wrote tolerable English poetry, and "was respected by the English officers in the neighbourhood as a really good judge of a horse and a cool, bold, and deadly shot at a tiger." His statue by Flaxman is in the Durbar Hall. He stands with his hands joined as if in prayer and wears the curious three cornered hat used by the Tanjore princes. He was succeeded in 1832 by his son Seevajee, who died childless in 1853.

1845	8th Aug. 1788.	AMELIA MACLEOD.	SOPHIA AMELIA SOPHIA MACLEOD, daughter of Alexander and Sophia Macleod who departed this life on the 8th day of August 1788, aged 13 months and 26 days. Macleod was appointed Private Secretary to Governor-General Sir John Macpherson, Bart., November 7th, 1785. He was conjecturably the son of Alexander Macleod, maternal uncle of Macpherson, who, in a consultation dated December 10th, 1783, described the future private secretary as "a gentleman in his confidence and family." Macleod received a Madras Writership in 1777. In the month named above he was on leave in Bengal, and Macpherson, then on the Council of Fort William, obtained permission to appoint him as his assistant. Macleod afterwards served in his old presidency, and was for some time Commercial Resident at Negapatam.

1866	10th Feb. 1827.	GEORGE FREDERICK CHERRY.	G. F. CHERRY, Esq., of the M.C.S., late Zillah Judge at Kumbakonam, who, on the 10th of February 1827, and in the 39th year of his age, after a short illness, resigned a life eminently distinguished for rectitude of principle and zeal to his employers. As a public character, and as a private one, for every amiable qualification that could adorn it, his heart was open to every charitable feeling and generous sympathy. The peculiarly melancholy loss of this inestimable life to his family is, and ever must continue, a source of the deepest affliction. For in him do they mourn the affectionate husband, excellent parent and faithful friend. In every respect, O ! how truly worthy was he of imitation. This tribute of affection and respect to his dear memory is offered by his devoted and disconsolate wife, C. S. Cherry. Mr. Cherry's first wife Eugenie died at Rammad, October 5th, 1813. On June 10th, 1817, he married at Madura Charlotte Sophia, second daughter of the late Captain A. Hughes, who survived him and married secondly Richard Prichard Pohle. Mr. Cherry's parents were John Hector Cherry, Member of Council, Bombay, and Catherine, the eldest daughter of William Stratton of Surat. The Strattons are connected by marriage with the family of John Locke, the philosopher. John Locke and Peter Locke were brothers. John Locke's son, who was the celebrated philosopher, died unmarried. Peter Locke had two daughters: Anne, who married Jeremy King, and whose son Peter King became Lord High Chancellor in 1725; and Elizabeth, who married William Stratton, and whose son Peter Stratton became devisee with Lord Chancellor King of the estates left by John Locke. Peter's son John Stratton went to Madras in 1721, and in 1741 was chief at Vizagapatam and in 1742 member of Council at Madras. His son William Stratton was in 1763 member of Council at Surat. He married Jeanne Bouchard, the sole child and heiress of Jean Baptiste Bouchard, a cadet of the noble house of Montmorenci, who had joined the French Company's service at Pondicherry. Bouchard's wife was Jeanne Varenne, widow of M. Martin, also in the Pondicherry Civil Service. By her first husband Madame Martin had two sons, one of whom served in the French Navy under Count D'Estaing; while the other was a civilian. M. Bouchard, Mr. G. F. Cherry's maternal grandfather, settled at Surat and died there in November 1766, aged 70. His widow died also at Surat in May 1788, aged 75 (see Nos. 508, 673, 1645).
1867	7th Oct. 1828.	JAMES WYSE	JAMES WYSE, Esq., Superintending Surgeon on the Madras Establishment, who departed this life at Tanjore, on the 7th October, A.D. 1828, after a service of 27 years, aged 52 years and 11 months. His daughter Isabella married February 10th, 1820, Mr. James Hazlewood, Surgeon.
1868	16th June 1831.	EDWARD JAMES	This tomb is erected by the officers of the 32nd Regiment, N.I., to the memory of Lieutenant EDWARD JAMES, who departed this life on the 16th of June 1831, aged 32 years. Younger son of the late T. James of Truro, Cornwall.

1869	31st July 1839.	HENRY WILLIAMS ...	Lieutenant HENRY WILLIAMS, of the 30th N.I., aged 29 years.
1870	25th Jan. 1844.	MARTHA SAYER ...	MARTHA, relict of the late Mr. STALKER SAYER (formerly resident at Palghautcherry), who departed this life on the 25th day of January A.D. 1844, aged 69 years. This monument has been erected by her surviving daughters, Mesdames Poulson and Madden as a memento of their affection. Colonel Welsh writes of her as follows: "Mrs. Sayer the industrious widow of a Conductor, who had long been stationed at Paulghaut, and who was a capital upholsterer, had been for some years employed by us to make up articles of furniture; which she sends to all parts of India; and sometimes I blush to own, gets nothing but empty promises of payment in return. Her furniture, generally made of cedar, is strong, handsome and reasonable. She has a command of wood of every description in the neighbouring jungles and the improved Tellicherry chair I have sketched was made by her. Such people are as rare as they are useful in the East." Three of her daughters were married to officers: Eliza Ann to Captain John Poulson, April 25th, 1822; M. F. to Lieutenant Barnett, 7th N.I., June 19th, 1823; Caroline to Ensign John Mills Madden, December 22nd, 1831.

"In this grave is interred, Susanna, daughter of Juan de Cruz, Syndic, on the 2nd day of December 1618. Those who read this, please recite one Kyrie Eleison, and Ave Maria in the name of God."

This is the oldest mortuary inscription in Tamil characters over a European or Eurasian. It is locally known as the Syndics' tomb, and forms the only memorial of the Portuguese occupation of Tuticorin. The town was a Portuguese settlement from about 1540 till 1658, when captured by the Dutch. The Protestant Church still bears the V.O.C. crest of the Netherlands Company and the date MDCCL.

These three tombs are buried under a mass of rubbish, which has been shot over the cemetery wall. They are most difficult to read.

1886 7th Dec. JOSEPH BAGGOT ...
1809.

Here lieth buried the earthly remains of JOSEPH BAGGOT, late Master Attendant of this place. He was born at Kirby in Warwickshire A.D. MDCCCLXIX and departed this life the vii December A.D. MDCCCIX.

In 1800 he was Benchmaster at Negapatam. When at Tuticorin he was the hero of a singular incident. The Polygar prisoners, interned at Palamcottah after the suppression of the Tinnevelly disturbances by Major Bannerman in 1799, made their escape on February 2nd, 1801, and occupied Tuticorin. Among their captives were Lieutenant Ormsby and Mr. Baggot, both of whom were released unmolested. Mrs. Baggot petitioned for her husband's liberty, and the "Cat," as the chief was called at once set him free. "This was the infamous Catabomia Naig, who had lately been confined in irons and treated with every indignity; upon whose head a price was set and who was on no condition to receive quarter if found in arms."

MONUMENTS IN PALAMCOTTAH CHURCH.

1947	8th Mar. 1875 and 28th Jan. 1876.	GEORGE EMILIUS and JAMES WEBSTER BIRD.	This stone perpetuates in their birth place the memory of GEORGE EMILIUS BIRD and JAMES WEBSTER BIRD, both of H.M. Civil Service, the sons of Charles James Bird, of Little Hatherley, Cheltenham, formerly Collector of this district. George Emilius Bird arrived in India in 1871, and was for four years employed in this district, where, by his bright and amiable disposition he endeared himself to all, whether European or Native, with whom he was brought in contact. He died at Coimbatore, on the 8th of March 1875, aged 25 years. James Webster Bird joined his brother in Palamcottah, in December 1874, and after serving with assiduous diligence for little more than a year, and gaining universal esteem, died at Tuticorin, on the 28th of January 1876, aged 23 years. Both brothers, by their earnestness of character and by devotion to their profession, gave high promise of a distinguished and useful career; and their memory is cherished with affectionate regret for their early deaths among the friends who erect this tablet. C. J. Bird died in England, April 21st, 1879. He married, February 16th, 1847, Emily Honor, eldest daughter of James Webster, of Hatherley Park near Cheltenham. He was the son of John Bird, C.S., 1801-45, and brother of E. W. Bird, C.S., 1823-1903 (see No. 1258).
1947-A	25th Dec. 1878.	JAMES CLARK SEATON.	In affectionate remembrance of JAMES CLARK SEATON, B.A., Oxon. (of H.M. Civil Service of India and youngest and dearly loved son of Edward C. Seaton of London M.D. He died at Tinnevely on Christmas Day 1878 (aged 22 years) in consequence of a fall from his horse. Throughout his career as a student he had shewn qualities which endeared him to all who knew him, and gave high promise of usefulness and distinction in the service of his country. On his arrival in this country he was appointed Assistant to the Collector of this district, but had scarcely entered on his duties, when he met with the lamentable accident by which his life was suddenly cut short. His father, sorrowing with his family for this irreparable loss, has caused this tablet to be erected 1879.

1950	5th Sept. 1799.	ROBERT DOUGLAS ... PHILIP DORMIEUX. EDWARD H. COLLINS. JOHN BLAKE. FINNY.	In memory of Lieuts. DOUGLAS, DORMIEUX, COLLINS and BLAKE and GUNNER FINNY who fell in the attack of Panjalamecoorchy on the 5th September 1799. The event referred to is the first assault on Panjalamkuriichi during what is known as the Bannerman-Poligar War. The attack failed and was only remarkable for the very heavy casualties sustained by the British troops. Referring to this Major Bannerman wrote: "The moment my time will allow of it, I shall state to the Commander-in-Chief my sentiments relative to the conduct of the native officers and troops. The circumstance of one native officer being only wounded, contrasted with four European officers killed and two wounded, will sufficiently mark the want of energy on the part of the natives." Reinforcements were sent from Palamecottah, but a second assault was rendered unnecessary owing to the Poligar having abandoned the fort. Lieutenant Douglas was in the Bengal Artillery; Dormieux and Collins in the 1st Battalion and Blake in the 2nd Battalion N.I.

1951	24th May 1801.	DOUGALD W. GIL- CHRIST.	Here lie the remains of DOUGALD W. GILCHRIST, Lieutenant of His Majesty's 74th Regiment. This gallant youth who had not attained his one and twentieth year was killed on the 24th of May A.D. 1801 in the breach of the fort of Panjalamecoorchy in the moment of victory. By his death, His Majesty's service lost an officer of great enterprise and valour, and society a beloved and valuable member. Urquhart prints an elegiac poem of three pages to his memory. "He had so distinguished himself as to be beloved by the whole force."— Welsh .

Sacred to the memory of Captain JOHN CAMPBELL, Lieutenants A. CAMPBELL, D. GILCHRIST and P. SHANKS of H.M. 74th Regiment, Lieutenants J. SPALDING and A. CAMPBELL, H.M. 77th Regiment, Lieutenant M. EGAN 1st Battalion 3rd Regiment N.I., Lieutenants W. FRASER and K. MANGNALL 1st Bn. 4th Regiment N.I., Lieutenant C. TORRIANO, 1st Bn. 9th Regiment N.I., who bravely fell or died of wounds received in assaults on the fort of Panjalamecoorchy, on the 31st March and 24th May 1801. These casualties occurred in the second and last Poligar War, after which the district came permanently into the hands of the British. Colonel James Welsh, who served throughout the campaign, describes it in detail in his Military Reminiscences, remarking that "no account of this service had been given to the public, and it was customary, while gallant fellows were falling covered with glorious wounds, to put down the casualty in our newspapers as if they had died in their beds, thus 'Deaths.' Lately to the Southward, Captain — or Lieut. —" Panjalamecoorchy fort, the Gibraltar of the insurgents he calls "an abominable dogkennel, the system of defending which would have done credit to any engineer." His description of the Dumb Brother, who was the soul of the defence, is so curious as to be worth quoting: "I cannot close this account of horrors without a few words in memory of one of the most extraordinary mortals I ever knew ; a near relation of Catabonia Naig's, who was both deaf and dumb, was well known by the English under the appellation of Dumbly or the Deaf Brother, by the Mussulmans as Mookah, and by the Hindoo as Oomee, all having the like signification. He was a tall, slender lad, of a very sickly appearance, yet possessing that energy of mind, which in troubled times always gains pre-eminence, whilst in his case the very defect which would have impeded another, proved a powerful auxiliary in the minds of ignorant and superstitious idolaters. The Oomee was adored ; his slightest sign was an oracle, and every man flew to execute whatever he commanded. No Council assembled at which he did not preside ; no daring adventure was undertaken, which he did not lead. His method of representing the English was extremely simple ; he collected a few little pieces of straw, arranged them on the palm of his left hand to represent the English force ; then, with other signs, for the time, etc., he drew the other hand across and swept them off, with a whizzing sound for the mouth which was the signal for attack ; and he was generally the foremost in executing those plans, for our annihilation. Whatever undisciplined valour could effect, was sure to be achieved wherever he appeared ; though poor Oomee was at last doomed to grace a gallows, in reward for the most disinterested and purest patriotism."

1978	31st Oct. 1788.	EMMA FREER ...	Mrs. EMMA FREER, the dearly beloved, affectionate and deeply lamented wife of RICHARD HALL FREER, Lieutenant in the Honorable Company's Service. She died in childbed, sincerely regretted by an inconsolable husband. In her manners she was mild, affable and engaging; the valuable endowments and amiable propensities of her mind gained and secured her the respect and veneration of all her friends and acquaintances.
1979	14th May 1789.	CHARLOTTA COOPER ...	The deposit of CHARLOTTA COOPER, born 10th of November 1780, went home the 14th of May 1789. A Thomas Cooper was in the Civil Service 1767 to 1798. He was at one time in Council at Ganjam, where he was suspended.
1980	17th Sept. 1790.	STEPHEN SWAINK ...	Captain STEPHEN SWAINE, of the Honorable Company's Service. He died the 17th of September 1790, aged 35 years. He was kind and affectionate husband, a tender and indulgent father, in his private life and Christian character a model of generous friendship and solid rational piety: and whose death will ever be sincerely lamented by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. Urquhart says he was of the First Regiment of European Infantry and had relinquished the command of Darrampooram through ill-health. Darrampooram is in Coimbatore district and was once the seat of the Zillah Judge. A Thomas Watts, C.S., died there May 1811, Register of the Court.
1981	28th Mar. 1793.	ARTHUR STEWART ... ARTHUR EYRE COOTE STEWART.	Captain ARTHUR STEWART in the Honorable East India Company's Service, aged 44 years. He was a brave and distinguished officer, a kind husband, an affectionate and indulgent father. Also ARTHUR EYRE COOTE STEWART, the infant child of the late Capt. Arthur Stewart, and of Frances Stewart, born on the 20th of February, died the 19th June 1793. Kind death has put an end to his sufferings and the friendly grave has shut up the mournful scene.
1982	9th Nov. 1794.	WILLIAM McKILLOP.	WILLIAM McKILLOP, Esq., late Surgeon to His Majesty's Royal Artillery, aged 26.
1983	5th June 1795.	JANE SHORTT ...	Mrs. JANE SHORTT, wife of Major John Shortt in the 59th year of her age. See No. 1688.
1984	17th July 1797.	REBECCA DARKE ...	Sacred to the memory of REBECCA DARKE, wife of Charles Darke, who died July the 17th 1797, aged 53, daughter of WILLIAM and SARAH GYLES of Northamptonshire. She has left one daughter, Rebecca, wife of John Floyd, and four grand children. Reader, humble thyself before God. Here lies a form that once glowed in gracefulness and beauty, the meanest of her ornaments. She eminently possessed the higher virtues of Christianity thro' which she endured the severe trials of this life with the most exemplary patience and pious resignation. Her trust was in God. O! May the bright example of her virtues soothe the sorrow, still guide the heart of her afflicted daughter, and be a lesson to all.

			This tomb is in the chancel of the church. One of the four grandchildren mentioned became the wife of Sir Robert Peel, Prime Minister. A list of inhabitants of Fort St. George taken in 1788 shows Charles Darke to have been a licensed free merchant then in distressed circumstances, living with his wife and family at the Red Hills near Madras. He arrived as a cadet in 1770 by the Princess Royal, Captain Kerr (the "old commodore" who died at Cuddalore March 1800). Four years later he resigned the service and obtained indentures to practise as a free merchant. He was employed and trusted by the Nabob of Arcot and finally ruined in his service. His letters disclose many curious details. In one of them addressed to the Nabob himself he says, "I will not for the present mention the bribes given by your Highness on account of the unhappy business of the arrest of Lord Pigot; but the amount of them make up a great part of your Highness's new consolidated debt." His name continues to appear in the Madras Almanacs under the heading of Europeans not in the King's or Company's service, up till the year 1810, when it drops out. He seems to have lived mostly at Trichinopoly where Darke's Bridge still preserves his name. On January 29th, 1791, at Fort St. George, his daughter Rebecca Juliana was married to Lieutenant-Colonel John Floyd of the 19th Light Dragoons "by A. Bell, chaplain, in the presence of George Harris and Charles Darke." Floyd was the Murat of the Mysore campaigns and the most dashing cavalry officer of his day. He died a Baronet, January 16th, 1818. It was during his command of the Trichinopoly district that the future Lady Peel was born. The Outstations Register of St. Mary's Church, Fort St. George, records: "Trichinopoly; Julia daughter of Major General Floyd and Rebecca his wife, born and baptized the 19th of Nov. 1795 by Christian Frederick Schwartz, English Missionary. Flavia, daughter of ditto born the 1st June 1797, baptized Feb. 1798 by Christian William Gericke, English Missionary." Mrs. Darke died within six weeks of Flavia's birth. In 1880 a memoir of Sir John Floyd was published by his godson Combermere Floyd, M.I.C.S. From a miniature of Lady Floyd still in existence, it would appear that she was of great beauty. A monument stands to her memory in Farnborough Church, Kent, bearing a representation of a rose in full bloom, torn from its stalk and below it a bud also broken off. Three buds remain, typifying the three remaining children, of whom the youngest Julia married Sir Robert Peel, June 9th, 1820. Though in her own phrase "no politician" she became in time his closest and only companion. The statesman's third son Captain Sir William Peel, V.C., commanded the Naval Brigade during the mutiny and died at Cawnpore, April 2nd, 1858. A statue stands to his memory in Calcutta opposite the Eden gardens.

TABLETS IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, TRICHINOPOLY.

1997	30th Mar. 1822.	EDWARD HOLDEN CRUTTENDEN.	To the memory of EDWARD HOLDEN CRUTTENDEN, Zillah Judge of this station. This tablet is erected by a small circle of his affectionate and afflicted friends in mournful testimony of their deep regret at the early extinction of those endearing qualities, which graced his life and shed their cheering influence on all around him. His premature demise on the Neelgherry Mountains, where his earthly remains are deposited has deprived this community of one of its brightest ornaments, and the world of an eminent example of genuine worth, and unfeigned benevolence. Obiit anno domini 1822 ætatis 35. He married Charlotte, daughter of the late Henry Taylor, M.C.S., March 1st, 1819 (No. 2087). respect for his many eminent qualities, as a soldier and a friend. He married, October 12th, 1830, Louisa, third daughter of Colonel E. W. Snow, C.B., commanding Bellary. Adamantottah is in Salem district 5 miles from Dharmapuri. The fort is now dismantled (see Nos. 844 and 1665).

2001	31st Dec. 1854 and 6th Dec. 1855.	HENRY BERESFORD PODMORE. GEORGE WELLINGTON NELSON DUNLOP.	Sacred to the memory of GEORGE WELLINGTON NELSON DUNLOP, Captain in the Fourth Regiment of Madras Native Infantry, who died of cholera at Sattiamungalam on the 6th of January 1855, aged 41 years. And to the memory of HENRY BERESFORD PODMORE, Ensign in the Fourth Regiment of Madras Native Infantry, who died of cholera at Uttacolapoor on the 31st of December 1854, aged 20 years. This tablet is erected by their brother officers.
2002	28th April 1858.	HENRY GEOGHEGAN.	In memory of HENRY GEOGHEGAN, of the Geological Survey of India, who died of sun-stroke on the 28th day of April 1858 and was buried at Shillagoody in the Arialoor Taluk of this district. This tablet is here placed by his colleagues and companions.
2003	2nd Feb. 1867.	ÆNEAS RANALD McDONELL.	Sacred to the memory of ÆNEAS RANALD McDONELL of the Madras Civil Service, for many years Collector and finally Judge of Trichinopoly. This tablet is erected by many of his friends in grateful remembrance of his generous disposition never failing kindness, and unblemished integrity, by which he won the hearts of all who knew him. Born October 19th 1824, died February 2nd 1867. A monument to his memory stands on the highway near the General Post Office, where four roads meet. The inscription on it in English and Tamil is as follows: "To the memory of Æneas Ranald McDonell, Esq., for many years Collector and finally Judge of Trichinopoly. This monument is erected by the native community of the district in grateful remembrance of his kindness, generosity, and earnest desire for their welfare." His brother W. Fraser McDonell of the Bengal Civil Service won a mutiny V.C. for his gallantry during the retreat from Arrah. The incident will be found narrated in Trevelyan's "Competition Wallah." W. Fraser McDonell eventually became a Judge of the Calcutta High Court, opposite which a memorial fountain now stands to his memory.
2004	21st Sept. 1888.	H. M. ARCHDALL ...	Sacred to the memory of Surgeon Major H. M. ARCHDALL I.M.D., 4th Pioneers, who died at Madras on the 21st September 1888. This tablet is erected by his brother officers.
2005	26th June 1891.	GEORGE WILLIAM and EDITH EMILY FAWCETT.	In memory of GEORGE WILLIAM FAWCETT, Madras Civil Service Born June 28th 1852, died June 26th 1891. Acting Collector of Trichinopoly, January 1889 to June 22nd, 1891. EDITH EMILY FAWCETT, widow of the above, died at Spring Grove Isleworth, 29th August 1896, aged 41.
2006	2nd Jan. 1893.	HARRY JOHN MACLEOD.	In memory of HARRY JOHN MACLEOD, Lieutenant, First Madras Pioneers, who died at Trichinopoly 2nd January 1893 Aged 27 years. Erected by his brother officers in token of their regret and esteem.

2011	13th Nov. 1821.	ROBERT ANDREWS ...	Sacred to the memory of ROBERT ANDREWS Esq. If suavity can ensure esteem, philanthropy respect, and charity gratitude, time will record the name of ANDREWS in the remembrance of the good. In him truly did the wretched find a friend, the poor a parent and man-kind a man. He died November 13th 1821, aged 58 years. Writer, 1778. First Judge of the Provincial Court, Southern Division, 1815.
2012	12th Feb. 1822.	HENRY LUTTRELL ...	HENRY LUTTRELL, merchant at this station, aged 51 years.
2013	20th Jan 1823.	MUNGO PARK ...	[MUNGO PARK, M.D. aged 23 years.] The tombstone has disappeared. His father Mungo Park (1771-1806), the celebrated African traveller, married, August 2nd, 1799, the eldest daughter of Thomas Anderson, Surgeon, of Selkirk, to whom he had been apprenticed in his youth. He is supposed to have been killed at Bousa, a town beyond Timbuctoo. His wife and three sons and a daughter survived him, and £4,000 was paid to them by the Government. The second son, Thomas, a Midshipman on H.M.S. Sybil , obtained leave to attempt to reach Bousa, in order to set at rest all doubts with regard to his father's fate: but died of fever, October 31st, 1827, after accomplishing 200 miles of the journey.
2014	3rd April 1826.	REGINALD HEBER ...	Here rest the remains of REGINALD HEBER, D.D., Third Bishop of Calcutta. The inscription is incorrect, for he was the second Bishop. His grave is within the sanctuary at the north of the altar. Bishop Heber visited Trichinopoly in 1826. He was entertained by the Judge, who is still referred to in the place as "old" John Bird. His house is now the District and Sessions Court. On its north side, a few steps from the house, is the plunge bath in which the Bishop lost his life. He had had a long and fatiguing service at Christ Church Fort, including the confirmation of a number of young persons. At the conclusion of the service he went into the adjoining house to unrobe. The churchyard was full of a crowd of Christian natives seeking his blessing. From the steps of the house, just over the grave of Christian Pohle, he addressed the gathering a second time and added to his fatigue. On his return to Mr. John Bird's house he plunged into the bath in his exhausted condition, and his heart stopped. The

			Garrison Surgeons did their best to restore animation ; one of them, Mr. A. B. Peppin, left a report on his examination of the body ; this paper came into the hands of the Rev. C. S. Kohlhoff of Erungalore, who gave it to the Rev. F. Penny. It is now in the chaplaincy file book under the date. The body was buried on the north side of the altar in St. John's Church. A mural tablet was put up by the memorial committee, but there was no monument over his grave till the Rev. Thomas Foulkes became chaplain of Trichinopoly in 1865. He raised money by subscription and placed over the grave a handsome marble slab inlaid with brass and coloured enamels. Twenty years later the Rev. Frank Penny, LL.M., raised money in the same way and put in the east window of stained glass as a further memorial. The bath in which the Bishop was drowned was raised off in 1882 and a stone erected with the following inscription : " In memory of the devoted, accomplished, beloved and universally honored servant of God, Reginald Heber, D.D., second Bishop of Calcutta and one of India's truest and most loving benefactors. This stone was erected in the year 1882 at the expense of Government on the margin of the bath in which he was drowned while bathing on the 3rd April 1826. His body was laid under the chancel in the Church of St. John, Trichinopoly, in the hope of the resurrection of the just to eternal life through Jesus Christ." There are two statues by Chantrey to his memory, one in St. Paul's Cathedral, Calcutta (originally in St. John's Church), the other in St. George's Cathedral, Madras. Heber married a Miss Shipley, daughter of the Dean of St. Asaph. Her father's sister married Sir William Jones in 1783, the year of Heber's birth.

CAUVERY BRIDGE, TRICHINOPOLY.

2034	1752	JAMES DALTON, JAMES KILPATRICK, JOHN CALLIAUD, JOHN KIRK and HARRISON REVEL.	"This bridge is dedicated to the memory of Captains KILPATRICK CALLIAUD, DALTON, KIRK, Lieutenant HARRISON REVEL of the Madras Army whose bravery and fortitude in the defence of Trichinopoly and in the actions fought in its vicinity, A.D. 1752 and 1754, under their heroic leaders Clive and Lawrence mainly contributed to lay the foundations of the British Empire in India. Designed and completed by Captain Edward Lawford, Madras Engineers, A.D. 1849. Proposed by Arthur Pooley Onslow, Esq., Collector of Trichinopoly, and sanctioned by the Most Noble George Marquis of Tweeddale, C.B., K.T. Governor of Madras, A.D. 1846." Inscription on a slab let into the parapet-wall. A picture of the bridge may be seen in the "Illustrated London News" of September 16th, 1854. The defence of Trichinopoly is one of the lesser-known episodes of the great struggle in the Carnatic between the French and English, possibly because neither of the protagonists played a prominent part in connection with it. The two actions which saved the city—the battle of the Golden Rock on June 26th, 1753, and the battle of the Sugar-Loaf Rock on September 21st, 1753—were fought by Stringer Lawrence, who was at the time in chief command of the English forces: but the siege lasted intermittently until the suspension of hostilities in October 1754. In his report on the former engagement, which resulted in the complete defeat of Monsieur Astruc, Lawrence writes: "I ought to mention because it is due to their merit, the extraordinary gallant behaviour of Captains Kilpatrick and Kirk, who forced up the rock against four times their number of Europeans, and in the face of 2,000 sepoys, and dislodged them and attacked them in flank, whilst we did the same in front; a most extraordinary action I have never seen." Captain Kirk fell in the second battle which was fought in September some 3 miles south of French Rocks. Captain James Kilpatrick was more fortunate, and was, in July 1756, despatched to Bengal in command of the small force of 230 Europeans hurriedly collected by the authorities at Madras on receipt of letters announcing the capture of Cossimbaz and the march of Surajah Dowlah upon Calcutta. He arrived in the Hooghly on August 2nd to receive the news of the Black Hole tragedy and to find the remnants of the Company's servants huddled together in boats or in

mat-huts at Fulta. When Watson and Clive joined them in November, half of Kilpatrick's 230 Europeans were dead and of the remainder hardly thirty were fit for duty. He acted during the intervening months as a member of the Provisional Committee and his name appears among those present at the consultations held on board the Phoenix schooner. His salary as Commander-in-Chief of the Company's forces in Bengal is given in the "proceedings" of the time as £40 per annum. He is also one of the signatories to the treaty of June 1757, by which Meer Jaffer was secured the Subahship of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa: and he was present at Plassey and at the famous Council of War at Cutwah, when he voted with Clive in opposition to an advance, and against the opinion of Eyre Coote, who counselled an "immediate decision of the contest." Clive writing on December 23rd, 1757, to the Court of Directors from "Camp Fatehpoor near Rajmahal," mentions the loss of several officers, "among the rest Major Kilpatrick, who acquired much deserved reputation in his long course of service in India." His death had occurred in the preceding October. Captain James Dalton, the real hero of the defence of Trichinopoly, was born in 1725, began life (like Kilpatrick) as a subaltern of marines, joined the East India Company's service in 1749, and was made Captain of the Grenadier Company. When stationed at Fort St. David, he was very intimate with Clive, who afterwards stood godfather to one of his daughters. From 1752 to 1753, he was in command of Trichinopoly during its continuous investment, and his letters to Madras were considered so important that orders were given to open them immediately they arrived, even if the President were absent. After successfully beating off the besiegers, Dalton resigned the service through ill-health in March 1754, and was succeeded in his command by Kilpatrick. On his return to England he married on March 7th, 1756, Isabella, daughter of Sir John Wrey, Bart., and died July 11th, 1811, at the age of 86. His journal of 166 folio pages contains a full account of the siege. It is largely quoted by his relative, Mr. Charles Dalton, F.R.G.S., who published in 1886 a memoir of his ancestor; and it was extensively used by Orme for his "History of the War in India" which appeared in 1763. Captain John Calliaud succeeded to the command of the Company's troops in Madras in February 1759 on the departure of Stringer Lawrence for England. In the following October, Eyre Coote, who had been appointed from home to the Madras Command, arrived at Fort St. George; and Calliaud, now a Major, was despatched to Bengal with 200 men, Clive having requested that he might be sent to command the army in that province, if Colonel Coote should be detained to serve on the Coromandel Coast. He reached Fort William in November, and took over charge from Clive and Forde. During the years 1760 and 1761, he was occupied in Behar in aiding Meer Jaffer to clear the province of the armies of the Shah Zadah. In 1763, he became Commander-in-Chief at Madras and in November 1766 concluded at Hyderabad a treaty with Nizam Ally. He retired in 1775 and died in 1810 at his seat in Oxfordshire "highly respected by the surrounding nobility and gentry." Lieutenant Harrison Revel commanded the artillery under Clive at the defence of Arcot in September-October 1751, was taken prisoner near Conjeveram as he was returning wounded from the siege, and was killed in February 1754, at the disastrous engagement near Kelli Kotah when a valuable convoy and £7,000 in specie was captured, and an entire 2039	14th Dec. 1789.	MATTHEW HORNE ...	Sacred to the memory of MATTHEW HORNE, Brigadier General in the Army of the Honorable E.I. Company on the Coast of Coromandel, who departed this life on the 14th December 1789, aged 57 years. He commenced his military career in 1757 under the auspices of those immortal heroes Lawrence and Clive, who at an early period honored his virtues with their notice and friendship. He passed thro' a series of active and distinguished services in the several gradations of army rank, with uniform esteem and approbation; and he attained the honorable distinction of the chief command of the Coast Army which he held with credit from February to October 1789. To high professional talents, he joined an enthusiastic zeal which peculiarly marked his public exertions, especially in the memorable defence of Madras and in the reduction of Manilla, of Tanjore, and of Pondicherry. Blessed with a feeling and friendly heart thro' every chequered scene of life he maintained unsullied the proud characteristics of our Englishmen, loyalty, bravery and honour. His remains are deposited in the church of Trichinopoly.

Urquhart: "He served at the capture of Manila under General Draper, and at the defence of Madras against the Comte de Lally. He was long the favourite friend and confidential Aid-de-Camp of General Joseph Smith. On his way to take the command of the Southern Army, he was intercepted by a frigate, dispatched expressly for that purpose by M. Suffrein, and made a prisoner." Lord Pigot, it will be remembered, was kept in his custody at the Mount in 1777. He married Miss Anna Salmon, October 10th, 1774. He was a prominent Freemason, and when a captive of war in the Island of Bourbon received fraternal kindness from a French ledge there.

A youth condemn'd to roam life's barren moor, His fate pursuing with a wintry wind, With all the sorrows that attend the poor, With all the anguish of a feeling mind. Bare was his breast and open to the smart, Each mournful breathing rived his tender heart The storm increasing as increased his years. Weakly a while his lonely way he led, Thro' life's perplexing road, till anxious cares And inward griefs bow'd down his infant head; Tread lightly o'er the sod that shades his breast, And let the weary pilgrim take his rest.

MALAYADIPATTI, KULITALAI TALUK.

2042	4th Feb. 1747.	CONSTANTINE BESCHI.	A little monument stands at the foot of the hill near the village of Malayadipatti. It is divided into two compartments. In the southern one, which is the shorter, lie the remains of பாத்திரசுவாமி , i.e., Father James and அருளாநீட்சுவாமி , i.e., Father Thomé. In the middle of the other compartment are the remains of பு. டனத்தி ச. தரிய சுவாமி , i.e., Father Constant come from Town. The town at that time was Trichinopoly and this Father Constant appears to be none other than the celebrated Jesuit Beschi. His full name is Joseph Constantine Beschi and he was a native of Italy, born at Castiglione, November 8th, 1680. Educated at Rome, he entered the Society of Jesus on October 21st, 1698. In 1711 he arrived at Goa and joined the Madura Mission, founded about a century before by Robert de Nobilibus, the nephew of Cardinal Bellarmine. He gave himself out as a white Brahmin from the West and adopted native customs and costumes. He soon became famous as a linguist. In three months he is said to have mastered Persian and Hindustani for the express purpose of obtaining an interview with Chanda Sahib, Nawab of Trichinopoly, who gave him the title of Ismatti Sanyasi and made him his Dewan. Among the natives Beschi was known as Voeramahamunivar, "the great fearless man of God." After being driven by the Mahrattas from Trichinopoly, he passed to the Pearl Fishery Coast, and in 1744 was Rector of Manapar, in which post he died February 4th, 1747. Of all the Jesuit Missionaries, who have worked in India, Beschi is probably the most distinguished for learning and intellect. His knowledge of Tamil was simply wonderful. He was equally familiar with the high and low dialects; and his compositions in that language have excited the admiration of many a South Indian poet. Unlike de Nobilibus he was averse to introducing many Sanscrit terms and expressions into his Tamil works; and rather aimed at acquiring a perfectly pure and idiomatic style. And in this he was perfectly successful. Had Tamil been his native tongue, it would have been impossible for him to acquire greater proficiency in it. His Tembavani, "the unfading wreath" (probably with reference to St. Joseph's lily), composed in 1726 with two commentaries, prose and verse, at once became a classic. It occupies in the Tamil Roman Catholic household the same place which Father Stephen's Purana holds in the home of a Roman Catholic on the Konkan Coast. His grammars of High and Low (Shen and Kodun) Tamil, originally written in Latin, are standard authorities. His tale of the foolish priest Gooroo Paramarthan and his disciples, translated into French by the Abbé Dubois and into English by E. T. Babington, C.S., was for half a century the first reading book placed in the hands of the student. A Tamil life of Beschi dealing mainly with his Indian life has been written by Muthusawmy Pillai. A more comprehensive biography is in course of preparation in France.

Lieutenant Crisp, Mr. Venner, a cadet, and Mr. Robert Rutherford, C.S., Paymaster, were killed; Captain T. The newswriter in Hickey's "Gazette" for October 21st, 1780, describes the occurrence as follows:— "We are informed that the Sepoy troops lately draughted at Vizacapatam, having all their arms, accoutrements, baggage, etc., ready to embark on board the Sartine Frigate, and some other vessels then in that harbour in order to carry them to Madras, the day of their intended departure the Governor of Vizac invited all the military officers to dine with him, and the Council. The troops were to embark that afternoon. The gentlemen made a cheerful repast, drank success to the British arms, and sat in company with all the tranquility, of mind imaginable, but were soon alarmed by an uncommon noise. had mutinied, and was endeavouring to force those Sepoys who were to remain behind in the barracks to join them, which they refused. This account soon brought their officers out, who instantly resumed their commands, and ordered them immediately to march down to the beach and go on board. This they refused one and all. The Grenadiers levelled their pieces, took aim, discharged a volley, and killed every officer on the spot. They took the Governor prisoner and all the civil servants, set free a French spy (Capt. Brulé) who had been confined there for some time, and placed him at their head, at the same time put the Governor and all the civil servants in the prison from whence they took the Frenchman. They plundered the Governor's house and factory of the treasure, plate and every other valuable that night, took the civilians out the next morning, tied them, and marched them off with them, with an intent to carry their prisoners to Hyder Ally, whom themselves intended to join. After they had marched several miles from Vizac, they untied the Governor Mr. Casmajor and the rest of the gentlemen, and told them they might return to Vizac if they pleased. Ensign Butler, the only surviving officer on that establishment, and who very fortunately had been on a visit to a friend at some distance from the settlement, finding what had happened, drew up a detachment of the remaining troops the next morning with a few field pieces, marched at the head of them in quest of the deserters, came up with them, and discharged a few rounds of grape shot amongst them, which brought several of them to the ground. Some ran off, leaving the most part of their arms behind, and the remainder he took prisoners, marching them in the front with the field pieces in the rear."

would have dignified and distinguished it in any sphere, but in the important and responsible trusts he held, his invincible integrity shone in the more heightened lustre the more it was tried. He attained, through the gradations of services, the chair of the Madras Government and though without the wealth of a Governor, he was rich in the real worth of a man. Nor were his private qualities less amiable. His peculiar pleasantness of mind and felicity of manner irresistibly attracted attention and delight. He immediately followed to the tomb his death-divided partner, to part no more. Reader, prepare for the certain dissolution of human happiness by living with equal virtue to die with equal hope, Sept. 20th 1791.

It was during Mr. Davidson's acting governorship in 1785 that the first discovery of Roman gold coins (aurei) in the Madras Presidency was made by a ryot at Nollora ("Asiatic Researches," 1790, volume II, page 332).

"What! A gold coin among these jewelled treasures

Why send me such a relic?" So you say.

"Good to enhance some antiquary's pleasures;
Stamped for dead people in a buried day!"

True now, but look a little! If one ponder

The legend of this piece, its gold may shine

With lustre leaving dull the gems of wonder

Which I did lay in those dear hands of thine.

An aureus of the Roman empire.—See! (Edwin Arnold).

Compare a passage in Sir Edwin Arnold's "India Revisited," 1886, page 260, "Among the curious treasures of the Madras Museum, which the Governor (Sir M. E. Grant Duff) has greatly developed, is a golden coin of Claudius, the Emperor, struck to commemorate the conquest of Britain. What chapters of fancy might be written about this aureus, which thus strangely links the past and present of England's history, and came perhaps to India in the scrip of St. Thomas!"

2060	21st June 1792.	FREDERIC FABRICIUS.	[Mr. FREDERIC FABRICIUS, who departed this life the 21st day of June 1792, aged 51 years.] Urquhart. Perhaps a relative of the missionary who married Clive to Margaret Maskelyne at St. Mary's, Fort St. George, in 1752.
2061	22nd June 1795.	JOHN COX	[Major JOHN COX.] Urquhart. "A gallant and zealous officer whose important services while in command of the 6th Native Battalion during the war with Hyder Ally Khan and whose exertions in reducing to obedience the refractory poligars in the district of Vizagapatam are conspicuously known."
2062	10th Sept. 1798.	MARY CRESSWELL ...	Mrs. MARY CRESSWELL, who departed this life in the 24th year of her age on the 10th day of September in the year of our Lord 1798. This tomb has been erected by Lieutenant Peter Cresswell, her disconsolate husband.

2064	14th Dec. 1799.	CHARLES GOY A. LANAUZE.	Lieutenant C. G. A. LANAUZE. He was of the Honourable Company's infantry and died at Bimlipatam. Lanauze is now a well-known West Coast name.
2065	12th Dec. 1802.	GEORGE FOTHERING- HAM.	[Colonel GEORGE FOTHERINGHAM.] Commanding the district and the 16th N.I.
2066	20th Sept. 1804.	JOHN DYKES ...	JOHN DYKES, seaman, aged 24 years, who departed this life on the 20th September A.D. 1804 in consequence of wounds received on board His Britannic Majesty's Ship the Centurion , of fifty guns, which under the command of Captain James Lind, in a gallant but unequal conflict calculated to increase the glory and maintain the well-established pre-eminence of the British Navy succeeded in beating off a French ship of 80 guns and two frigates in the roads of Vizagapatam. The inscription is rapidly becoming illegible. There is a long account of this exploit in the Asiatic Annual Register for 1804 in a letter from Colonel A. Campbell, 74th Highlanders, commanding the Northern division of the Madras army. The French ship is supposed to have been the Marengo .
2067	27th Dec. 1804.	CATHERINE MARIA ALEXANDER.	Mrs. CATHERINE MARIA ALEXANDER, wife of ROBERT ALEXANDER, Esq., Judge of the Zillah of Vizagapatam, aged 25 years, deeply and deservedly lamented. Mr. Alexander was Member of Council in 1814 and died in England, July 15th, 1861. His first wife was a Miss Williams. He married secondly Miss Grace Blacker in May 1809, and their son James William entered the B.C.S. Alexander's uncle James, M.P. for Derry, became the first earl of Caledon (see No. 1294).
2068	31st Dec. 1805.	JOHN JAMES DURAND.	JOHN JAMES DURAND, Lieutenant-Colonel in the Hon'ble Company's Service, aged 77 years. By his unhappy widow. A native of Switzerland who came out to Madras as a gem merchant. He married Miss Anne Aylmer, September 1803, who died at Guntoor, May 5th, 1896. His three daughters were buried at Tranquebar in 1849 (see Nos. 1158 and 1742). He had a brother also named John James (Junior) and a son holding commissions in the Company's Army. His brother was the first Colonel of the 34th N. I. (see No. 1164).
2068-A	8th Feb. 1808.	THOMAS CHASE ...	[THOMAS CHASE.] He entered the Civil Service in 1781, but ultimately joined his brother-in-law Henry Sewell (No. 224) in the firm of Chase, Chinnery and Sewell of Madras. He married Miss Ann Rand September 28th, 1787. His elder brother Captain Richard Chase, who died in 1834, was in the Madras Army and captured at Perambacum with Baillie's force in 1780. He was confined at Seringapatam for three years and seven months.
2069	12th Dec. 1808.	VINCENTIO CORBETT ...	Sacred to the memory of VINCENTIO CORBETT, of the Honorable Company's Civil Service, who after having served the Honorable Company for a period of 36 years departed from this life on the 12th of December 1808 in the 55th year of his age. This monument was erected by H. and A. Taylor, his affectionate son-in-law and daughter.

2070	15th June 1809.	JOHN TURING	... Writer in 1771 and Commercial Resident at Vizagapatam in 1806. His brother Theodore entered the service in 1769 and died in India in 1795. Vincentio Corbett's accounts when he was Collector of Coimbatore (1791-4) are discussed at length in Revenue Department Sundries, volume 17. This monument is raised to the memory of Mr. JOHN TURING son of Sir Robert Turing, Baronet. Erected as a tribute of esteem by Lieut.-Col. Francis Aiskell, brother-in-law to the deceased. Writer in 1795. There were two other Turings in the service; John, 1762-1795, and William, 1769-1790. Sir Robert Turing of Banff married Ann, daughter of Colonel Campbell of Glensaddel, whose second son a Lieutenant in the 74th Regiment is buried in St. Mary's cemetery, Madras, October 24th, 1790. A Captain James Turing died in command of Pennagaram, July 13th, 1793, and a Major Robert Turing, Military Secretary to Government, died at Madras, June 5th, 1801 (No. 229). The Turings and Benjamin Roebuck were connected with the De Morgans Nos. 827 and 1042).
2071	13th Aug. 1809.	BENJAMIN ROEBUCK.	Sacred to the memory of BENJAMIN ROEBUCK, Esq., who after serving the East India Company thirty-three years as a civil servant under their Presidency at Fort St. George with distinguished talents, zeal and fidelity departed this life at Vizagapatam, aged 56 years. His pious widow has caused this stone to be erected in grateful remembrance of his numerous public and private virtues. In connexion with the case of the notorious Reddy Rao, Sir George Barlow punished Mr. Parry, a private merchant, and Mr. Roebuck, by deporting the former to England and by removing the latter to an inferior station in the Northern Circars, where he died. Barlow's proceedings were subsequently found to have been unjust. The case was the outcome of the commission of enquiry into the claims of the late Nabob of the Carnatic, and the Government were induced to support Reddy Rao on the representation of certain officials who had an interest in his forged bonds. Roebuck was a highly respected member of society and uncle to the well-known T. A. Roebuck, M.P., the Sheffield Reformer. His brother W. Roebuck (No. 228) died in 1801. Benjamin Roebuck's wife was a Mrs. Catherine Taylor, widow of No. 1129 and daughter of Lieutenant Maitland (Nos. 1129 and 1841).

2187	6th May 1781.	JEANNE BOYELLEAU. JEANNE LEFAUCHEUR.	Ici repose Dame JEANNE JULIENNE MICHEL ARTUR, épouse d'ANDRÉ BOYELLEAU, décédée le 6 May MDCCLXXXI, dans la 72ième année de son âge, avec JEANNE MARIE JOSEPH LEFAUCHEUR sa petite fille, morte le 21 Avril précédant, à l'âge de 15 ans.
2188	7th Jan. 1785.	CHARLES MARQUIS DE BUSSY.	Cygit CHARLES JOSEPH MARQUIS DE BUSSY ET DE CASTELLENOU, lieutenant général, commandant des troupes de terre et de mer de tous les établissemens français au delà du Cap de Bonne Esperance, gouverneur des établissemens français de l'Inde, décédé à Pondichéry le 7 Janvier MDCCLXXXV.

Born at Bucy near Soissons in 1718. He lost his father at an early age and inheriting nothing but his pedigree came out to the Ile de France at the time that Labourdonnais was Governor, and formed one of his expedition to India in 1746. When Labourdonnais returned to Europe, Bussy remained behind as an officer of Dupleix's army. He accompanied Muzaffer Jung to the Deccan in his disastrous expedition against the insurgent Afghan Chiefs in which the latter was killed. After his death he procured the appointment of Salabat Jung to the vacant throne of the Nizam and practically made of him a French prefect. His handful of Europeans soon became the nucleus of a powerful army. Such ascendancy aroused many enemies. During his absence in January 1753 at the coast recruiting his health, the minister Said Lashkar withheld all allowances due to his troops with a view to breaking up the force. Bussy rose from his bed and marched straight to Aurangabad, where the Court was, and obtained a cession of four provinces afterwards known as the Northern Circars for the pay of his corps. The following year his astonishing military success at the siege of Savanore inflamed the old resentment against him, and in 1756 Bussy and his troops were peremptorily dismissed from service. The Nizam had meantime applied to the English for assistance to drive out the French and the request was about to be granted, when the news of the capture of Calcutta diverted every British soldier northward. Bussy, after staving off an attack from Salabat Jung, regained all his old authority. He had been seven years founding the interest of his nation in the Deccan, when Lally's advent destroyed his power. He was recalled from his territories to carry out Lally's views and operations further south, in 1758. Two years later he was captured at Wandewash by Coote, but liberated in consideration of his generous treatment to English prisoners. After an absence of twenty-three years he returned to Pondicherry as Governor in 1783, but so many years of sloth and luxury had impaired his faculties, and with the treaty of Versailles all military operations ceased. It was during his sojourn in France that Orme made his acquaintance. To quote his words, "the only man of distinguished capacity who served under Dupleix was M. Bussy, and his conduct to this officer showed that he knew the value of merit, and was capable of employing it to the utmost advantage. for although M. Bussy had, by his expedition to the northward, acquired much reputation and a great fortune, he beheld his successes without the least envy, and implicitly followed his advice in all affairs of which M. Bussy, by his situation, might be a better judge than himself." Bussy, when in France, married a niece of the Duc de Choiseul. He died on January 17th, 1785, in the evening, as he was playing at cards. Barras in his memoirs draws a very uncomplimentary picture of him after he returned to India in his old age.

SHENCOTTAH.

2214	11th June 1813.	JOHN PHILIP WINFIELD.	Sacred to the memory of Major J. P. WINFIELD of the 2nd Batt. 11th Regt, who died near this place on the 11th of June 1813, aged 32 years. Never was a purer or more exalted mind that which once animated the dust that sleeps below, nor were the propensities he inherited from nature enfeebled by inaction or wasted by injudicious effort. He was a living spring of beneficence to all around him and feelings of esteem and regard were become inseparably associated with his name. In the enjoyment of honourably earned reputation and whilst fondly exulting in those newly-formed ties which promised domestic bliss to his future years he sank into an untimely tomb. The officers of the corps which he commanded erected this monument as a faint tribute to his public and private worth and as a mark of their unavailing sorrow for his irreparable loss. He married March 2nd, 1812, a daughter of Gen. Hall (No. 2015).

The above-mentioned tombs have all been swept away. Dawes and Williamson are mentioned by Urquhart, and the seven inscriptions (with an engraving of the "elegant" monuments that contained them) are recorded in Robert Home's "Select Views of Mysore," 1791, published by Bowyer. In their place stands a modern cenotaph erected by the Mysore Government at the suggestion of Major Vibart, R.E. The inscription runs as follows: "EAST FACE: Sacred to the memory of those Officers and soldiers who gallantly fell at the siege and died in Bangalore in the war of 1791 and 1792. SOUTH FACE: To the memory of the Officers who fell at the taking of Bangalore. Colonel Moorhouse, Madras Artillery, killed at storming of Pettah, 7th March, 1791. TRINITY CHURCH, BANGALORE.

2222	20th Jan. 1845.	CLEMENT DELVES HILL.	This monument was erected by the subscription of his friends and comrades in the Madras Presidency and by the officers of the Royal Horse Guards in testimony of their love for his personal character. Modest and unassuming in mind and deportment and utterly careless to advance himself, in serving his country, his friends and every good cause, he was full of zeal and perseverance. In the campaigns of the Peninsula, whilst fighting under the command of his brother Lord Hill, he was amply satisfied with contributing to his glory, without seeking although deserving to share in his honours. He was born at Prees in Shropshire on the 6th of December 1781, died at the falls of Guersoppa on 20th January and was buried at Honawar 22nd January 1815, having been in command in Mysore from 20th November 1841. 2224	8th Feb. 1847.	SIR WALTER SCOTT, Bart.	Lieut.-Colonel SIR WALTER SCOTT, Bart. , of Abbotsford House, and of the 14th Hussars, who died at sea on the 8th February 1847, aged 45. Walter Scott the poet (1771–1832) married, December 24th, 1797, Margaret Charlotte (d. May 14th, 1826), sister of Charles Carpenter, M.C.S. (No. 1639). The deceased was his eldest son, born October 28th, 1801, and married, February 3rd, 1825, to Jane, daughter of John Jobson of Lochore, co. Fife. He died without issue on board the Wellesley off the Cape, when the baronetcy became extinct. Walter Scott's other son Charles, godson of Charles Carpenter, was educated at B.N.C., Oxford, and became attaché to the British embassy at Teheran, where he died unmarried October 28th, 1841. It is interesting to note in this connection that the second son of Dickens, Walter Landor, died in Calcutta December 31st, 1863, a cadet on the Bengal establishment. Dickens' sons, all had literary names; Alfred Tennyson (in Australia), Edward Bulwer Lytton (also in Australia), Henry Fielding, &c., and Sidney Smith (in the navy; died at sea).

2232	20th July 1858.	JANE BRETT ...	JANE HANNAH wife of HARRY BRETT, M.C.S. Brett married, December 15th, 1831, Jane, second daughter of Charles Roberts, M.C.S. (No. 724). When Collector of Salem he built the Hosur bungalow, which is variously known as "Brett's Folly" and "Kenilworth Castle." It is supposed to have cost something like one lac and three-quarters: but Mr. Brett kept no accounts after the expenditure exceeded one lac. The cost of the chunam alone was Rs. 17,000. In 1875 the building was sold by Mr. Brett to Government for Rs. 10,000.

MONUMENT AT THE LAL BAGH, SERINGAPATAM.

2234	13th Nov. 1782.	WILLIAM BAILLIE ...	To the memory of Colonel WILLIAM BAILLIE who, with a detachment of British troops under his command, after a noble and most gallant resistance to a superior force of the enemy on the plains of Periambaucum was ultimately compelled to surrender to the united armies of Hyder Ally and Tippoo Sultaun on the 10th day of September 1780 and died in the fortress of Seringapatam on the 13th day of November 1782. This monument is erected and inscribed by his nephew JOHN BAILLIE, Lieut.-Colonel on the establishment of Bengal and Resident at the Court of Lucknow A.D. 1816.
------	-----------------	---------------------	---

Monument just outside the mausoleum of Hyder and Tippoo. Periambaucum (see No. 968), the scene of the most grievous disaster that has as yet befallen the British arms in India, is 15 miles north-east of Conjeeveram. The best account of Baillie's defeat is that given by the Hon. John Lindsay, who was himself captured there in the "Lives of the Lindsays," volume III, page 255. The younger Lally, Pimoran and the other French officers serving with Hyder prevented much indiscriminate slaughter. The walls of the Darya Daulat Bagh (formerly Tippoo's favourite garden and subsequently the residence of the Duke of Wellington) are covered with grotesque fresco paintings of the battle. Hickey's "Gazette" of October 14th, 1780, gives the following return of officers killed, wounded and taken:—

"Killed Lieut.-Col. Fletcher, Capts. Phillips, Ferrier, Nixon, Powell, Lieuts. & Ens. Pieler (? Picklaw), Wilson Sen'r (a Surgeon), Wilson Jun'r, Bowser, Wade, Bergier, Stringer, Shedden, Wood, Clark, Dawes, Cotton, Boswell, Mouneriet (? A List of the Privates not yet come in but supposed our loss kill'd, wounded and taken prisoners 700 Europeans and 5,000 sepoys. 13 pieces of cannon, left by Monro 4 guns, 124 pounders, 6 Royals, 2 Colorns, besides all the Camp and Stores. Hyder is gone to Arcat." Urquhart gives details of the officers who died in captivity. Some perished at Arnee, among them Lieutenant Cotton "dropped down dead as he reached the prison door," September 16th, 1780; the majority died at Seringapatam.

In 1885 H. Wolfrath et cie of Neuchâtel printed an "Essai historique sur le Régiment suisse de Meuron publié par le petit neveu du général de Meuron, colonel propriétaire du régiment, d'après les documents les plus importants trouvés dans les papiers de famille." This work was reviewed by General F. W. Tyrrell in the "Madras Mail" of August 29th, 1896. Only fifty copies of the book were struck off. One is in the library of M. Albert de Montet of Chardonne near Vevey, late an officer of Austrian Dragoons and a well-known writer on military history. He possesses the original copy of the author, Theodore de Meuron, 144 pages grand in octavo embellished with notes, drawings and photographs added by the compiler (now deceased) subsequent to the publication of the work.

The regiment was originally raised at Neuchâtel in 1781 by Charles Daniel, Comte de Meuron (d. 1806), who entered a Swiss regiment of marines in the French service, went through the Seven Years' War, and was present in several sea-fights against the English in West Indian and American waters. The regiment's first masters were the Dutch East India Company, under whom they served at the Cape and in Ceylon. They then crossed bayonets with the English at the French defence of Cuddalore in 1782. Among the garrison of that little town was a young Sergeant, named Bernadotte, the future Marshal of the Empire and King of Sweden and

			Norway (see No. 755). In 1795, we find de Meuron and his men once more in Ceylon, and, on the conquest of the island by the English, they transferred their allegiance without difficulty to the British Crown. Colonel de Meuron became Brigadier-General in command of the troops in Ceylon, and his officers were ranked with officers of the King's service. In the following year the regiment was transferred to the Madras establishment, and after being in garrison successively at Poonamallee, Arnee and Vellore, took part in the operations before Seringapatam, where it was brigaded with the 33rd and 73rd Foot under Colonel (afterwards Sir Arthur) Wellesley. A journal kept by Lieutenant Charles de Meuron Tribolet gives a graphic account of the campaign. The grenadier and light companies formed part of the storming column and lost 16 killed, including Lieutenant A. Matthey and Assistant Surgeon Lesser, and 60 wounded, including Captains Piachurd and Lardy. A descriptive panorama of the assault was exhibited in London at the Lyceum in which Captain Lardy, the leader of the forlorn hope, figures prominently. An engraving of this curious picture may be seen in the library of the Maharaja of Durbhunga. After the fall of the fortress the regiment was stationed on the Island and subsequently at French Rocks, 7 miles away. On February 10th, 1806, it left Fort St. George for Europe, and, after successively garrisoning the Isle of Wight, Guernsey, Sicily, and Malta, found its way to Canada, where it was finally disbanded the year after Waterloo, consequent upon the reduction of the English army to a peace footing. Eighteen members of the de Meuron family had held commissions in its ranks during the thirty-five years of its history. The Colonel commanding was always a de Meuron, and the Lieutenant-Colonel generally one. York, the Prussian General, who gained some celebrity in the Napoleonic wars, completed his apprenticeship to arms in this polyglot body, which at the time of its breaking up in 1816 was composed of members of almost every nationality in Europe.

Her amiable and accomplished manners rendered her respected and esteemed by all who knew her and her premature death was regretted by her more intimate friends. Colonel Scott was placed in charge of the gun carriage works in 1800 and afterwards commanded the station. He is mentioned by Lord Valentia in 1804 as "Captain Scott, who had just exerted himself with the highest credit to establish that manufactory." His bungalow stands on the banks of the Cauvery not far from the English cemetery, and is kept up almost in the same state as when he left it in 1817 after the loss of his wife and daughters. The story of this deserted house has formed the subject of a poem in the well-known "Lays of Ind" by Aliph Cheem (Captain Yeldham). "There stands on the isle of Seringapatam, By the Cauvery, eddying fast, A bungalow lonely, And tenanted only By memories of the past. It has stood, as though under a curse or spell, Untouched since the year that Tippoo fell. The mouldering rooms are now as they stood Near eighty years ago; The piano is there, And table and chair; And the carpet, rotting slow, And the beds whereon the corpses lay, And the curtains half time-mawed away."

SARURNAGAR.

2275 25th Mar. MONSIEUR RAYMOND. J. R.
1798.

A lofty granite obelisk, without name or date, and these two letters only, standing at the end of a terrace, 180 feet long by 85 broad, on an eminence known as Mysoram Tekedy or Monsieur Raymond's Hill, $\frac{3}{4}$ miles from Hyderabad. At the south of the platform is an edifice like a Grecian temple in which are kept the lamps and other articles used to decorate the tomb. Rude crosses in red are painted on the basement of the platform, which commands a fine view of the surrounding country. The tomb is described in Warren's "l'Inde Anglaise" (1843).

Michel Joachim Mario Raymond was born at Serignac on the 25th September 1755. His father was a merchant, and in January 1775 the son set out from Lorient to Pondicherry with the intention of starting a corresponding house in India, but soon abandoned trade for the more exciting profession of arms and entered a corps in the service of Tippoo commanded by the Chevalier de Lassé. In 1783 he became Bussy's Aide-de-Camp, and on the latter's death two years later succeeded the younger Lally (see No. 1242) as commandant of the French cavalry, which Nizam Ali had taken over from his brother Basalat Jung and lent to Hyder for his Carnatic campaigns. Raymond gradually altered the composition of this force to an army corps of twenty sepoy battalions officered by Europeans and maintained by the revenues of an entire jaghire. His death occurred suddenly at the zenith of his fame, when he was at the head of 15,000 disciplined troops, with numerous magazines and gun foundries, one of which not unlike an immense racket court still stands near the Chudderghaut Residency. His successor Jean Henri Piron (born at Huningue, March 25th, 1763, died at Chandernagore October 21st, 1807) was a man of little ability and six months later James Achilles Kirkpatrick, the British Resident, was able to execute a treaty with the Nizam under the terms of which the entire foreign contingent was to be disbanded. On October 20th, 1798, 14,000 men and 124 officers laid down their arms to a force of British troops under Colonel Roberts, John Malcolm, Assistant Resident, and Kirkpatrick; and the celebrated French corps of Hyderabad passed into a tradition. The name of Monsieur Raymond is still kept up in the Mysoram Regiment of irregulars, and on every anniversary of Raymond's death the tomb and platform are brilliantly illuminated and a grand fair held, which is largely attended. Salutes are fired by the Irregular troops, many of whom are descendants of Musa Rahim's famous fifteen thousand. "No European of mark who preceded him," writes Colonel Malletson, "and no European of mark who followed him in India, ever succeeded in gaining to such an extent the love, the esteem, the admiration of the natives of the country."

2276 26th Nov. ANN JENKINS ...
1809.

Here lie the remains of ANN JANE ELIZABETH JENKINS, aged 21 years 6 months; also of her infant son who died shortly after his birth

This with two other nameless slabs lies below the platform on which Raymond is buried. It is erroneously described by the caretaker in charge as the grave of Raymond's bobbaches.

HYDERABAD RESIDENCY CEMETERY.

(At the back of the Residency, adjoining the site of Kirkpatrick's Rang Mahal.)

2277	23rd Oct. 1807.	FRANCES SYDENHAM.	FRANCES SYDENHAM obiit 22 October A.D. 1807, aetat 31. Her husband, Thomas Sydenham, natus circa, 1780, was second son of Colonel W. Sydenham (No. 896). After serving in the Mysore war as Captain of Guides, he was nominated secretary to the residency of Hyderabad. He returned to England in 1802 and studied at Christ Church under dean Jackson. In 1804 he again sailed for the east and was appointed first to the charge of the residency in Persia and then (1806) to that of Hyderabad. Resigning this office in 1810 he proceeded to England, was sent by Lord Wellesley on a confidential mission to the Peninsula, and became chargé d'affaires at Lisbon. In 1812 he joined the Earl of Wellington in camp, and served with him as a volunteer in the campaign of that year. He then repaired to the head-quarters of the Russian army and took part, in the company of his friend Count Woronzov, in the battles of 1814. His gallantry at Craon procured him the cross of St. George from the hands of the Emperor Alexander, while Bernadotte presented him with the Swedish insignia of the sword. On the conclusion of peace, Sydenham was appointed British envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary at Lisbon, but his career was cut short by an incurable illness at Geneva, August 28th, 1816.
2278	20th Aug. 1815.	WILLIAM JOHN DARBY.	This monument was erected by the officers of the Russell Brigade in memory of their comrade Lieut. WILLIAM JOHN DARBY, who in an attack within the city of Hyderabad on the 20th of August 1815 fell at the head of a column as he was gallantly cheering on his grenadiers to the charge. This obelisk originally stood near the present lawn tennis court.
2279	14th Sept. 1817.	C. R. F. M. GRANT...	CHARLES RUSSELL FALKLAND MURRAY GRANT, the only child of Lieut. Charles St. John Grant of the Resident's Escort, who died on the 14th Sept. 1817, aged 10 months and 19 days. Grant married Miss Mary Stoddard, December 12th, 1812.
* 2280	16th Oct. 1818.	ANNE RUSSELL. ...	ANNE, the infant daughter of Henry Russell, who died the 16th Oct. 1818, aged 3 months and 4 days. Sir Henry Russell, second baronet (1783-1852), was Resident at Hyderabad in 1808 and again from April 1811 to December 1820. He married firstly Jane Amelia (No. 338), daughter of J. H. Casamajor, Member of Council at Fort St. George, who died at Madras, December, 29th, 1808: and secondly, on November, 13th, 1816, Marie Clotilde, daughter of Benoit Mottet de la Fontaine (No. 2199), who survived him until 1872. Their eldest son, Henry (b. 1819) died at Cairo in 1847. The second son and third baronet, Charles (1826-1883) was a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Grenadier Guards and one of the first recipients of the Victoria Cross for gallantry in the Crimea. He was a Member of Parliament from 1865-68 and again from 1874-83. Sir George Russell, the third son and

He died in 1898, and the present baronet is his son. The first baronet, Sir Henry Russell (1751–1836), had been Chief Justice of the Supreme Court at Fort William from 1807–1813. He was knighted in 1797 on his appointment to be a Puisne Judge at Calcutta, and was created a baronet on December 10th, 1812. He married as his second wife Anna Barbara, youngest daughter of Sir Charles Whitworth and sister of Earl Whitworth, the British Ambassador at Paris, who was publicly insulted by Napoleon after the peace of Amiens. He had a family of six sons and five daughters. Three of his sons entered the Company's service. Henry the second baronet; Charles who became M.P. for Reading after leaving India and died in 1856; and Francis Whitworth, who became Salt Agent at Chittagong and died there on March 25th, 1852, in the forty-fourth year of his service. The Chief Justice named his youngest daughter Rose Ayimer, in memory of his niece, Landor's early love, who died at his house in Calcutta in 1800.
2281	17th June 1820.	GEORGE RUMBOLD ...	GEORGE RUMBOLD, Esq, who died on the 17th day of June 1820, infinitely beloved, aged 26 years. The Rumbolds furnish an apt illustration of Kipling's saying that certain families find their way to India generation after generation, as dolphins follow in line across the open sea. William Rumbold, of the Company's service, who was buried at Fulham on September 15th, 1728, became the father of two sons, Henry and William. Henry was Secretary to the Council at Fort William and died in Bengal, September 1st, 1743. He married Sarah Basnet at Fort St. George, August 17th, 1731. William rose to be second at Tellicherry and died in 1745. Of his three sons, William, the eldest, entered the Company's military service and died at Fort St. David on August 1st, 1757, in his twenty-eighth year: and the second, Henry, died at sea at an early age. Thomas Rumbold, the youngest (1736–1791), is erroneously said to have begun life as a boots at Arthur's, fashionable gaming house in St. James' or as a tide-waiter at the London Docks. In 1752 he entered the Company's service as a Writer, but before long exchanged the civil for the military profession, as Clive had done. After serving under Lawrence in the operations round Trichinopoly in 1754, he accompanied Clive to Bengal in 1756, and for his gallantry at the siege of Calcutta received a captain's commission. He was Clive's Aide-de-Camp at the battle of Plassey and was severely wounded. Permission was given to him to revert to the civil service, and in December 1760, he was third at Chittagong. Subsequently he became Chief at Patna and from 1766 to 1769 was a Member of Council at Fort William. He had now made his fortune and returned to England. On November 26th, 1770, he took his seat in the House of Commons as member for New Shoreham. Seven years later he was appointed to succeed Lord Pigot as Governor of Fort St. George, where he landed on February 8th, 1778. In the following October, Pondicherry capitulated to Sir Hector Munro, and Rumbold was created a baronet on March 23rd, 1779. On April 6th, 1780, he resigned his governorship and sailed for England. On his arrival, he was held responsible for Hyder's invasion of the Carnatic and dismissed the service of the Company by the directors. The parliamentary enquiry

			which ensued proved abortive : and Rumbold continued to sit in the House and play the part of a nabob until his death on November 11th, 1791. He was twice married, but left his estates to his children by his second wife, who was a daughter of Edmund Law, Bishop of Carlisle. His eldest son by his first wife, William Richard (1760-1786), was Aide-de-camp to Sir Hector Munro at the siege of Pondicherry and carried home the despatches and the colours of the fortress for presentation to the King. The second baronet, Sir George Berriman Rumbold (1764-1807), was so named after his mother, Frances Berriman, who had married Thomas Rumbold at Madras on June 22nd, 1756. She died at Calcutta in childbirth, August 22nd, 1764, aged 26. Her parents James Berriman and Frances Aspinwall were married at Fort St. George, October 9th, 1736. G. B. Rumbold was born at Fort William on August 17th, 1764, and while Minister Resident at Hamburg in 1804, was seized by order of the French Government and conveyed as a prisoner to the Temple in Paris. He died at Memel in 1807. Two of his sons joined the banking house of Palmer & Co. and are buried at Hyderabad : George, the second, who is here commemorated, and William, the eldest, who succeeded his father in the baronetcy and died in 1833. Rumbold Kote in Chuddergahut still preserves their name. With the death of William, the link which had bound the family to India for more than a century was snapped. Sir William Rumbold, third baronet, was born on May 22nd, 1787, and married at Castle Donington on July 13th, 1809, Henrietta Elizabeth, daughter and co-heiress of Thomas Boothby, Lord Raincliffe (No. 1584). Four of his sons succeeded to the baronetcy in turn : and the present baronet, Sir Horace Rumbold, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., British Ambassador at Vienna, is his fifth son.

Trotter's "History of India" gives the following account of its influence:— "The only cloud upon the later years (1820-23) of the Marquess of Hastings' rule in India was caused by the embarrassed state of the Nizam's affairs. The great banking firm of Palmer & Co. had become a power at Hyderabad—a power which Sir Charles Metcalfe the Resident (1820-25) pronounced so dangerous that Lord Hastings was compelled to step in between the impoverished Nizam and his creditors. The claims of the former to a yearly tribute for the Northern Circars were wiped out for ever by the payment of a large sum down, most of which went to extinguish the loans due to the English bankers. A year afterwards the house of Palmer & Co. stopped payment. On the Governor-General's return to England in 1823, the Court of Proprietors passed a vote of virtual censure upon him for his conduct in the affairs of Palmer & Co. which was only softened by his acquittal of any corrupt intent. 2300	20th Nov. 1867.	WILLIAM PALMER ...	This monument contains the remains of WILLIAM PALMER, who died on 20th Nov. 1867 in his 87th year. He had been a resident of Hyderabad for nearly 70 years, where he was prominently known, and his memory requires no record. But he desires anxiously that the goodness of Hester Palmer, his wife, towards him, who survived him, should be known by this record drawn up on his deathbed. She was his comfort for the last 20 years of his life, which was involved generally in distress and difficulties. Her strong mind and good sense supported himself during his sickness, and contributed to prolong his life, and her private means were employed to maintain him in ease and comfort when he was penniless, as indeed they were subsequently to educate some of his grandchildren whom she has loved, though not connected by blood with them, as if they were her own, and which she continues to do. May the blessing of Almighty and Most Merciful God be with her and her grandchildren and us all! "King" Palmer, son of Gen. Wm. Palmer, founded the great banking house which bore his name. He married, May 15th, 1848, Hester née Sharp, the widow of Cornelius Desormeaux, Surgeon. She was born September 1st, 1811, and died September 6th, 1877. Palmer established his house at Hyderabad in 1814, and shortly afterwards offered to relieve the Nizam's Government of the financial burden of the contingent required to keep the peace of India during the Pindari War, by lending it 2½ lacs a month for two years, the security being an assignment on the land revenue of the dominions and the rate of interest 18 per cent. This was agreed to by the Prime Minister Chaudu Lall and sanctioned by the Marquis of Hastings, then Governor-General. Three years later Sir W. Rumbold joined the firm, which in 1820 advanced a loan of 60 lacs to Chaudu Lall. In 1840 Mr. Palmer, then the only surviving partner, formulated an exhaustive memorandum of reforms in the Hyderabad administration, which testifies to his abilities as a statesman as well as a financier. Evil days eventually overlook him and at the time of his death pecuniary difficulties obscured the horizon. His daughter Mary by a previous marriage became the wife, on August 25th, 1831, of Meadows Taylor, the distinguished writer of Anglo Indian Novels, who died in 1876.

James Achilles Kirkpatrick, born August 28th, 1764, was the second son of Captain James Kirkpatrick of the Madras Cavalry and his wife Katharine, née Munro. His parents were married at Madras, March 14th, 1762, and the mother died January 27th, 1766, aged 22. There is a tablet to her memory on the east wall of Bombay Cathedral. James Achilles, who was educated at Eton, entered the Madras Army, October 18th, 1780. He was invalided home within ten years, but returned in time to serve in the second Mysore campaign. In 1793 he commanded Vizianagram, and from there was appointed Persian Translator with the force serving under the Nizam. The death of Lieutenant William Stewart promoted him to be Assistant to his younger brother William, Resident at Hyderabad. Early in 1797 William was compelled to proceed to the Cape for his health, and James Achilles became Resident. He held the post for nine years and in that time negotiated three important treaties; by the most important of which a British subsidiary force was to replace Raymond's French contingent. Kirkpatrick was an extraordinary instance of an orientatised Englishman. His most famous feat was his marriage in 1800 to Khair-un-nissa Begum, granddaughter of Akil-ud-Dowlah, Buxey or Paymaster to the British Subsidiary Force. This exploit was made the subject of calumnious reports to Calcutta by Kirkpatrick's enemies, and Lord Wellesley had a searching enquiry held, the result of which was to completely exonerate Kirkpatrick from blame. Two children were born to him, and these two wells commemorate their births. Catherine Aurora Kirkpatrick, the daughter, married Captain James Winsloe Philipps of the 7th Hussars, and died March 2nd, 1889, at the villa Sorrento Torquay. She is the "Kitty Kirkpatrick" of Carlyle's Reminiscences and according to some the Blumine of his Sartor Resartus. (Vide articles in the Nineteenth Century for September 1892 by George Strachey and in Blackwood's Magazine for July 1893 by Sir Edward Strachey.) Her brother William George died young, leaving a widow and three daughters. Chinnery's portrait of the two children in Eastern dress is now at Torquay in Mr. Paul Philipps' house. It was formerly kept in the Rang Mahal or Zenana at the back of the Chudderghaut Residency, which Kirkpatrick built for his Indian princess. This building fell into disrepair and was finally pulled down by Sir George Yule's in the sixties. The old Residency gardener can however recall it (1901), and in Sir Salar Jung's Art Gallery is what appears to be a picture of the place. In the same collection is a portrait of James Achilles. His vernacular name was Hushmat Jung "the Magnificent in Battle," a title given him by the Nizam; and outside the principal gate of the Residency is a small grain bazaar still known as Hushmat Ganj.
